Today in Salem

It takes more than a little old rain storm like Sunday's to stop tried and true Oregonians. Some 50 Salem golfers braved the elements to get in their first rounds in the annual Salem Elks tournament. Presumably the natives were the webbed and moss on their backs stood up under the rain and wind to win their rounds while the comparative newcomers of the past 15 years or so found the going a bit rough without their waterwings and swim fins.

At McMinnville, the Jaycees will be host for the state Teen-Age Road-E-O driving contest and were to take movies of the site of the contest Sunday for a Portland TV station. Since the film had to be in the mail Monday, a group of potential Hollywoodies braved the deluge and came up with the film needed and then went home to prepare for the onset of double pneumonia.

And at Eugene, the annual White Water Boat Parade was held on the McKenzie River despite the fact that more water was coming down from above than was being shipped over the sides of the small boats in the rough and rugged waters. One group of skindivers floated and swam the 22 miles down river with the aid of inner tubes.

As if it didn't rain enough in Coos Bay, firemen from that city and from North Bend had a barrel-race fight, using high-pressure hoses to attempt to force a barrel across the opponent's goal line. They got only slightly wetter than the spectators.

Back in Salem a few natives braved the elements to travel the route of the annual Blossom Day tour despite the fact that most of the flowers were knocked to earth by the wind and rain.

And a number of the Salem army reservists found it a bit damp as they spent Sunday working tactical field artillery problems at Camp Adair near Corvallis.

After some seven hours of "re-naissance, selection and occupation of positions," all the 50-some members of the 929th Field Artillery battalion present were wondering what it would be like to have a dry ditch of clothing on again — all save Capt. Jim Spetz, that is. He had spent the day under the protective canvas cover of the fire direction center truck.

Somewhat it didn't seem right that Jim should miss all the pleasure of nature's fire shower so today's Maj. Tom Bays and Capt. Lloyd Hammett unceremoniously pulled the comfortable Spetz from the truck and dumped him bodily in a convenient kag-size mud puddle.

UF Officials to Attend Regional Meet

Two members of the Salem United Fund Executive group will leave Sunday for San Diego where they will attend the 11 Regional States United Fund and Community Chest Councils of America conference. The conference will last from April 22 to 27.

Claude Kells, Executive Secretary of the Salem United Fund, and A. C. Offenstien, member of the board of directors, will represent Salem at the meeting.

Kells, who will be attending his 25th straight conference, will be chief of the group. He will serve on the resources board and will aid in advising agencies on special problems.

Offenstien will be member of a program committee which will have charge of a panel discussion on budgeting and allocation of funds.

House Razing Set
Construction of a service station at the northwest corner of State and 17th streets will follow the razing of a residence at that location.

The house, built by Dr. Frank E. Brown, is to be torn down by O. W. Klang who received a permit Tuesday from the city engineer's office.

Portland Man Fined
Pleading guilty to a charge of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle, Kenneth Leroy Mathews, Portland, was fined $50 in Marion County Circuit Court Tuesday.

First Aid Class Open
Openings are still available in the standard Red Cross first aid class which will start at 7:30 this evening at the Red Cross chapter house, 1590 Fairgrounds Rd.

Anyone may register for the course by contacting the Red Cross office. Robert Smith will be the instructor.

OSEA View Told
Need to strengthen civil service and to increase state salaries was stressed by Jay Blair Tuesday in a talk to Capitol Chapter of the Oregon State Employees Assn.

"We are not asking a cheap program. We are asking adequate salaries in order to bring state salaries in line with the going rates for comparable work in other state agencies and in private industry," Blair declared.

He said a stable employment program with sufficient pay to attract career service employees is imperative if costly turnover is to be curbed.

May 19 Date Set for Teen Driving Event

Jaycee Road-E-O Open To Motorists Not Yet 20

The annual Salem Teen - Age Road-E-O has been set for May 19, the sponsoring Junior Chamber of Commerce has announced.

