HIGH TARIFFS BLASTED

Trade Will Spell Against Union PORTLAND OF — Portland City Commissioner Stanley W. Earl, Monday filed a $500,000 libel suit against members of the Oregon Joint Council of Teamsters, and the union's newspaper, the Oregon Teamster.

PORTLAND — Only mass transportation can save downtown business districts. Paul O. Dittman, president of the American Transit Assn., said here Monday. Dittman, here for a three-day regional conference, said, "The automobile is strangling downtown." "Many of the automobiles that enter downtown stay there, occupying street space while no one is traveling. Each person who transfers from transit to automobile requires 20 times more street space than formerly," he said.

He recommended that one lane on each side of downtown streets in Portland be set aside for exclusive use of busses to speed travel and attract customers. He also recommended that curb parking be banned in the down town business district, construction of off-street parking facilities away from the downtown area, and co-ordination of traffic signals to facilitate bus movement.
