

Queen Chosen By Buckeroos For July Rodeo

Beavercreek Girl New Ruler of Molalla Annual Event

By KATHRYN BREEN
Capital Journal Correspondent

MOLALLA (Special)—This year's 1935 Queen of Molalla Buckeroos will be JoAnn Newland and princesses will be Marcia Bull and Marcia Olsen of Gresham.

This announcement was made as the climax at the Queen's ball in Molalla, when the judges disclosed the results of their secret ballot taken sometime ago after 13 girls appeared for riding trials and interviews before the committee.

1935 Queen Barbara Dupont, of Canby, had the honor of transferring the crown to the new queen, JoAnn.

Wallace Sawtelle of Molalla was master of ceremonies.

All 13 girls were present, awaiting the announcements, in a pretty array of formal for the occasion. Each received a corsage from the committee.

Trains Own Horse

Queen JoAnn is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Newland of Beavercreek and is in her sophomore year at Portland State College, at night school. She works during the day at Dun & Bradstreet's, and is reported to be engaged.

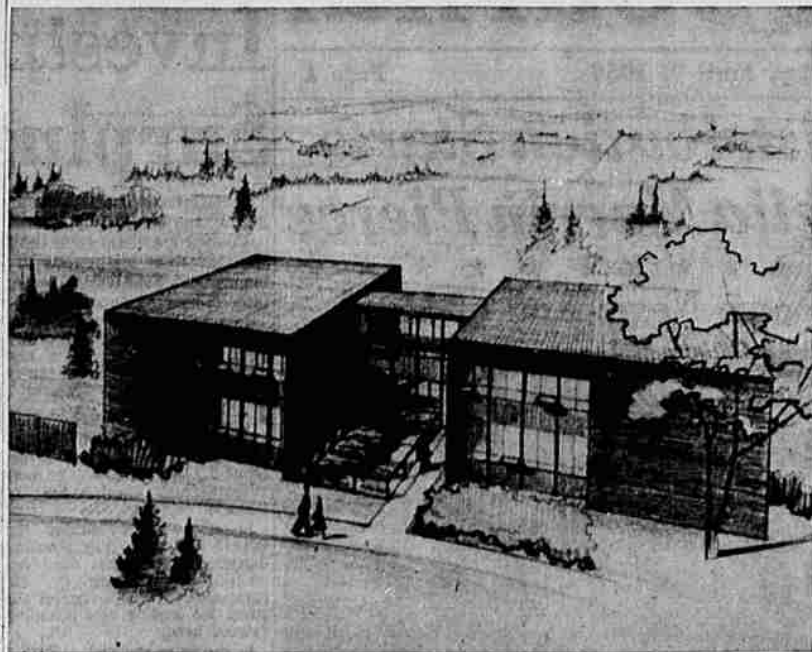

She has spent a good deal of her life on horseback at Beavercreek and also is an active member of Molalla Saddle Club. She has reared and trained her own riding horses for some time and also has placed high in various riding events. At the Arab horse show, she rode her own horse and won in several events.

Princess Marcia Bull is a senior in Gresham High School and also has shown her horse in various horse shows and events.

Princess Marcia Olsen is a member of Sunnyside Riding Club and is employed. Both girls own their own horses and very favorably impressed the judging committee when they appeared with the group at Oswego Hunt Club for the try-outs recently.

The girls are next to be fitted for their Buckeroo outfits and will be making public appearances soon for the Buckeroo.

Rifle Range at Mill City to Be Activated

Sea Scout Troop Will Be Instructed in Use of Arms

MILL CITY (Special)—Police Chief C. H. Meader at the last city council meeting asked permission for the Sea Scouts to install an inside rifle range within the city limits.

This will be under the supervision of a responsible adult at all times.

The council granted the permission with the thought that training of youngsters under supervision would prevent accidents.

Ronald Ragsdale also was present at the meeting representing the Mill City Jaycees who are sponsoring a safe driving campaign in the city.

The council agreed to assist the Jaycees in the drive and donated a sum for the work. Chief Meader reported nine arrests for the month with $48.50 collected in fines.

The councilmen spent some time going over budget figures for 1935-36 with a budget meeting slated for April 24.

Mill City Jaycees also are sponsoring a reactivated Boy Scout troop. Roy Podrabsky is Jaycee president.

Al Nesbitt has stated he would accept the job of Scoutmaster providing adequate adult assistance could be secured. The Rev. Robert Roach will be his assistant.

Both men have had previous experience as Scoutmasters. Joe Lalack is the Jaycees' institutional representative to serve on the Scout committee. Lalack will arrange a meeting soon when Ken Jury, district Scout executive from Albany, will be present to assist.
