Two Perish in Air Crash in Siskiyou

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
An airplane crash, a drowning, highway accidents and a home accident killed eight persons in Oregon over the weekend.

Six of the lives were lost Sunday including two in the crash of a light plane in the Siskiyou Mountains of Jackson County. James Benjamin Anders, 34, of Prineville, owner of the plane, and Ronald Gene Wilson, 20, of Eugene, were the two aboard the plane, which was flying through a snow storm, en route from Red Bluff, Calif., to Eugene.

Motorist Spots Wreckage
No one saw the crash, but a motorist on nearby Highway 99 sighted the wreckage shortly afterward.

Two also died from an automobile crash on the Madras-Prineville highway in Central Oregon Saturday. Ardith Dodson, 15, of Prineville, was killed outright. Ethel Lorie Randle, 16, Prineville, died in a hospital Sunday. Three other girls were injured when the car left the highway and overturned.

Another car crashed off Highway 97, about 15 miles north of Klamath Falls Sunday, killing Edward G. Gorman, 39, Oakland, Calif., a California probation office employee. The widow and one child were unhurt, but two other children were injured.

Car Plunges Down Bank

Rolling another car plunged off a road and down a 15-foot embankment near Myrtle Creek in Southern Oregon. Cedric Dale Stump, 17, Myrtle Creek, was killed. Lloyd Schwab, 17, Myrtle Creek, escaped with minor injuries.

Another youngster, Lane Allen Spunklock, 15, Camas Valley, was drowned in an abandoned logging pond Sunday. He was at play with a cousin, Steven Spurlock, 7, when he fell into the pool, a mile north-east of Myrtle Creek. Officials failed to recover the body Sunday, but planned another attempt on Monday.

An electric stove mounted on timbers in a garage toppled onto Nelson James Lane, 3, Oregon City, and killed him Saturday. Coroner Leslie Peake said the stove apparently fell as the child tried to climb up. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Lane.

3-WEEK, $50,000 HOLIDAY

Chicagoan Takes 70 Kin, Friends on Visit to Sweden

CHICAGO (AP) — The "fulfillment of a lifelong dream" is at hand for 87-year-old Ragnar Benson, who is picking up the tab for a $50,000 three-week holiday in Sweden with 70 relatives and friends. The Benson party—flying in a chartered Scandinavian Airlines DC-6—was scheduled to land in Malmo, Sweden, today.

The airliner left Chicago last night amid shouts of "bon voyage" from friends and neighbors. Benson, who immigrated from Sweden with a sister in 1911 at the age of 12, told newsmen before departing O'Hare International Airport:

"My heart is so full of the thankfulness for what the United States has done for me."

The Swedish immigrant became a bricklayer's apprentice in 1915 and now heads an 80 million dollar a year engineering firm.

Benson said the trip is his way of expressing gratitude to some of the people who helped him as a newly arrived immigrant.

About half the guests are relatives, including Benson's wife and son and the son's six children. Some 20 employees of the engineering firm, Ragnar Benson, Inc.,

Portland Rally Rammed by 2 Ships, Draws But 150 Teamster Men

PORTLAND (AP) — A well-advised Teamsters Union rally to protest against Dave Beck and other Teamster leaders who are under fire drew 150 members yesterday, instead of the thousands expected by sponsors.

The sponsoring group of union members had rented the civic auditorium, which seats 4,000 persons. They blamed a wind and rain storm for the small turnout. Meanwhile, local 81 of Portland Teamsters met and afterward reported the 300 members in attendance gave a vote of confidence to Clyde C. Crosby, the top Teamster official in Oregon and one of those under fire.

At the auditorium meeting, Robert B. Miller, one of the sponsors, urged Crosby, President Dave Beck and Frank Brewster, Western Conference Teamster leader, to "step aside."

That meeting also passed resolutions urging an annual audit of finances in each local; a rule that checks cannot be made out to cash; and a requirement that financial records be retained for three years.

PORTLAND (UP) — Two big ships, with a combined weight of more than 21,000 tons, ripped loose from their moorings during gale winds Sunday and crunched against the Hawthorne bridge in the Willamette river.

