Ike Considers Public Appeal For Program

Knowland Says No Final Decision Reached on Going Over Heads Of Congress on Issues

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower is considering a direct appeal to the people, by radio-television, on behalf of his budget and foreign aid program. The White House indicated he may follow the same pattern on other issues.

Eisenhower broached the possibility of a talk to the nation at a meeting with Republican congressional leaders Wednesday. Sen. Knowland of California, the GOP leader, said afterwards it was the consensus that Eisenhower "should talk to the people."

No Final Decision

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said there has been no final decision, but the matter definitely is under consideration.

Hagerty said Eisenhower "feels a great deal of misrepresentation" has been spread about his $71,800,000,000 budget and other matters and "he is going to point it out." He declined to say who Eisenhower thinks is spreading misinformation.

At about the same time Sen. Johnson of Texas, the Democratic leader, told the Senate the people have already given Congress "a clear and firm mandate to reduce this administration's budget."

Johnson criticized what he called a lack of "consistency and agreement" among Eisenhower administration officials on the spending issue.

Economy Targets

Both the $4,400,000,000 foreign aid program and the $71,800,000,000 budget as a whole have been targets of a congressional economy drive.

Knowland himself has called for a three billion dollar whack at the budget.

House Republican Leader Martin of Massachusetts has taken a similar stance.

Knowland left the impression that in spite of his own stand on the budget matter he still favors taking the administration case to the people.

It wasn't entirely clear whether the idea of a presidential appeal to the public originated with Eisenhower's congressional lieutenants or with the President himself.

Knowland said it grew out of "a general discussion that came up on keeping the country informed of developments."

Syria Troops About to Exit From Jordan

WASHINGTON (UP) — Syria is expected to withdraw its troops from Jordan within a week, diplomatic officials reported today.

Withdrawal of Syrian troops would strengthen King Hussein's hold on Jordan and raise his prestige throughout the Middle East.

Syria's expected action could be linked with increasing signs Moscow may be having second thoughts about its previous war support for Egypt and Syria during the present Middle East emergency.

American officials claim to see signs Moscow is afraid Egypt and Syria may go too far. Hence a Syrian troop withdrawal could be interpreted as a sign Syria no longer feels it can count on Moscow support in event of a showdown with Jordan.

Syria, Saudi Arabia and Iraq sent troops into Jordan last fall to help guard against a possible Israeli invasion at the time of the attack on Egypt. Iraqi troops later were withdrawn.

Between 1,500 and 3,000 Syrian troops are reported still in Jordan.

Navy Fires 2 Stages of Its 'Moon' Rocket

WASHINGTON (AP) — A "high altitude separation test" of the launching vehicle for the U. S. earth satellite was carried out Wednesday at the Air Force missile test center at Cape Canaveral, Fla., the Navy announced.

Only two stages of the planned three-stage rocket were involved, the Navy said.

A Viking rocket, the 14th and last to be made by the Martin Co. of Baltimore, was used for the first stage. A "medium-sized solid propellant rocket similar to the one being planned for the third stage of the actual satellite launching vehicle" was the second stage.

The Navy said the Viking reached a peak velocity of 3,500 miles an hour, then coasted to the peak of its trajectory about 120 miles above the ocean, where the "upper rocket" was fired in a vertical direction.

LATE FLASHES

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Green (D-RI) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee said Wednesday in his view Scott McLeod "does not have the qualifications needed to be ambassador to Ireland."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Bennett (R-Utah) proposed Wednesday that Congress deny tax exceptions to labor unions and business organizations which misuse their funds. Bennett offered an amendment to the Internal Revenue Code.

ROSEBURG (AP) — Douglas County Dist. Atty. Avery Thompson said Wednesday he will file an answer in circuit court to a Republican challenge to his right to hold office, filed minutes before he was sworn into office under appointment by Gov. Holmes.

NO MONEY COMMITMENT

Marion Court Okays Armory-Auditorium

Approval of a proposal to construct an armory in Salem which could be used as a public auditorium was given by the Marion County Court Wednesday.

Although approval was voiced in a resolution, it did not commit the county to any expenditure of money. This would not be done until the voters had had an opportunity to voice their sentiments in the matter.

Judge Rex Hartley suggested the proposal be submitted to the people at the next primary or general election. However, he did not approve of holding a special election since it would cost approximately $35,000 to stage.

