

Behind the scenes at Pi-Ume-Sha, children from the NBC-TV show "We're on" interviewed Edith and Morris Johnson about their lives as young reservation Indians. The show, which airs at 7:00 Saturday evenings, should include several such interviews at the powwow and the rodeo June 24. Check Channel 8 during the next couple of weeks for this segment. July 4 Activities To End With A Bang

Friday June 30, is the deadline for entries. The theme of the July 4th Parade this year is "The Moments to Remember".

The July 4th parade, the theme being "The Moments to Remember", begins the day's activities at 10 a.m. All entrants must be at the grade school by 9 a.m. for judging. Andrew and Edna David will serve as Grand Marshal this year.

Nearly $200 in prize money will be given to first, second and third place winners in the float, car, horse and children divisions. Judging will be based on fifty per cent theme and 50 per cent originality.

The parade will make its way through the campus area of Warm Springs and will wind up at the Community Center. Lunch will be served at noon near the center and games for kids of all ages will begin after lunch.

At 6:00 p.m., there will be bingo for everyone in the Social Earnings from the bingo, will go to the 4th of July fund, for next year's activities.

Dusk will fashion fireworks of many kinds, marking the end of the Fourth of July.

FILMING ENDS FOR LOCALS

The filming is over, the sets are down, and now the waiting begins.

Thirty-five Warm Springs residents recently traveled to Bend for the filming of a segment of "How the West Was Won". Four a.m. came early for all who had to be up and ready to go by bus to the film location several miles south of Bend.

Carol Bryant, who served as local casting director, said the Warm Springs people "did a beautiful job. I had to admire them for getting up at 4 a.m. to be here on time!"

Geraldine Jim, who helped Bryant contact those who had been selected for an interview with the director said "They all had a good time once they got to Bend. It was getting there that was hard."

"How the West Was Won" will premier in January 1979, so be sure to look for those familiar faces on the screen of your TV set!

"Finger puppets" depicting trees and an Indian man danced across the "stage" while Carol Allison read the script for one of the two puppet shows presented by the Summer Rec Program June 28. Kids made the puppets and staged the show. CDS Photo

LOCAL MEN TO PREPARE SALMON FEED

Harold Greene and the Fish and Wildlife Committee are trying something novel this year for their 8th annual salmon bake at Cascade Locks. The feast, scheduled for Sunday July 9, will be prepared entirely by men.

Fishing and cooking for the event will be Harold and his partner Russell Smith. Also donning aprons and chef's hats will be Nelson Wallulatam and Delbert Frank of the Fish and Wildlife Committee.

The menu will be fairly simple, said Harold, but the salmon will be cooked, dried and salted to perfection.

In addition to the meal, fresh salmon will be provided for every family head present.

Last year's salmon feed drew 1500 people and an equally large crowd is expected this year. Dinner begins at noon but the cooks may need some cheering on, so get there early.

The feast will be held at the Indian Reserve Park at Cascade Locks, ten miles west of Hood River.

LANGUAGE CLASS TO INCLUDE WASCO

Speakers of the Wasco and Sahaptin languages will team up to learn instructional techniques at the upcoming course to be taught by linguists Virginia and Dell Hymes.

The Indian Language Instructor's course, scheduled for July 10-21, has been expanded to give potential Wasco teachers the same opportunity to develop their skills. Originally the course was limited to Sahaptin, which is the only Indian language currently taught in the Warm Springs Grade School. The demand for Wasco instruction is growing, as evidenced by response to the C.O.C.C. adult education course in Wasco offered this spring.

Students in the upcoming course will work together on the general areas of teaching techniques and break up into groups by language to address such subjects as grammar, phonics and alphabet.

The schedule for the instructor's course remains flexible so that people employed during the day can participate. Contact the Adult Learning Center (Wednesday or Thursday) for more information about this free course.

OPEN HOUSE SET FOR CULTURE CAMP

Culture camp at Peter's Pasture is well underway with the first session winding up tomorrow, July 1.

Kids interested in attending the second session, running July 7-14, should sign up at the Community Center by July 6.

An open house for parents, family and friends of the campers has been set for Friday, July 14. Visitors will have the chance to watch and participate in the regular activities of the campers, which include arts and crafts classes, recreation, religious instruction and cooking.

Kids in the Summer Recreation Program at the Community Center combined arts and crafts with recreation and came up with stilts of varying lengths. Not everyone learned how to walk on them, but they all had a lot of fun trying. CDS Photo
