Vermillion Upsets Colville in Holiday Tourney

The Great Plains Indians from Vermillion, S.D. defeated defending champions, the Colville Tribe from Nespelem, Wash., 91-82, to win the championship title of the 20th Annual Warm Springs Nation's All-Indian Holiday basketball tournament held Dec. 27-30.

Lacking the height that Vermillion has, the Colville Tribe was already behind after the first quarter. The score was 19-7.

The second quarter showed Colville getting the upper hand, scoring 26 points to Vermillion's 23. But the evenly-matched quarter ended with Colville still behind, 42-33.

In the third period, Vermillion showed its dominance in rebounding and also displayed their checking ability. The taller South Dakota team was seen constantly checking their opponents as Colville couldn't get anywhere in this quarter. The Vermillion defense held Colville to only 13 points, while they scored 32.

At the beginning of the fourth and final quarter, the score was 74-46. A chance for their second championship title in a row looked dim for Colville. But they never gave up until the buzzer went off. Colville rallied time after time and the standing-room-only crowd thought that Colville was going to make a comeback. But despite Colville outscoring Vermillion 36-17, they were still behind by nine points when the game ended.

Pete Conway, 6'4" forward for Vermillion, was leading scorer in the championship game with 26 points. With a few seconds left in the game, Conway made a one-handed slam-dunk. Conway was named Most Valuable Player of the tourney and also had the most rebounds.

Each team member of the Great Plains Indians was awarded with a jacket.

All-stars from the Vermillion team included: Conway, Bill Eaglestaff, Darrel Talks About, and Pete Davis.

All-Stars from the second place team, Colville, were: Mike Jordan, Gary George, and Norris Palameteer.

Other all-stars were: Lyle Akkerman and Cub Allenwood from the Nez Perce Nation; Byron In The Woods and Dan Mosley from the Oakland Bucks; and Al Doublerunner from the Satus Cowboys.

High scorer of the tournament on an average of four games went to Byron In The Woods from Oakland. He averaged 33 points per game.

Cub Allenwood from the Nez Perce Nation had the most assists. It was not known how much he had at press time.

Mr. Hustle award went to Pete McCormack of the Nez Perce Nation.

The Sportsmanship award went to the Satus Cowboys.

All-Stars and other awards winners were given trophies.

Wilkinson Named To Pro Golf Team

Kah-Nee-Ta's Golf Pro Jim Wilkinson has been named to this year's Oregon Journal 1978 golf team. Wilkinson is one of six named to the pro set. Jim has had a very good year in the game. One of his major accomplishments was winning the Oregon P.G.A. tournament and has participated in several tournaments during the year. Wilkinson, in his seventh year as Kah-Nee-Ta's golf pro, is one of six to be named to the pro set. He joins Milne who was selected as the Captain of the team, also McRae, Haney, Duden and Griswold.