A copy of the resolution will be sent to the Marion county delegation in the Legislature for their consideration.

The armory, if built, would be financed jointly by the state, the City of Salem and the county. A location at the State Fair Grounds was suggested although no commitment was made in this connection.

Recently a similar resolution was adopted by the Salem City Council.

Witness Takes '5th' in Bribe Investigation

WASHINGTON (AP) — A retired government inspector refused Wednesday to tell investigating senators whether he accepted $12,753.90 of bribes while working for the Army Quartermaster Corps in New Jersey.

He invoked the Fifth Amendment, pleading the answers "might tend to incriminate me."

The witness, Attilio Yadevia, had sworn last Jan. 30 that "I never took a bribe." His turnabout Wednesday drew a swift threat of prosecution on contempt of Congress charges.

Sen. Jackson (D-Wash.), presiding at a public hearing of the Senate Investigations Subcommittee on alleged graft in the procurement of military uniforms, ordered transcripts of Yadevia's testimony, at both the January hearing and the current one, sent to the Justice Department.

"It is quite clear there has been a violation of federal criminal statutes in connection with this case," Jackson said. "I'm quite sure the Department of Justice will desire to take expeditious action."

Yadevia gave his address as Margate City, N.J., and said he has retired on a $234 a month government pension.

Russia Blends Peace Chant, Roar of Arms in May Rally

By TOM OCHILTREE
MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union mixed the harsh rumbling of military machines with chants of "peace" and a dash of sex appeal in its giant May Day parade through Red Square Wednesday.

Defense Minister Marshal Georgi Zhukov declared the traditional fighting speech, declaring that Soviet military forces have "all the modern means of combat necessary to rout any aggressor."

Overhead 178 of Russia's latest planes, including four-jet bombers and swept-wing fighters, skimmed low over the Kremlin wall. Heavy artillery and tank wheeled through the square. Infantrymen with bayonets gleaming churned past the Lenin-Stalin tomb where Premier Bulganin and the party boss, Nikita Khrushchev, watched intently.

The military parade displayed no radically new equipment, but

Profit on 'Leak' by CAB Told

Top Georgia GOP Denies Knowing Impropriety

WASHINGTON (AP) — Robert R. Snodgrass of Atlanta, Ga., testified Wednesday he and his wife made a profit of over $2,500 on Northeast Airlines stock bought the day after a secret government decision to award the airline a choice New York-to-Miami route.

Snodgrass said an official of Delta Airlines, also bidding for the route, had telephoned him he was less optimistic about Delta's getting it.

Didn't Know of 'Leak'

But Snodgrass, Republican national committeeman for Georgia, said he had no idea any improper "leak" of information might be involved and would not have made the stock deal if he had known that.

Snodgrass told investigating senators he bought 1,000 shares of Northeast stock on the morning of Aug. 3, paying $10,000 plus brokerage charges, and sold it on Aug. 16 for $12,000.

Snodgrass said he also bought 500 shares for his wife, after receiving a telephone call from Robert L. Griffith, assistant to the president of Delta Airlines.

Griffith, who preceded Snodgrass to the witness chair, had testified he telephoned Snodgrass on the morning of Aug. 3.

Knew in 3 Hours

Griffith said that shortly before midnight he had received a report that Delta had lost its bid for the route. This was less than three hours after the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) made a "secret" decision to give it to Northeast.

Robert Oliver, an attorney here for Delta, telephoned him saying he thought Northeast had been awarded the run, Griffith said.

The CAB had voted 3-2 about 9 p.m. that night to award the profitable run to Northeast but did not announce its decision officially until Aug. 10.

There was heavy trading in Northeast stock on Aug. 3, the day after the CAB's secret decision, and successive days. A Senate investigation subcommittee is trying to find out if "leaks" of information on the decision enabled speculators to profit on the company's stock.

Griffith told Sen. Jackson (D-Wash.) acting chairman of the subcommittee, that on the basis of his 15 years' experience in the airlines industry "it was not unusual to learn these things." He agreed with Jackson there had been a leak somewhere.

Dulles Joins NATO Chiefs In Bonn Meet

BONN, Germany (AP) — NATO foreign ministers assembled here Wednesday for a three-day meeting which Secretary of State Dulles said "will seek to assure to our peoples the blessings of justice and peace."