Licensed drivers who have not reached 20 years by August 20 will be eligible to enter the safe driving event, Chairman W. O. Kanner Jr. said.

Obstacle Course Driving
The driving test involves driving through an obstacle course, backing into a limited area, braking smoothly and quickly to a stop at a prescribed line and other checks of driving ability, Kanner said.

Entrants will also have to take a written test on driving knowledge prior to the driving test, he said. The written test will be given at Salem schools at dates to be announced. Several hundred application blanks have been sent out to eligible drivers but others interested in entering may obtain blanks at school offices.

Winners will receive merchandise prizes donated by local merchants and the top boy or girl will win a trip to McMinnville to compete in the state Teen-Age Road-E-O on June 8.

Washington Trip
The state winner will get a free trip to Washington, D. C., to compete in the national Road-E-O on August 12 to 15.

The Jaycee committee working on the Road-E-O includes M. I. Lopp, Henry Yoshikai, Jim DeLapp, Rudolph V. G. Sh., Stanley Shotts, George Huggins and Ronald Houck.

Driving tests will be in four 1957 model cars furnished by a Salem auto dealer.

Three Willamette Students Awarded Assistantships

Three women students graduating in science from Willamette University have been awarded assistantships for further study this fall.

Mary Anne Schloesser, Yakima, Wash., will use her research grant at the University of Wisconsin in the department of oncology, which is experimental cancer research. Her stipend totals $2,160 for the year at the midwestern school, where she will work toward a master's degree.

A biology major, Sally Jones, Parkland, Wash., has been awarded a teaching assistantship in zoology at the University of Washington, totaling $1,575. Working toward a master's degree in zoology, she has been senior scholar in biology at Willamette.

LaRae Dennis, Rogue River, has been granted a research assistantship amounting to $1,800 in the herbarium at Oregon State College, where she will also teach taxonomy, the classification and naming of plants. A biology major, she will be working in a four-year program toward her Ph.D. degree.

Resigns

Dr. Cliff Robinson is leaving his post with the State Department of Education to take a position with the Eugene School System.

Dr. Robinson Takes Eugene School Post

Resignation of Dr. Cliff Robinson, director of secondary education in the State Department of Education for the past ten years was announced Tuesday by Dr. Rex Putnam, Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Dr. Robinson has accepted the position of director of secondary education in the Eugene public schools and will also be associated with the school of education of the University of Oregon. He will assume his new duties on July 1.

Dr. Putnam declared Dr. Robinson's departure is a distinct loss to the Department.

"He has been unusually successful in his work especially in the area of improvement of high school standards in the state," Dr. Putnam said.

Dr. Robinson joined the staff of the State Department of Education in 1947. He had previously served as superintendent of Coos River schools and principal of the Ashland and Albany senior high schools.

Student Held For Pilfering

The theft of money from other boys' clothing in the physical education room at North Salem High School brought the arrest of a 17-year-old student Tuesday, city police reported.

The youth was caught by an instructor last week as he went through some clothing. He had stolen about $7, officers said.

He was turned over to County Juvenile authorities.

30 BRING PRIZES

Easter Egg Hunt Planned In City Park

In order to accommodate a larger-than-ever crowd of youngsters expected to seek candy eggs left by the Easter bunny, the annual 20-30 Club Easter Egg Hunt will be staged at Bush Pasture Park this year.

Starting time for the 12th annual search for eggs sponsored by the club has been set for 1 p.m. Sunday. Also reflecting the larger anticipated crowd expected for the event this year is the club action in dividing the bunters into two age groups for the first time this year.

Thirty of the 12,000 eggs, which will be hidden in the park will have special markings entitling their finders to special prizes.

Fifteen of the specially marked eggs will be for tots in the 2- to 8-year-old age group and the remaining 15 will go to youngsters in the 9 to 12 bracket.

Dave Loudon and Ralph Jackson are co-chairmen of this year's hunt.

Battling for second vice president's chair are Victor Backlund, Bandon, and Dick White, Salem.

