Bowling Wrap Up

There was no question in anyone's mind of Zane Jackson bowling team emerging as bowling champions for this year. By winning all three quarters, sporting a team with names of Muskopf, Ellis, Jim, Tanawasha, L., and Wright, they consistently kept the pressure on the rest of the teams all year long.

The evidence is clear as John Wright rolled a perfect 300 game on December 28 which gave him Hi-scratch. Wright has also had five series over 700 and they are as follows: 768, 764, 747, 728, and 723. He has had single games of 289, 279, and 2 each of 277 and 275.

This year's roll-off was to determine 2nd place among three teams tied; they were Thomas Sales and Service,

Warm Springs Chevron and Madras Auto Supply as the latter came through to place 2nd with team members of Dick Souers, Wes Pendergraft, George DeJarnett, Cecil Seyler and Ray Shike.

The two winners will enter the tournament of Champions in Milwaukie the first part of the month of May.

Here are some statistics for the year. Mike Clements won high scratch with 729, Dick Souers won the high handicap of 753, John Wright won the high scratch with 300. Gene Peles won the high handicap single game of 285, high average went to John Wright at 209 for 90 games, and the most improved bowler for the year was Mike Clements picking up 27 pins from 172 to a 199 average.

Spilyay Alerted . . .

Blazers Come To Kah-Nee-Ta

There was a rumor that the Trailblazers were visiting Kah-Nee-Ta on Saturday, April 29th. Being one of their idle days from the playoffs, Spilyay decided to check this out. So he rushes to the office, picks up a couple rolls of film, hops into the car and takes off with a big grin feeling proud of himself to be covering this story.

In route to Kah-nee-Ta there were all sorts of thoughts running through Spilyay's mind — all sorts of headlines and different approaches to the subject.

This is going to be the story for this issue. Blazers at Kah-Nee-Ta!

Spilyay wondered how he should have them pose, or would candid shots be better? Who would he interview first? He was making all these plans in order to simplify things when he arrived there.

At last he arrives at Kah-Nee-Ta and first goes to the lodge and asks about the Trailblazers. It was learned they were down at the Village so Spilyay rushes down to the Village office to get information.

The girls at the front desk said the Trailblazers were in teepees number one through seven and that there was going to be a local group putting on a powwow for them at 8 p.m. It was discovered that instead of being 6'7" or so, the Blazers were 13-14 year-old Boy Scouts calling their group the Columbian Trail Blazers.

Well, at this point it appeared that someone took the candy right out of Spilyay's mouth — he shrugs his shoulders, turns and says, "Win a few, and lose a few."

It's all in the facial expression as Floyd Tewee demonstrated in a recent wrestling mini-class at the grade school. Floyd was champion for several matches and then succumbed to a bigger kid. For more on mini-classes see pages 6 and 7.
