Local golf pro wins tourney

Kah-Nee-Ta golf pro Jim Wilkinson played consistent golf during the second annual Oregon Professional Golfer's Association tournament held recently on three courses in the Bend area. It was that consistency that won him the tournament and the prize money.

Shooting 70-70-71-72 during the four days of play, a five under par for the 288 field, Wilkinson said he was "satisfied" with the game—considering the foul weather.

"It was rainy and cold every day. The weather was miserable."

The tournament, which brought about 180 professional golfers mostly from Oregon and a few from Washington, was held at courses at Black Butte, Sunriver and in Bend.

Tribesmen win again

The Sah-Hap-Tin team golf championship belongs to Warm Springs for the second straight year. One more victory and the trophy will belong to Warm Springs for keeps.

It turned out to be an easy victory by score, but playing golf in a windstorm was no picnic, according to Tom Estimo. The format was set for a ten-man team from each tribal district. Doing the planning and making arrangements were Charles Pimms and Levi Bobb. Due to unknown circumstances, Charles Pimms could not make it along with some of Yakima's better players.

Warm Springs had 13 players, Yakima had 12, Colville had 8 players and Nez Perce had 2. So the match was played between Yakima and Warm Springs. The score was Warm Springs 1690 and Yakima's was 1886.

If eight-man scores had been used Colville would have defeated the Yakimas, but prior to the tourney ten players per tribe was decided upon.

The championship team members all received a trophy each, and other prizes. Warm Springs had to use three junior players and they all did a fine job. Team members' scores for the two days were as follows: 1) Tom Estimo 78-75: 153, 2) Levi Bobb 79-79: 158, 3) Cecil Conners 82-80: 162, 4) Satch Miller 89-77: 166, 5) Ray Shike 84-86: 170, 6) Joel Craig (age 11) 92-85: 177, 7) Everett Miller 89-94: 183, 8) Les Tanewasha 101-96: 197, 9) Emerson Miller (age 12) 101-98: 198, 10) Shaunna Craig (age 10, girl) 118-107: 225.

Jr. golf tourney a great success

The second annual Kah-Nee-Ta Jr. Golf Tournament was held August 29 and 30 at the resort's 18-hole golf course. The Warm Springs Athletic Association sponsored the event for the first time this year with the cooperation of the Warm Springs Confederated Tribes and Kah-Nee-Ta Golf Course staff.

The tournament hosted a field of 90-plus young golfers. Events for both boys and girls were sponsored. The two events were sub-divided into age groups. Added events for the young golfers were a race horse competition, a long drive contest, a closest to the pin contest, a salmon bake and a hamburger and fried bread feed.

The overall champ in the boys division was Paul Salina, age 15, of the Royal Colwood Country Club in Victoria, British Columbia, Canada. He shot 68-73 for an overall total of 141 for the 36 holes (1 over par for the course).

Tracy Taylor, age 13, of the Corvallis Country Club won the girls division turning in a score of 187 for the 36-hole total.

Local golfers made a good showing with Joel Craig taking a second in the boys division of Boys 10-11 with a total of 182. Andrew David, Jr., in the Boys 10-11, took fourth place with a score of 197. Shaunna Craig took a second place in the Girls 11-and-under with a total of 123 and she also won one of the long drive contests.

The coordinator of the tournament, Tom Estimo, said the tournament was a great success in many ways. He went on to say that the participants and their parents had many nice things to say about the tournament and the resort but the highlight for most was the salmon bake. According to Estimo there are plans to work towards having the tournament recognized by the Junior PGA in the upcoming year.

10 year-old leads ladies

Warm Springs, led by ten year-old Shaunna Craig, won the Sah-Hap-Tin team golf championships for the women. Shaunna fired a 118 score the first day over the tough McNary Golf Course, tying Yakima's Elvina Minnick.

At the turn Elvina held a three-stroke lead over Shaunna, but Shaunna picked up the three-stroke disadvantage on the middle holes of the back side. She shot 5, 5, 7 to Elvina's 6, 7, 8. The stage was set for the second day.

Saturday's round was played in a windstorm along the Columbia, but Sunday the weather was beautiful, just a breeze and clear skies. For a ten year-old, Shaunna blistered the front with a 49 compared to her opponent's 58.

On the tougher back side Elvina had a two-stroke advantage, but not enough to overtake Shaunna's 49-58, 107 for the day. Her two-day total was 225. Elvina finished 2nd with a 232 total. Madeline Queahpama's 239 was good for third over Julia Hill's 240 for fourth.

The Warm Springs total three-woman team score was 712 strokes while Yakima's was 777. The Colvilles and Nez Perce could not field a team.

Cindy Bobb, Anita Jackson, Madeline Queahpama and Shaunna Craig represented the Warm Springs tribe, and the three lowest scores counted.

Elvina Minnick, Julia Hill and Martha Yallup represented the Yakimas. Next year the Colvilles are responsible for the team championships and we are expecting a team from each tribe, says golfer Tom Estimo.

Interested in boxing?

Anyone interested in participating in boxing is invited to attend the first practice session to be held at 6:00 p.m. on September 28 at the Community Center in Warm Springs. It is necessary that those who intend to box in the Hood River smoker on October 17 attend. Practice sessions will be held Monday through Thursday.

Coach Gerald Smith invites anyone from the Warm Springs community or surrounding areas including Madras, Culver and Metolius who are interested in boxing to attend. He says, "We would be glad to work with anyone."

"We're going to really train them hard and concentrate on discipline," Smith says. Because there is a lack of money he says "we will be selective. We'll take those who are dedicated. They make their own decision."

Applications may be picked up from Gerald Smith or at the Community Center.

Both Alvis Smith, Jr. and Gerald Smith will be attending the National Coaches Clinic for one week in November at the Olympic Training Center in Colorado Springs, Colorado. Smith says, "It's something I've been wanting for quite a while." He says they need money to travel. "If anyone is interested in assisting us with travel money we would appreciate it."