Four candidates for secretary are Anne Yoder, Portland; Diane Wiekstrom, Menlo Park; Esther Gwilliam, McCall, Idaho; and the treasurer's post is being sought by Dean Short, Salem; and Ron Taylor, Corvallis.

Candidates will give their nomination speeches next Tuesday morning in 10 a.m. convocation. Primary elections will run April 28 and 29, and final runoffs are scheduled for April 30 and May 1.

Marion Gets $155,772 in Motor Funds

Marion county was allocated $155,772.01 in the distribution of 19 per cent of receipts for motor vehicle registration fees, fuel taxes and fines for motor vehicle law violations for the quarter ending March 31.

Secretary of State Mark Hatfield announced the distribution of these funds to the various counties of the state, totaling $2,485,253.03 during the three months period.

Sec. Hatfield said that a total of $3,761,241.83 was collected in motor vehicle registrations; $6,749,643.29 in motor vehicle fuel tax; $2,477,549.20 in motor carrier fees and $100,844.68 in fines, making a total collection of $13,080,279.08.

Arabian Horse Show Planned Here in June

Oregon's 11th annual All-Arabian Horse show will be June 22 and 23 at the state fair grounds here, according to the sponsoring Arabian Horse Breeders association of Oregon.

The announcement was made this week by A. M. Work of Portland, AHBAO president, who also told of the appointment of Ward W. Wells of Oswego as show manager.

The two-day, 31-event show is staged each year by one of the country's oldest associations of Arabian horse breeders. Billed as one of the largest single-breed shows in the United States, it annually draws about 200 horses and exhibitors from all over the country.

Wells said the 11th annual show this June will feature a wide variety of events in both breeding and performance divisions. Added attractions for exhibitors will be stake classes. Special attractions for spectators will be exhibitions and performances by specially-trained horses and riders.

The All-Arabian show is a member of the American Horse Shows association and the Oregon Horsemen's association. It is registered as a class-A show in all divisions. Entries should be mailed to Wells at PO Box 463, Oswego, Ore., before June 10.

Dedication of Chapel Slated For April 28

In memory of a man who gave moral and financial support to the Salem YMCA, a chapel will be dedicated at 3 p.m. Sunday, April 28.

The chapel will be known as the Paul B. Wallace memorial room, located on the second floor of the new youth wing of the Y.

Dr. G. Herbert Smith, president of Willamette University, will be the speaker. Unveiling of a plaque of the person who is being honored, will have a part in the program.

Wallace, Salem business man and horticulturalist, who operated a large pear orchard northwest of Salem, was a member of the YMCA board for many years. His death occurred about two years ago in Chicago while he was en route to a college class reunion in the East.

Parents of 19 At Deaf Clinic

Tuesday's session pre-school clinic at the Oregon State School for the Deaf for children and parents drew parents of 19 children.

The clinic, which is the ninth annual one to be held, had seven more in attendance than at any previous year, M. B. Clatterback, school superintendent, said.

During the three day clinic, ending Wednesday, the parents attend lectures on school activities and visit classes in session. Thursday the school's rhythm band gave a concert.

Kiwanis Club Hears Choir

One of the outstanding musical organizations of the Valley provided the program for the Salem Kiwanis Club Tuesday noon at the Senator Hotel.

The entertainers were some 60 voices who make up the Willamette University choir. They are directed by Don Glecker, staff member of the College of Music at Willamette and a member of the Kiwanis Club.

The group presented a half-hour program consisting, for the most part, of selections appropriate to the Easter season. In a lighter vein was a rhythmic Negro spiritual. All selections were given without accompaniment.

