

Stayton Increases Water System to Fill Summer Needs

Restrictions Will Be Lifted on Irrigation, Lawn Sprinkling With New Lines, Bigger Pumps

STAYTON (Special)—Following a five-day test, the new pumping plant of the city of Stayton was put into service this week, and present plans call for supplying water this summer without irrigation restrictions, or lawn sprinkling schedules. A grid system of mains is expected to provide sufficient pressure in most sections.

John Nightengale told the City Council that the test showed a capacity of 1,700 gallons per minute through an open discharge pipe near the old plant which is located at the foot of Third street. Under pressure of 90 pounds the pump was producing 1,000 gallons per minute. Nightengale estimated that 1,800 gallons per minute will be discharged when all three pumps are working. This includes the new one, the water turbine, and the long established electric pump.

The Council accepted the bid of the Pacific Water Works company of Portland for supplying 1,620 feet of four-inch main and 640 feet of six-inch main. Price was $3,179. There were two other bids at slightly higher figures.

The pipe will be used on Tenth street and a new street in that area, and in laying a new line to First street across the Joseph Van Handel property. This latter line will provide a tie-in of lines on the two streets and improve pressure.

Street Work Contemplated At Woodburn

Council in Move to Start Four Jobs At $41,662.40 Cost

WOODBURN (Special)—A resolution of intention has been adopted by the Woodburn City Council to improve George Tomlin, Church and Blaine streets by grading 30' wide, paving, drainage and curbs.

Construction cost of the four projects was estimated at $41,662.40 in the engineer's plans and specifications submitted to the council.

After publication in the local paper next week property owners will have 20 days from that date to file remonstrances with the council.

Next Tuesday was set for the meeting of the Council with the citizens' committee to draft the 1957-1958 city budget. No action was taken on the proposed zoning ordinance, suggested changes to be taken up at a later meeting.

Councilman N. F. Tyler reported Settlemier Ave. did not qualify for state aid but Cameron street qualified and is being considered. The county is to pave Park avenue from Hardecastle to the new armory. They also reported members of the Christian Church are opposed to one side of the street parking during services. Signs designating no parking on the east side of B street near the Methodist Church and east side of Gatch street near the Bible Baptist Church were ordered in to eliminate congestion causing a fire hazard during services.

A bid was accepted from Munnell & Sherill, Inc. of Portland to supply 200 feet of 1 1/2 inch and 200 feet of 2 1/2 inch fire hose. Bill Stange was hired for the summer to work at the sewage disposal plant. Application of Melvin Arnold to build a garage at his home on First street between Lincoln and Harrison was referred to the fire chief.

Advice Panel Service Told

SILVERTON (Special)—Judge Joe Felton of Salem was the featured dinner program speaker at the regular meeting of the Silverton Lions club at Toney's.

Judge Felton received with interest in his talk on "Juvenile Delinquents and Divorce." "Since most young delinquents are from broken homes with attendant neglect resulting," he said, "the object of the organization of the free advice panel is to provide a secret arrangement for a man and wife contemplating separation, particularly if there are children in the family, to both appear before the panel of four and speak plainly of their troubles."

The panel is composed of a lawyer, a minister, a physician and a business man.

In many cases the troubles are ended and the home and children are united, Judge Felton said.

Following the program, the officers for the coming year were elected.

Maurice Schnorenberg is to serve during the coming club year as president.

Assisting officers elected include as first vice-president, Ted Burian; second vice-president, John Becker; third vice-president, W. Weineck; secretary, Frank M. Powell, and directors, Ralph Adams and Clarence Morley.
