

Cadets fall for Aikido

Cadets and residents of the alcohol treatment center flocked to the community center for a three-day class in Aikido, an oriental martial art, taught by John Damian. Damian, who has his own school in Grant's Pass and has been teaching Warm Springs police for three years, was greatly impressed with the efforts of the local students.

In eight hours, the students were grasping falling techniques that take 6-8 weeks to learn in a regular course, said Damian. He and assistant Marty Katz demonstrated to students the proper way to roll into a fall when thrown (left). Damian also involved his nine-year old son John Tokaji in the lessons to prove that youngsters can master techniques.

Damian's principal goal for the three-day session was to encourage self-respect and discipline among his students. He admired the group for pushing themselves to their mental and physical limits. "The way the kids are accepting it is amazing," he said.

The Aikido classes were sponsored by the Juvenile Department and the Alcohol and Drug Program.

Jefferson Co. All-Stars take fourth

The Jefferson County All-Stars won their first game over The Dalles West, 11-8, then lost their next two games to finish in fourth place at the District 5 little league tournament held in Redmond.

Redmond won the 9-team tournament with a 17-1 victory over The Dalles American and advanced to the state little league tournament. Hermiston finished third.

In the semi-finals Jefferson County lost to The Dalles American 4-3. Coach Satch Miller thought they should've won this game and commented, "we weren't mentally ready to play."

Hermiston won 7-4 over Jefferson County in their last game to put the All-Stars in fourth place.

Papoose players making the

All-Star team were: Cy Jim (started at third base, led the JC team in hitting); Butch Miller (pitcher); Ryan "Schmitt" Smith (started in center field); and Anson Begay (catcher; only 11-year old on team who will return next year).

Little League action is over for the year but Miller and Lyle Rhoads are going to combine their teams and compete in Indian tournaments.

Budweiser sponsors ladies golf tourney

The Budweiser Brewery is the sponsor for a ladies best ball golf tournament to be held at Kah-Nee-Ta September 26-27.

Kah-Nee-Ta golf pro Jim Wilkinson expects about 130 people for the mid-week 36-hole tourney. One featured event will be a cocktail party hosted by Budweiser.

For more information, call Wilkinson at 553-1112, ext. 371.

Norwest joins Miller Ford as body man

Miller Ford of Madras would like the Warm Springs community to know about their new employee. Oscar Norwest, 42, a Klamath Indian, is their new body man.

Norwest invites his friends in Warm Springs to stop in for free coffee and an estimate. Miller Ford is open Monday through Friday 8-5 and the shop is located at the old site on 6th and B.

High school sports starting up soon

Madras high school athletic department is having an ice cream feed at the high school August 11, 1979 at 4 p.m. This is for all athletes who plan to participate in sports in the coming year.

The main purpose of this gathering is to give out information concerning Physical examinations, Insurance, issuing of athletic equipment and also announce when training and practice sessions will start.

For this year's football program the equipment issue for varsity players is scheduled for Monday August 13, at 6:30 p.m.

The Sophomores and Freshmen may check out equipment August 20, at 9:30 a.m. Upon receipt of equipment the dates for practice will be announced. The varsity will hold daily-double practice sessions starting at 8 a.m. to 12 noon and from 1-5 p.m.

Mr. Mowed from the United Learning Institution will also be on hand to hold a clinic on Motivation. All participants who wish to participate in the clinic may register at the door.

It is urged that all football players be in attendance.

Open jackpot rodeo

Lee Tom split first and second in the saddle bronc with Gary Bruhn during the Chiloquin rodeo.

Tom Yanez claimed the All-Around championship at this year's open rodeo held recently at Chiloquin, Oregon. For his efforts in winning the cow milking and the team roping he was awarded a hand-tooled saddle and a gold and silver belt buckle.

A spokesperson for the rodeo committee and contestants said that this was one of the best rodeos ever at Chiloquin. Well organized, all events went smoothly. It is a community effort which speaks for itself.

All stock was donated by local ranchers except for the horses. The contractor was John Growney from Red Bluff, California. Otherwise the bulls, steers, cows and calves were donated.

This year boasted the largest number of contestants in eight years. There was a total of 260 contestants entered as compared to the usual 205 or less each year. The gate was reportedly average.

Lee Tom of Warm Springs managed to split first and second in the saddle bronc with Gary Bruhn. In the bull riding there was a three-way split for first place among Rob Easterbrook, Rolleo Gonzales and Mike McNeary.

Local team wins benefit tourney

The team of Zane Jackson, Buford Johnson, Dwain Brockett and Don Dietz has qualified for statewide competition after winning the Walter Hagen Cancer Benefit Tournament at Kah-Nee-Ta last weekend.

Winning in Salem in September would mean a trip to Disney World in Florida.

The foursome took the "best two balls" tourney with a 26-under-par 114. Despite the small turn-out for the local event, the men are pleased with their win and optimistic about their chances of going to Disney World.

Eighty percent of the tournament's $100 entry fees went to the American Cancer Society.

The long and the short of it

As part of Camp Ny-Mu-Mah, former Trail Blazer Bill Walton returned to Warm Springs to hold a basketball clinic at the Community Center. He advised that kids stretch and do plenty of warm up exercises prior to any physical activity to help prevent injuries. Walton said it was great to be back in Warm Springs, even recognizing a few young friends in the crowd.
