Today in Salem

Governor Holmes and members of the Legislature are taking a share of the credit for the Portland Beavers snapping their nine-game losing streak Tuesday night.

The group attended the game in which the Beavers beat Sacramento 6-4.

Those taking credit had better start attending more games. It was the third win for the Beavers in 19 games.

Maybe the Legislature could snap the bad luck streak completely if it would pull that resolution wishing the Beavers good luck out of the Fish and Game Committee where it was buried a couple of weeks ago.

Anyone interested in entering one of the Seattle Seafair parades next August 3 to 10?

In the mail comes an official entry form for a float, band, marching unit, drum and bugle corps or mounted unit (horse or wheel) for one or more of the eight parades during the event. Brochure tells all the advantages of entering a unit in the parade (publicity for the sponsor, etc.).

Brochure cover says, "We're inviting all America to Seattle's 1957 Seafair." I doubt that all will be there.

The Downtown Lions Club will honor a birthday next Tuesday—its own.

There'll be 35 candles on the cake and there to help eat it will be members of the East Salem, South Salem and Hollywood Lions clubs as well as representatives from about a dozen other clubs in the district.

On hand will be three Lions who helped nurse the organization from a cub to its present full-sized size. Harry W. Scott and Merrill D. Ohling are charter members of the club and are still members. Glenn Gregg, now a member of the Bend Lions, is another charter member who plans to be here.

The club is the second oldest club in the state.

OSC went fishing last weekend for next year's students. High school seniors from around the state were guests for social events and showing of the college.

Part of the bait was series of exhibits showing advantages of the various schools and departments of the college. One collegian looking over the display remarked, "This is getting to look more like the State Fair every year."

Health Department to Ask $170,000 Budget

The Marion County Department of Health will seek an appropriation of $170,000 to cover operating expenses during the 1957-58 year, from the county budget committee when it meets for its first session Monday, May 6.

This is indicated in the department's annual report which has just been issued under the supervision of Dr. W. J. Stone, city-county health officer.

Registration Set Tuesday
The budget request is an increase of $25,045 over the previous fiscal year. The department will present its case to the budget committee next Tuesday.

In presenting his report, Dr. Stone points out that the salary item "has been prepared in accordance with the merit system recommendations as in previous years. There has been no change in base pay in any position."

Sanitation Continued
The budget provides for continuation of a sanitarian whose time was formerly devoted to milk sanitation for the City of Salem. Responsibility for this activity was assumed by the State Department of Agriculture the first of this year.

"The need for additional sanitation services in the county is

Sport Pilots To Hear Talk By Richards

Leverett G. Richards, who has been over both the North and the South Poles, will be the speaker at the Monday night meeting of the Salem chapter, Sportsmen Pilots association, at the pilots lounge, McNary field. The meeting will be at 7:30 o'clock, and interested persons are invited.

Richards, aviation editor for the Oregonian, was a pilot on the first big Arctic air drop operation, establishing the Nord site on the Northeast coast of Greenland in 1952. He flew a drop mission to T-3, thence over the North Pole.

As a press representative for the United States Air Force Richards flew about 30,000 miles in the Antarctic and made nine flights over the South Pole. He also served as a spare pilot when needed.

Richards, who has more than 4,000 hours military flying time and about 3,000 hours civilian flying time will show motion pictures during his talk.

"Yeah," replied a wag. "One of these days Governor Holmes will demand that we give more attention to agriculture."

Archibald says: "Colleges are full of knowledge. At least, they should be. Freshmen bring a little in, and seniors take none away so it accumulates."

long overdue," starts Dr. Stone. "Approval of this item will provide a ratio of one sanitarian for 28,355 people."

A special mosquito control item of $9,084 is included in the budget. The county, City of Salem and City of Woodburn will divide the cost with Salem contributing $5,087 of the total expense.

'Don Juan' Set For Willamette

The amorous adventures of Don Juan will be brought to life Thursday and Friday evenings at 8:15 p.m. when the Willamette University drama department presents a modern adaptation of Moliere's comedy, "Don Juan."

The play follows the legend of the gigolo who weds all women who take his fancy without bothering to divorce his former spouses.

George Nelson, senior drama student, portrays the roguish Don Juan, prances from one beautiful lady to the next throughout the play, even making love to two women at once while on a swing, gliding back and forth across the stage.

Various theatrical effects have been employed for the production, among them being an old cloud-making machine, a picture-frame setting, and the construction of a fiery inferno.

Costuming, staging, and acting mannerisms from various eras of the theatre will be used in the comedy-drama, as an experiment in theatre, according to director Robert Putnam.

Librarians to Hold Session

Legislation which may be expected to provide federal and state aid to sections of the state not now served by any organized library, will be one of the principal topics which will be discussed during the forthcoming Library Trustees Institute in Portland.

This meeting which will be held May 2 at the Multnomah County Library, will be attended by D. W. Eyre, president of the Salem Public Library Board and Hugh Morrow, city librarian.

Luncheon speaker at the Institute will be Stewart Holbrook, who will discuss the "Indignant Reader."

The three-day session of the Oregon Library Assn. will attract four staff members of the Salem Library—Morrow, Grace Moffitt, Ruby Friesen and Mrs. Emily B. Hansen.

