E COOSH EEWA:

(The way it is)

Spilyay Tymoo

THIS HAS BEEN A VERY BUSY summer season here on the reservation. There have been several programs for the youth, construction starting creating jobs for the local residents as well as various entertaining events to keep a barrel of tigers busy all the time. All the departments were buzzing during the school vacation with student trainees hustling back and forth on various duties as assigned by the supervisors. Now that school is underway once again things are back to normal and the hallways are relatively quiet once again. These on the job training for the students can help considerably to decide on the field one might be interested in entering in the future. There was not only office training but also in several other jobs such as the woods, parks, and several different jobs at the Kah-Nee-Ta resort to help supplement the students expenses during the school year.

Several activity functions were planned for the students at various intervals during the summer months, such as field trips to Portland, and other points of interest around the area.

THE FANTASY FILM CO. has completed shooting the film here on the reservation and has moved to the Timberline Lodge area to take some scenes there. Several locals were engaged in various parts in the movie, "The Warriors". This has been a very interesting event for many as they have found out what the acting business is like. Well, the Spilyay Tymoo gang was on the set a few times digging for news articles and taking pictures that would be of interest to the readers. "Well", things can happen to anyone, such as what happened to one of the Spilyay Photographers taking some good shots for the paper, and finally realized that there was no film in the camera, "YIKES". I must say that this could happen to anyone, and for a fact it was learned that this often does happen and even to the best photographers who do this for a living.

THE SPILYAY TYMOO HAS LOST a student trainee and will be losing another one shortly. Spilyay Tymoo is very fortunate to have had two very fine and promising student trainees this year and are looking forward to them rejoining the staff in the coming year. Now the remaining gang will have to put their noses to the grind stone and dig, "YIKES."

THERE STILL IS A SCORE TO SETTLE between the editors of the Madras Pioneer and Spilyay Tymoo. The editor of the Pioneer is a swell chap, "but who likes chaps", well anyway the Spilyay happened to pick up a paper call the Madras Pioneer, and in reading an article called "Dilkes Diggins", noticed that an elephant was mentioned, concerning mainly a bet the Digger has not yet fulfilled. Well, I must say that one does not have to be an elephant to remember a bet, because a bet is a bet, one can just rely on his stomach. The Digger mentioned peanut butter sandwiches on whole wheat bread; well at this point even that looks like one of the best plates in the best restaurant in the world with just a little touch of jelly to round it off. But even that looks a little far-fetched at this point. Has anyone heard of the "DIGGER BIRD", well other birds are distinctly recognized by their singing of, "Cherp, Cherp, Cherp". The "DIGGER BIRD", can be recognized immediately as he sings, "CHEAP, CHEAP, CHEAP" . . .

IN SPEAKING WITH AN individual, he told the Spilyay Tymoo editor that he read an article in one of those magazines, OUI, Playboy, or one of those kind of magazines that an aspirin is one of the best preventative pills, but you know that Spilyay wouldn't read trash like that . . . "Might look at the pictures tho." . . .

Tribes receive grants

An announcement was received from Congressman Al Ullman's office in Washington D.C. that the Confederated Tribes of Warm Springs will receive a $200,000 grant from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), and $118,000 from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW).

To The Editor:

Dear Mr. Miller:

Reading the Spilyay Tymoo this summer has been interesting and informative. You and your staff do an excellent job of news coverage and photography. It is nice that there are a few misspelled words.

My favorite picture is of you preparing the cake for the fair and Spilyay's tour of the 4-H camp is my favorite article. I guess that story was especially meaningful to me because as I was reading it in Shitike Tower several coyotes noised their protests as another stormcloud approached. I felt like joining them, ha.

Keep up the good work.

Sincerely,
Mrs. William M. Hoff