A special four-engine plane of the U.S. Air Force landed the secretary and Mrs. Dulles in brilliant sunshine after a direct flight from Washington.

Dulles acknowledged a round of applause from thousands of persons at the airport with a jaunty wave of his hat and then drove directly to the headquarters of West German Chancellor Adenauer. A dinner conference was expected to concern such matters as the U.S. program of equipping the Bonn republic's emerging armed forces.

Soviet Russia's latest disarmament proposals, announced Tuesday night, were certain to be a major topic at the talks opening in Bonn Thursday on mutual political problems of the 15 NATO nations.

Initial Western reaction to the Soviet proposals, which included a limited acceptance of President Eisenhower's "open skies" inspection plan, was generally cool.

Control Board Abolition Move Gains Ground

Control Board Abolition Move Gains Ground

Dividing on party lines, the Legislature's Joint Ways and Means Committee Wednesday kept alive the bill aimed at abolishing the state Board of Control.

The Republican-sponsored move to table it failed, 7-6. The committee will act on the measure Friday.

The Board of Control consists of the Governor, secretary of state and state treasurer. It runs the state institutions.

Gov. Holmes asked for passage of the measure, which would put the institutions under a director appointed by the Governor. It also would give the Department of Finance, whose director is appointed by the Governor, supervision of buildings in the Capitol area.

Sen. Ward Cook (D), Portland, chairman of the subcommittee which recommended passage of the bill, said "the Board of Control does not make for efficient government because it does not define areas of responsibility. It has had three members of the same party, has had one member remaining for governor against another member, and has had the secretary of state and treasurer gang up on the Governor."

Sen. Howard C. Belton (R), of Canby, who made the motion to table, said "the state has been pretty well administered under the Board of Control. If we get disturbed about differences of opinion in the board, then we are pretty well along the road to ruin."

Sen. Cook said he had no objection to the bill's passage, but he thought it would be better to have a committee to study the board's operations.

Beck to Bring His Board Into AFL-CIO Quiz

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dave Beck told the AFL-CIO Wednesday the Teamsters Union executive board will attend Monday's hearing by the federation's ethical practices committee on charges the union is corruptly dominated.

There had been uncertainty whether the Teamsters Union would send representatives to the hearing. In an initial step toward possible eventual ouster of the 1½-million member union from the AFL-CIO.

Beck, the Teamster president, and the union itself are under fire from the AFL-CIO because of Beck's admitted personal use of some union funds and because of pending indictments against several other top Teamsters officials.

Beck, under temporary suspension as an AFL-CIO vice president and council member, faces an AFL-CIO Executive Council trial of his own on May 20.

Beck's Wednesday notified Al Hayes, chairman of the AFL-CIO Ethical Practices Committee, and president of the Machinists Union, that the Teamsters Executive Board will show up in a body for the hearing Monday. That session involves the union, itself.

Beck told Hayes this was being done with misgivings. He said the union has not been given any detailed charges. It has been broadly charged with being substantially dominated by corrupt influences.

Beck said the Teamster board's attendance at the hearings was to be "without prejudice" to the union's rights for a bill of particulars on the charges against it.

Approval of a Salem School District budget calling for total expenditures of approximately $3,745,000 was given by directors and members of the citizens advisory committee Tuesday night.

Committeeman William Entress voted against acceptance. He had given notice of his intention to vote "no" earlier, because of his objection to provisions of the teachers' salary schedule.

The schedule calls for addition of another "step" at the top end of the salary scale of $180 a year. Entress expressed the opinion that the lower paid teacher should have been given consideration.

Lengthy Session

The group struggled through 5½ hours in its endeavor to find items that could be deleted. The members had little success, although it was not because of lack of effort.

Most of the deletions were for acoustical treatment for classrooms, although it was admitted that audibility would be improved should the sound deadening material be applied.

Tornado Rips Yakima Path

YAKIMA (UP) — A tornado cut a swath through Yakima's west end Tuesday night, ripping the roof off of one garage and moving another garage more than 20 feet off its foundation.

The rare twister accompanied a general storm which raised heavy clouds of dust that created a hazardous in the Yakima Valley. No injuries were reported.

Texas Floods Routed 9,000

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The Red Cross Wednesday estimated the 14 days of Texas floods drove 9,000 persons from their homes, and called the figure conservative.

