With visions of luksh dancing in her head, Luann Foltz, carefully dug roots last week for the upcoming Early Childhood Indian Day, planned for April 26. The kids seem to have an advantage digging roots in that they're closer to the ground and can easily spot the root tops. DLB Photo

Education Conference, "Indian Week" Set

The third annual Oregon Indian Education Conference has been set for April 27 through April 29 at Kah-Nee-Ta Resort.

Registration will take place in the upper lobby Thursday from 9 to 10 a.m. Registration is $25.00 for adults and $15.00 for full-time students.

Also on Thursday, all resolutions from active members must be turned in.

"Unity through communication with Indian Education" is the theme for this year's conference which is sponsored by the Warm Springs Tribal Education committee and Oregon Indian Education Association.

A few items on the agenda include a workshop with Mike Giametto, legislation workshop, and a modern dance Friday night. Two days, Thursday and Friday will be devoted to Indian Week at the high school.

For further information contact Mike Clements, Tribal Education Committee chairman, at 553-1161 ext. 270; Charles Calica, Tribal Education Director, 553-1161 ext. 262; Marlin Reimer, 553-1121, ext 402.
