

Hileman Finds Firefighting Challenging

"It's a challenge to use the training I've picked up through the years. You must be able to use it effectively, handle a difficult situation and put out a fire," stated Frank Hileman, recently elected Warm Springs Fireman of the Year. He joined the fire department May 1974. Hileman will be presented a trophy at the next meeting of the Central Oregon Firefighters Association at Camp Sherman.

"I learned a lot about fighting fire in the Umatilla National Forest," said Hileman. He explained that one must not allow himself to get excited during a fire. "You have to remain calm in the face of an emergency," he said. "Also, the difference in forest and house fires is great. When fighting a forest fire you know what you've got. But with a house fire, there are gasses, bodies and who knows what else, to contend with. You don't know what you've got until you get there."

During the Spring months, the fire trucks, hydrants and pressure hoses are checked on regular Monday night meetings of the Warm Springs volunteer fire department.

Training is a valuable asset to Hileman. He has attended numerous training courses offered to firemen, the last being an extracation course. So far he hasn't had to put this knowledge to use.

During the summer, Hileman is a Timber Sales Administrative Assistant, for the BIA, following through with sales officers duties. During the winter, he marks trees and cruises some allotments.

Hileman and his family have been in Warm Springs since May of 1974. His wife, Shirley, works as a Librarian Aide at Warm Springs Grade School. He has three children, Tim, Steve and Carla.

Fireman of the year Frank Hileman spends much of his free time polishing, cleaning and maintaining the fire trucks belonging to the Warm Springs Fire Department. Hileman has not missed many fires in his four years of being a volunteer fireman and is usually first to the fire hall when the alarm sounds off. CDS Photo

Needs Identified At Second Simnasho Meeting

An addition to the Simnasho Longhouse was identified as the number one priority at the second in a series of Simnasho community planning meetings held on Monday, March 13.

The need for more room in the longhouse is becoming increasingly apparent and area residents feel that as the community grows, the need will undoubtedly become greater. Cited was the over-crowded situation at the Lincoln's Birthday Powwow, recently.

Also expressed was the desire for a door on the east end of the longhouse for use during funeral ceremonies.

Another concern which came out at the meeting was that the people have seen maps and drawings of the overall community plan, but would now like to be looking at the land so areas being discussed can be pointed out and examined in a more personal and direct manner.

So the next step will be a physical tour sometime shortly after Root Feast. Those on the tour will look at possible sites for rodeo grounds, a fire and ambulance station, post office, health care office, and convenience market and service station. No date has yet been set for the tour.

Following the physical tour, the community people, committee and planning staff will get down to zoning discussions, as well as continuing to work on the question of getting water and roads to private homes at a reasonable cost.

W.S. Lions Club Hosted District Meeting

The Lions Club International convention will be in Tokyo, Japan, this year and the Warm Springs Lions Club have a potential representative for this years event.

Meanwhile at the home front the Warm Springs Lions were host for the District 36-G meeting held March 19th, at the Kah-Nee-Ta Lodge. Dick Rasmussen, the District Governor chaired the meeting as all the district Lions Clubs gave their month activity reports. Representatives from most of the clubs were present and each club has good projects going in their communities.

It was announced that the Good Samaritan Hospital has expanded its sight program. It has changed from just sight to a sight and hearing foundation. Eye-sight and hearing are among the leading problems with children as well as adults today.

The mid-year conference which was at Seaside was a big success as the turn out was good. At that conference it was decided that the State convention will be in Eugene, May 18, 19 and 20th. There will be important issues introduced to the Lions club members there. The Warm Springs Lions Club is hoping to have good representation this year.

Indian Club Thanks Helpers

Dear Editor:

The Madras High School Indian Club would like to thank all of the people who helped us put on the war dancing and drumming for the Japanese Exchange Students at the Agency Longhouse Monday, March 20. We also would like to say that there was a good parent turnout and that we wished that there was this many parents at every Indian Club activity. Below is a list of all the dancers and other concerned parents that helped us, excluding the high school kids. We apologize for any names we left out. But, we do Thank You all very much.
