

Seattle University Manion Selected Captain of Chieftains

Kim Manion, the 5'7" guard of Warm Springs, has been elected by her teammates to direct the Seattle University Chieftains through their 78-79 basketball season. The women's basketball team is starting its second year of play with a first year record of 19 wins and 7 losses.

It was learned that in her first season of college ball, Kim was the team's third best scorer and second most accurate shooter. In her position as playmaker, she finished second in total assists. Kim was also awarded the most inspirational player last season for her dedication and hard work.

This season the Chieftains have lost 2 and won 3 and losing only to Western Washington State and each time by close margins. The last loss was by two points by the score of 64-62. Since then they have racked up three straight wins and all by comfortable scores, and they were over the University of Washington, Montana Tech and Portland State University.

After five games under their belts they face a long schedule of 24 games against worthy opponents throughout the northwest and British Columbia.

Buffaloes Win First Two Games

Opening their season with a pair of wins, the upcoming league play for the Madras White Buffaloes seems to be looking in their direction.

In their first game, the Buffaloes handed Wahtonka a defeat of 82-77. Time after time, Wahtonka rallied but failed to keep up the momentum. Wahtonka players were obviously unhappy with the referees calls, hopelessly arguing with them and having a number of technical fouls called against them. Six-foot Brian Kienlen was sent off the court after running a little loose with his mouth.

Madras' only trouble was their consistency in shooting. Madras only hit 38 per cent of their baskets while Wahtonka hit 42 per cent. Good defensive playing slowed down Wahtonka and prevented them from scoring. Junior Ron Wilson pulled down twelve rebounds despite being one of the shorter players.

Rodney Mitchell and Ron Wilson led the way in the scoring field. Rodney was hitting fairly accurate from the outside, scoring 24 points. Rodney shot 100 per cent from the free throw line, hitting four out of four to have a total of 28 points against Wahtonka. Ron Wilson ended the game with 21 points.

The action between the White Buffaloes and Henley Hornets was close clear up to third quarter. Using zone defense in the second half proved to be effective as the Buffaloes won their second game, 71-58. Madras' defense held Skip Barney at only ten points before he fouled out. Without Skip, the Henley offense was limited and gave Ron Wilson the chance to drive in and score time after time. Wilson ended the game with 21 points. A few steals by Rodney was another factor for the win. Rodney ended the game with 18 points and Jim Souers had 17.

Henley will have another chance at Madras again, when Madras hosts their annual invitational tournament this weekend, Dec. 15 & 16. Starting at 7 p.m., John Day will go against Burns and the second game starts at 9.

REACH FOR THE SKY - Rodney Mitchell skies over his opponent for another two points in the Madras White Buffaloes first game against Wahtonka. Rodney was high scorer of the game, with 28 points. Final score of the game was 82-77, the Buffaloes.

Dick Souers Honored

On the night of December 6, Dick Souers was presented with a 300 bowling game diamond ring and a 300 game patch for his achievement on the night of September 27 when he rolled a perfect 300 game at the Pelton Lanes.

Making the presentation was Dennis Williams, the Secretary-Treasurer for the Jefferson County Bowling Association. Williams said that there are only three sanctioned 300 games accomplished here in Jefferson County. The first was by Vernon Tanewasha earlier in the year, shortly after that John Wright got his 300 game. At the beginning of this year's league play Dick rolled his perfect game. All three games have come in the Pelton Lanes according to proprietor Connie Allen.

All three who have rolled a 300 game are in the Warm Springs Bowling League which is held each Wednesday night and they are all on different teams and from time to time it appears that either one could repeat with another 300 game as they come ever-so-close.

There are several bowlers in the league that are capable of rolling a 300 game and have come close in the past. It is very hard to concentrate on twelve consecutive strikes in a row. Muskopf stated earlier in the year that he has been bowling for quite some time but has yet to roll a 300 game. I've played golf for a short time and made a hole in one but I have never gotten a 300 bowling game yet, he added.

In any event Souers has joined the "Elite" in the bowling world and who knows who might be next. Spilyay is not bowling but who knows he could come in and roll a perfect 300 game on his first attempt.

Boxers Bring Home Championships

Two months of extensive training and vigorous work-outs have paid off for the Warm Springs Boxing Club when they traveled to Longview, Wash., for the novice and sub-novice championship tournament, Dec. 2 & 3. Of the eleven contending from Warm Springs, the local team secured five championship titles, the team championship, and the team sportsmanship honors.

Making his very first appearance in boxing competition, Gale Lawrence, Jr., boxing in the 165 lb. class, was Warm Springs' biggest victor, winning by a third-round technical knockout. According to boxing coach, Fabian Sutterlee, Gale's win "hyped up" the other boys and gave them the confidence and encouragement to win. "It (Gale's win) lifted them up and put them in the right mood to box," said Sutterlee.

Lucas Ike, 145 lb., had a close fight which he lost by a split decision. This was Lucas' first bout in the ring, and according to Fabian, he threw some illegal punches. Points are deducted for illegal punches so after the match was over Lucas had points deducted and came out behind.

Mike Berry weighed in at 165 pounds before his fight, but was pushed up into the 175 lb. class because there was no one in his class to fight. The larger opponent won over Berry with a technical knockout. Sutterlee said he and the other coaches saw Berry hit with an illegal punch which took him down. The referee failed to see the illegal punch and although Berry was ready and willing to finish the fight, the referee ended the match.

Sterling Holiday, 90 lbs., lost his fight because of hair falling in his face. "Otherwise he would've won," said Sutterlee.

The other boxers declared champions from Warm Springs were: Kevin Blueback, 80 lbs.; Russell Tufti, 90 lbs.; Sheldon Sutterlee, 90 lbs.; and Joel Craig, 80 lbs. They received medallions as prizes.

Coach Sutterlee made note that this was all of his boxers very first appearance in the ring, with the exception of two. Fabian considers all of his boxers winners of the Longview tourney although not all of them came home with medallions.

The other coaches and judges praised the Warm Springs boxers because they had never seen Warm Springs in such fine physical condition before. The judges and coaches thought our team was going to be easy, said the coach.

The boxers were competing against eleven other teams and about 75 other boxers, according to Sutterlee.

With only one boxing tournament this season, Fabian already has high hopes of taking some boxers to the Nationals. He feels he has a couple of boxers who have the potential of being National champions, with more work-outs and conditioning. "We're going to let people know we're around," said the coach.

The boxing club will be idle through December, but they are looking forward to more action next month. On January 6 & 7, the boys will be going over to Eugene for another Open tournament. On January 13 & 14, it will be Longview again, where Sutterlee says some of the boys who lost will be looking for a rematch. Then on January 20, the boys are hoping to host their own tournament at the Community Center.
