

Red Leaflets Try to Spark Chile Revolt

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—The outlawed Chilean Communist party has sounded a clandestine call for a continuation of the anti-inflation violence that has left an estimated 40 or more persons dead in Santiago.

Printed leaflets circulated through the quiet but tense Chilean capital bearing the Red message. It called for an end to "repression and dictatorship."

It exhorted the working classes to rally around the Central Workers Union, the nation's most powerful labor organization, and the leftist Popular Action Front to achieve their aims.

The current unrest had spread earlier to the Chilean Chamber of Deputies. The leftist, Popular (Socialist) party successfully thwarted efforts last night to have its name mentioned in connection with the disorders.

A rightist deputy tried three times to read a pamphlet from the floor charging the Popular Socialists with participation in the violence. Each time he was shouted down by the Popular Socialists, and finally the session was called off. The origin of the pamphlet was not revealed.

Armed military units continued to patrol the streets of the quiet capital. After two days of widespread rioting and clashes between mobs and the military and police, only one incident was reported yesterday. A number of persons were wounded when troops scattered a group trying to keep workmen from entering a factory.

All public services except for transportation were back to normal.

About 600 persons were believed under arrest as a result of the rioting. The property damage in the capital was estimated at five million dollars.