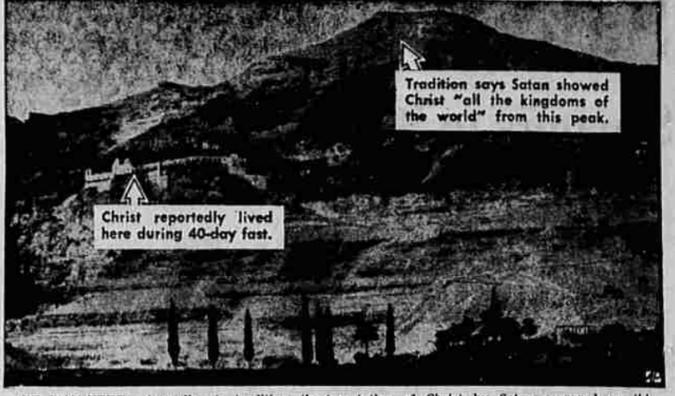

Maundy Thursday Vigil Planned at Church in Salem

The ancient vigil of Maundy Thursday will be observed at the First Congregational church at 8 o'clock Thursday night. The entire church will be lighted entirely by candles.

Following the reception of new members and the observance of the Last Supper, the deacons will participate in an adaptation of the ancient Fourth Century ritual of extinguishing of the lights, symbolic of the flight of the disciples and the passion of Christ.

The special Lenten sacrificial offering for the building of new churches will be dedicated in this service.

Site of Christ's Temptation

HE WAS HERE: According to tradition, the temptation of Christ by Satan occurred on this mountain a few miles from Jericho in modern Jordan.

'Mount of Temptation' Ideal Place for Meditation Today

Editor's Note: On a solitary mountaintop in what once was Palestine, a lone guard sits day and night gazing down on Jordan and Israel. According to tradition, the spot he guards was the scene of the showdown between Christ and Satan which came at the end of Christ's 40-day fast. Here is a report on a modern visit to the site of that famous Biblical drama.

Fasted in Cave
It is generally agreed that the temptation of Christ by Satan occurred immediately after His baptism, when He was "led by the spirit into the wilderness" for a fast of 40 days. Local traditions say He spent this time in a limestone cave on the side of the Mount of Temptation.

The mountain stands at the edge of a mountain range not far from the site of the sacred baptism in the Jordan River. The mountain overlooks Jericho but is so barren and uninviting that a person seeking solitude will find this an ideal place for meditation even today.

A road from Jericho halts at the foot of the Mount of Temptation. The climb to the top is made on foot. A rocky footpath zig-zags up the side of the conical-shaped peak.

Halfway up, built into the rock, hangs a Greek Orthodox Monastery. The monastery almost blends with its rock foundations except for the blue-domed bell towers that stand out from the cliff.

Visitors are welcomed here by five monks who spend their lives working and praying. These monks live off the produce of their own farm down in the Jordan Valley.

The rock of the mountain forms one wall and most of the ceiling of the long, narrow monastery. Underneath a dome at one end of the building is a chapel and the grotto where Christ is believed to have lived during His 40-day fast and where He was tempted the first time. A small, stone-hewn altar between two tall brass candlesticks marks the exact spot where Satan taunted the fasted Christ to turn stones into bread.

A heavy iron gate opens through a brick wall to allow passage out of the monastery and on up the mountain toward the summit, where Christ was tempted for the second time. The monastery guards the approach to the top, since it stands astride the only path to the summit.

Although the Mount of Temptation is shaped like an inverted cone, its peak flattens out as if nature had prepared a small platform for the Biblical drama between Christ and Satan. The foundations of a modern Orthodox church are here among the debris of ruined medieval chapels. Work has stopped on the modern church because of shortage of funds.

Continually Guarded
In the solitude of this site a lone guard sits night and day. From this summit can be seen the misty mountains across the Jordan River—the mountains of Moab to the north and Edom to the south. Directly beneath the mountain lies the Jordan plain, green with irrigated cultivation around Jericho and in a few isolated spots but otherwise desert.

The distant peaks of the hills of Galilee may be glimpsed in the northwest. Directly west the tips of the tallest church spires of Jerusalem may be seen.

It was from this summit that Satan whispered to Christ, "If Thou therefore shalt worship me, all shall be Thine." And it was here that Christ replied: "Get thee behind me, Satan; for it is written, thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and Him only shalt thou serve."
