STAYTON (Special)—After careful consideration of the facts, Supt. M. L. Morey announced last week that seven boys had been expelled from Stayton High School, and three others, less seriously involved, were suspended for one week, and will be allowed to return to school on condition that they make up the week's work.

school faculty who was in authority was the deciding factor. Majority of the students backed the faculty, with only a small group taking matters in hand.

A misunderstanding touched off a chain of events which led the boys to go to the country home of principal Joe Boyle where a tree was cut down across the private entrance road.

Five Are Seniors

Five of the boys are seniors and two others are undergraduates. The boys will be barred from all school activities for the rest of the year, and undergraduates may make up the last nine weeks period of school along with their regular work upon entering school next fall.

The faculty voted to assist those seniors expelled to the extent that they will assign work to be done under direct supervision of the boys' parents. Final examinations for these boys will be given about the middle of June, enabling them to receive their high school diplomas.

"At issue is the fact that a small group of students must not be allowed to control the school," Supt. Morey said. At least two of the boys were on probation already, and others were said to have a history of unexcused absences.

"You'll like it even better when you drive it!"

Neighbor: Say, your new Olds sure looks like a lot of car. Olds Owner: That's nothing, wait'll you take a ride. Come on, drive it!

(A few minutes later.) Neighbor: Man-oh-man, what power. I've never felt anything like it! Olds Owner: Friend, that's Oldsmobile's new J-2 Rocket Engine!

Neighbor: What's that? Tell me how it works. Olds Owner: As I understand it, when you're driving under ordinary conditions, it uses only one carburetor. That means economy with a capital E. But when you need a sudden burst of power, for safety's sake, you just press the accelerator three-quarters of the way down—and away you go, 'cause two additional carburetors cut in automatically!

Neighbor: In other words, with J-2, you can have economy when you want it and power when you need it. Just what I've been looking for. Olds Owner: Better see your Olds dealer. He's expecting you!