Floodwaters of the upper Sabine lapped at a residential district in Gladewater in the river's history-making rise, but the flood threat on other Texas streams eased greatly today.

Million-heir Weds Family's Ex-Cook

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — On Marine furlough, William Wallace Mein III, heir to the millions of a pioneer California cattle baron, Wednesday wed a pretty dork-eyed German immigrant girl with whom he fell in love—over his parents' objections—while she was a cook in his home.

His mother, socially prominent, who thwarted the wedding before he became 21 last February, was in Rome, and his father, an oil company president, was absent as the tall, good looking Mein exchanged vows with Isolda Constantini, 24, at St. James Catholic Church.

Only a half dozen witnesses were present for the early morning wedding—culminating a hectic romance which had included a vain elopement to Reno before Mein was 21 and parental pressure which separated the couple after they once set up housekeeping in Berkeley.

His mother, who is heirless to the fabulous cattle baron Henry Miller, had once gone into court last December and sought an annulment—only to learn the Reno elopement failed to end in a wedding ceremony because Mein was under age.

Young Mein was attending the University of California at the time, but quit school soon afterward and joined the Marines three months ago, vowing that after he became 21 he would go ahead with his plans to wed Isolda.

Drivers' Class Bill Is Signed; Fees to Go Up

A bill which would provide state aid for driver training in state public and parochial high schools was signed into law by Gov. Robert D. Holmes today.

As a result cost of Oregon driver licenses will be increased $1 to pay the cost of the program. The rise in the license cost will go into effect 90 days after the Legislature adjourns and bring the fee to $2.50.

Under terms of the bill signed today the state will pay three quarters of the cost of the driver program up to $20 a student.

The bill had been urged by various safety groups as a means of reducing traffic accidents.

BUDGET PRUNED $14,000

$3,745,000 Budgeted For Salem's Schools

Senate Picks Five for Own Hall of Fame

WASHINGTON (UP) — Contemporaries sometimes saw them as an unrelenting isolationist, a selfish unyielding conservative, a selfish champion of slavery, an uneducated immoral conniver and an unethical self-seeker.

But those five men — Former Senators Robert M. La Follette Sr., of Wisconsin, Robert A. Taft of Ohio, John C. Calhoun of South Carolina, Henry Clay of Kentucky, and Daniel Webster of Massachusetts — will grace the Senate's own Hall of Fame.

Not because of certain traits, of course, but in spite of them. A committee of present day senators selected them Tuesday from all the rest to be honored.

Their portraits will fill the gilded, eagle crested blank spaces in the reception room just off the Senate floor. From that vantage point the senators will look down as the senators of later years meet and chat with their constituents.

The Senate passed and sent to the House a bill to provide that county, city and other local elections to fix new tax bases must be held at the same time as statewide general and primary elections.

The House accepted a majority committee report recommending approval of the Senate-passed bill to issue 12.6 million dollars worth of bonds to complete the Coast Highway modernization program atween Gold Beach and Brookings.

BIG STEEL EARNS $2.03

Burglar Takes TV, 2 Clocks; Eyesight Bad?

DALLAS (Special) — A burglar with strange taste is operating in Polk County, according to Sheriff Tony Neufeldt.

Jim Bush, who lives three miles southeast of Independence, reported that a burglar entered his home by removing a window pane and releasing the latch, took a television set, two alarm clocks and a pair of badly damaged eye glasses.

Perhaps the burglar wanted the alarm clocks to awaken him for his favorite TV show, and the glasses to improve the viewing, Neufeldt remarked.

Burglars also entered the unoccupied John Dickinson farm home 3½ miles southeast of Monmouth and stole two electric saws and a thermos jug left in the building by carpenters who are remodeling the house.

Gardens Here May Day 'Riot'

With occasional rain in the picture, it was not exactly a gay and colorful May Day Wednesday, the valley's summer weather having departed for a spell.

But thanks to the warm sunshine of the early week, gardens and the countryside are a riot of blossoms for the day of flowers.

Five-day forecast calls for recurring rains, the precipitation to be heavier than normal, and temperatures averaging near or slightly below normal.

Maximum temperature in Salem went only to 74, Tuesday, a nice mark but not to be compared with Monday's 88.