It took nearly all day Sunday to free one of the vessels and the other wasn't moved away from the span until 6:30 a.m. today.

Both ships, former hospital vessels, were awaiting scrapping. The 14,221-ton Lewis A. Milne and 7,555-ton Chataau Thierry, were moored together when they broke loose near the Ross island bridge downstream.

"We saw them coming," Joe Ruthrauff, a gateman on the Hawthorne bridge said. "Two fireboats slowed 'em down and eased the center span, they might have gone right through."

He said it took the ships only 10 minutes to make their unscheduled trip downstream. The fireboats managed to turn the ships broadside.

The bridge was reopened to traffic this morning after the second vessel was moved, but the south lane remained closed. Some 30 yards of rail and boarded sidewalk were ripped up by the impact and damage also was reported to cross sections. Paul Northrup, county roadmaster, said a major overhaul job would be required. A new $5000 dolphin was broken off and pilings were torn loose at the dock.

Tugs, battling strong winds, managed late Sunday to free the Chateau Thierry and take it back upstream. This morning another bevy of tugs freed the larger Lewis A. Milne.

INSTALLED ONLY DAY BEFORE

Camera Trips Bank Bandits

CLEVELAND (AP) — The startling solution to a bank holdup, in which a movie camera made its debut as an arm of the police, has been making headlines here, but in the background are two old-fashioned detectives who noticed a red-haired girl in a restaurant.

The detectives, William Steele and Joseph David, admired the "walk" of a girl in a restaurant three hours before the St. Clair Savings & Loan Co. was robbed of $2,375 Friday noon.

At 4:30 p. m. Friday the two were among a group who saw the two-minute film from a hidden movie camera at the bank. A bank clerk had pushed a button that started the camera and signaled Central Police Station. In the picture they saw a gunman with the lower part of his face masked, and they saw a girl who walked confidently to a cash drawer.

The picture was blurred, apparently by vibration near the camera, but the girl's walk looked familiar. "Detectives went back to the restaurant where they had seen the red-haired girl among the customers.

That was how the investigation started. It resulted in the surrender of 18-year-old Rose O'Donnell and Steven Ray Thomas, 24, and the capture of Wanda Di Cenzi, also 18—all within 36 hours after the holdup. All but $600 was recovered.

Police said charges will be filed today. Miss O'Donnell admitted driving the getaway car, police said.

Miss Di Cenzi was located on the tip of a woman who saw the hold-up film on television.

Miss Di Cenzi was the red-head whom the detectives located through her walk.

Thomas gave himself up after fleeing as far as Indianapolis.

Miss Di Cenzi was quoted as saying she first heard the robbery plan Thursday and still thought Thomas was joking when they reached the bank. Thomas had to shove her through the door, she was quoted as saying.

St. Clair Savings had installed the camera only the day before, one of several Cleveland banks to make such installations recently.

The closed-door strategy session, due to begin tomorrow, could also provide an indication whether Teamster President Dave Beck, accused by the Senate Rackets Committee of putting $320,000 of union funds to his own use, is going to remain the kingpin of the 1,350,000-member union.

The AFL-CIO Ethical Practices Committee has slated a May 6 hearing at which the Teamsters Union will be given an opportunity to defend itself. Should the union ignore the summons, it faces possible ouster from the national labor federation.

The 62-year-old Beck is reported to be insisting that the Teamsters snub the AFL-CIO hearing. Other members of the Executive Council are reported to be urging that the union appear at the probe.

Beck, chief target of the Senate probe, is expected to seek another five-year term at the Teamsters convention in September.

After appearing before the committee, Beck told newsmen he had borrowed some $300,000 to $400,000 in union funds over a period of years but had repaid all of it.

When the Executive Committee gathers Tuesday, there will be present other powerful Teamsters officials who have been having their troubles.

