

Freedom—and a Wedding

NEW YORK—Russell Erickson, 22, and Barbara Campbell, 23, make plans today in Brooklyn for a June wedding. He will be freed formally of an assault charge hanging over him since February. His "double," Thomas Joseph Higgins, has confessed slaying Patricia Ruland, 19, last Wednesday and Mrs. Dorothy Campbell, 53, Barbara's mother, last January. Yesterday a Brooklyn housewife identified Higgins as the man who attacked her on a Brooklyn street after earlier having named Erickson. (AP Wirephoto)

Anti-Kickback Bill Approved

The Oregon Senate today passed House bill 253 making it a misdemeanor for an employer to accept a "kickback" from an employee.

Sen. Phil Brady, Portland Democrat, referred to it as the "kickback bill" and said he was for it as far as it went but he thought it didn't go far enough.

Sen. Brady, veteran labor leader, said the way the kickback works is that the employer tells the employee: "I'll give you a job and pay you so much, provided that when you cash your check, you bring back to me a certain sum." Sen. Brady said "I'm sorry to admit that there are some employers in Oregon who stoop so low as to accept this kickback."

He added that in his opinion this should be made a felony instead of a misdemeanor "because it's outright stealing."

The measure now goes to the Governor for signature.

DA Stays Out Of Yma Hassle

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — The district attorney's office has made a discreet withdrawal from the affairs of Yma Sumac and her estranged husband after listening to approximately 12 versions of Tuesday's brawl between the Peruvian pair and assorted associates.

"I will issue no complaint — that's definite," said Deputy Dist. Atty. Allan H. McCurdy yesterday. "Both sides tell completely opposite stories."

The hair-pulling, face-slapping spree was touched off when Miss Sumac, accompanied by three pri-

House Defeats Verbal Consent To Blood Tests

The House of Representatives Wednesday defeated, 31-27, a bill that would have let persons suspected of drunken driving give verbal consent in taking blood tests.

The law now requires written consent. The change was sought by the Oregon Assn. of Police Chiefs, Oregon Lifesavers, and other traffic safety groups.

Rep. Vernon Cook (D), former Gresham police judge, said police officers frequently are over-zealous in presenting evidence against drivers suspected of drunken driving, and they might be more so if they didn't have to show that the suspect gave written consent to a test.

Rep. Berkeley Lent (D), Portland, said officers in small communities could "easily convince the justice of the peace that a suspected driver had given his consent orally."

In support of the bill, Rep. George Layman (R), Newberg, explained that it is often impossible to get a driver to sign anything because they feel their signature on a card would be an admission of guilt.