City to Purchase Additional Acres For Wallace Park

Purchase by the city of an additional 6.32 acres of Willamette lagoon property to become part of Wallace Marine Park was assured Wednesday when the City Council in a telephone vote approved payment of earnest money on the deal.

The land, being purchased from Mr. and Mrs. William Nelson, is a 3000-foot strip bordering the river on the west side. The purchase price is $4103, and the transaction as it now stands obligates the city to buy another 1000 feet.

Adjoins Present Park
The newly-purchased ground, adjoining the present park area on the north end, gives the city ownership of the entire lagoon. On the property, and to be built this summer, will be a second landing ramp for motorboats and it is expected to facilitate greatly activities on the river for occasions like the Willamette River Days celebration.

A donation of $1000 made by the Salem Junior Woman's Club for the purpose will be used to build the ramp.

At the low water season the lagoon area is separated from the river, but included in the park development plan, according to Walter Wirth, park superintendent, a channel will be cut to give access to the river at all times.

24 Acres Added
The new purchase makes an addition of about 24 acres to the park since the city acquired the original Wallace Park site by bequest in the will of the late Paul B. Wallace, who left it to the city for park development. This was a frontage of 2400 feet extending under the Center Street bridge.

Last year an additional seven acres was purchased from the estate of Walter Musgrave. Another five acres was bought from Carl Staats. Then Staats gave the city six acres more in exchange for an easement.

The full length of the park area, with the latest purchase, and planned for improvement as funds are available for the purpose, is about one and a fourth miles of the west-side river frontage.

Schmidt Tells Higher School Budget Reason

Growing enrollments in the public schools increases the cost of operation. That is the basic reason why the Salem District budget keeps going up, said Supt. Charles Schmidt while addressing the Salem Rotary club Wednesday noon at the Marion.

In this connection the superintendent pointed out that 12 years ago enrollment was approximately 5,000. Since then it has increased to 12,800 pupils in 34 buildings. Twenty-five hundred of the increase was the result of consolidation. All the rest can be credited to the growth within the original district.

Schmidt said that the 6-mill serial levy which was approved by the voters several years ago has been a "life saver" in keeping the district fairly even in the matter of producing elementary schools at a rate commensurate with the pupil load.

Two men were introduced as new Rotarians. They were Richard Rice, executive for Cascade Area Council Boy Scouts of America, presented by W. L. Phillips, and Tony C. Branson, administrator for Salem General Hospital introduced by Coburn Grabenhorst.

needed for improvement as funds are available for the purpose, is about one and a fourth miles of the west-side river frontage.

5000 TO PARTICIPATE

Parade to Launch Scout Exposition Here on May 11

A down-town parade with some 5,000 Cub, Boy Scouts and Explorers will launch the Boy Scout Exposition here May 11.

The units are to assemble at the Capitol Mall at 1:30 p.m. and begin the march at 2 o'clock.

90 Booths
Following the parade the boys will go to the State Fairgrounds where 90 booths displaying scouting skills will be on display. The booths are in keeping with the four-year program theme "Onward for God and My Country."

In the booths the boys will demonstrate a variety of skills including handicraft, leathercraft, pioneering, woodworking, Indian lore, wildlife management, campercraft, achievements, emergency service, conservation, safety, scout advancement, vocational explorations and other things taught by the volunteer leaders of the Scouting program.

Master of Ceremonies for the evening will be Les Reinmann, tall twister from the Down-town Salem Lions Club, which has sponsored the Scout Circus and Exposition for the past 15 years. The South Salem Pep Band will be on hand again this year to add zip to the Side Shows.

Special Show
Boys not participating in the Exposition will have an opportunity to see a special scout show field in the Ag Building Auditorium while the Exposition is going on.

General Chairman, Tom Staer, says this year's Exposition will attract nearly twice as many spectators as last year according to results of Ticket Sales. The Walt Disney neckerchief Slide for 5 tickets sold; and the Walt Disney Neckerchief for 10 Tickets sold, have been real incentives for boys to sell tickets. One Scout is reported to have sold 80 tickets.

Funds derived from this major activity are used to maintain and improve camping facilities at Camp Pioneer and other camps in the Cascade Area Council for boys from Marion, Polk and Linn Counties.

PARENTS TO BE GUESTS
MT. ANGEN (Special) — Mt. Angel Women's College students will entertain their parents Sunday afternoon May 5, when faculty and students will spend a social afternoon in the college lounge. Parents also will be invited to tour the building and campus.

New Map Published
Reconnaissance map of the Lebanon quadrangle, has just been published by the State Department of Geology and Mineral Industries as one of its geologic map series. A copy may be obtained from the department located in the State Office Building, Portland.

The Lebanon quadrangle lies chiefly in Linn County at the eastern edge of the Willamette Valley near the confluence of the North and South Santiam rivers, a few miles east of Albany.

The oldest geologic formation, the Mehama volcanics, occurs in the eastern half of the quadrangle and interfingers westward with the Oligocene marine sediments of the Eugene formation.

No metallic ores are known in the area, but there is an abundant supply of basalt rock of excellent quality, sand and gravel and clays.

A text describing the geology of the quadrangle is printed on the back of the map.