The union's Midwest vice-president, James R. Hoffa, is under indictment charged with bribing a member of the McClellan committee's staff to find out what evidence had been uncovered. Frank W. Brewster, West Coast union iron

Labor Probers Taking Look at Koehler Hassle

Sen. Goldwater Would Probe Reuther, But Says He's Honest

By G. MILTON KELLY
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Goldwater (R-Ariz.) spoke up today in defense of an old adversary, UAW President Walter Reuther, but said he still wants to investigate Reuther's union tactics.

"I believe Reuther is an honest man," said Goldwater, a member of the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee.

He said there is no conflict between this statement, which he said he made "in fairness," and his desire to investigate the role of Reuther and his United Auto Workers in a three-year-old strike the union still is pushing against the Kohler Co. in Kohler, Wis.

Union Vandals Charged
The firm now is operating with non-strikers and new workers. It has accused the union of "violence and vandalism" and of boycott efforts. The union says the company has refused to bargain in good faith.

Goldwater said his own staff is looking into the legality of union tactics in that dispute.

Much of Goldwater's dispute with Reuther has revolved around the senator's contention that it is wrong to use union funds for political purposes.

The committee has no immediate plans for any kind of investigation of the auto workers union. It opens Tuesday a brief series of hearings on what Chairman McClellan (D-Ark.) said was evidence that some labor union officials in the Scranton, Pa., area used "goon squad" violence to drive union members of their rights.

To Run Through Thursday
Alleged terror tactics against some employers in labor disputes there also will be studied during the hearings now scheduled through Thursday.

McClellan said testimony will be taken from 12 to 15 witnesses, including officials of the Carpenters, Electricians, Laborers and Teamsters unions in the Scranton area.

McClellan said that although the committee has more than a year's investigative work ahead of it, it may push for reform legislation at this session of Congress.

He said he already has instructed staff members to prepare a study of legislation designed to assure democratic procedures in unions and to protect union members against misuse of union funds.

New Car Stocks Listed at 762,921

DETROIT (AP) — Dealer new car inventories amounted to 762,921 units on April 1, compared with 733,008 a month earlier, Automotive News reported Monday.

The trade paper said: "A late March surge in showroom sales, coupled with the lowest April 1 rate of factory shipments in four years, helped to hold the inventory accumulation well below the 800,000 level."

The March sales rate of approximately 540,000 cars, the April 1 inventory represented a 44-day supply, up only two days from the March 1 stockpile."

13 Salemites Set to Attend CAB Meeting

The Salem group of 13 men who are to represent the city's interests and support United Air Lines at a hearing before the Civil Aeronautics Board in Seattle, has been called to appear Wednesday of this week.

Salem men will plead that United Airlines service in Salem not be suspended, regardless of whether the applications of localized feeder lines are approved for operation at the Salem Airport.

Several northwest communities are interested in various cases scheduled for the hearings, which are expected to continue for several weeks.

Among Salem men, not previously mentioned, who will appear for this community are Tom Churchill, who will represent the State Board of Aeronautics, and Bruce Williams, who will represent the Chamber of Commerce.

Eleanor Raps VP Oversight

LOS ANGELES (UP) — Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt says that Vice President Richard M. Nixon neglected to mention "an impending famine in Morocco" in reporting his recent trip to Africa.

"I read the vice president's report," the widow of the late President said. "I was surprised to find he did not mention what I feel is a most serious problem in Africa, the impending famine in Morocco."

Mrs. Roosevelt returned to New York Sunday night following a speech before the southwest regional conference of the American Association for the United Nations.

"There is an immediate danger of a famine in Morocco like the one in 1947, when two million persons died," she said. "We have large surpluses of wheat and powdered milk and the United States will be asked to help."

Eskimos now have a plastic igloo which is dry, windproof and waterproof. Unlike the ice igloo, it can be lived in the year around.

Top Teamsters Go Into Huddle

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — The 13-member Executive Council of the investigation-battered Teamsters Union gathers here today for a conference that will determine if the organization will defend itself against AFL-CIO charges of corruption practices.

The closed-door strategy session, due to begin tomorrow, could also provide an indication whether Teamster President Dave Beck, accused by the Senate Rackets Committee of putting $320,000 of union funds to his own use, is going to remain the kingpin of the 1,350,000-member union.
