

Holiday bowling tourney

A men and women's handicap bowling tournament sponsored by the Warm Springs Athletic Association will be held at Pelton Lanes in Madras in January 1, 2 and 3. The tournament is sanctioned by ABC and WIBC.

Events listed for the tournament are four-member teams, doubles, singles, mixed doubles and the Holiday Champ roll-off. The teams will have a division for men and one for women. Handicap will be based on 70% of 200 on scratch basis for each bowler.

The doubles will be men/division of 1-42 and under handicap; men/division 11-42 and over handicap; women all in one division. The mixed doubles will be in one division.

Each bowler will be responsible for submitting their average, which must be based on ABC/WIBC leagues. Participants must be 1/2 Indian descent; a tribal or BIA employee working at Warm Springs; or a member of the Warm Springs men or women's bowling league. Spouses are eligible.

The highlight of the tournament will be the roll off for the Holiday Champ of the two men's division and one for the women's division. This event is featured as the all events attraction.

Boxing Smoker Cancelled

The scheduled boxing smoker to have been held at the Community Center in Warm Springs on December 19 and January 10 have been cancelled along with the coaches' and referee's clinic. Weather conditions are cited as the reason for the cancellations, according to boxing coach Gerald Smith.

The smokers will be planned for the spring months ahead.

The three boxers coaches, Alvis Smith, Jr, Randy Smith and Gerald Smith conferred to make the decision. They felt a change of dates would draw more people to the matches, both spectators and competitors.

The coaches' clinic, which was scheduled to proceed the December 19 smoker, has been cancelled and will be rescheduled. Please watch for further information.

Check lost & found

Sporting goods store opens in W.S.

Sports is a part of nearly everyone's life in the Warm Springs community. Basketball, boxing, volleyball, baseball or golf, all require some sort of sports equipment.

With that in mind several community members have gotten together, invested some money and are stocking up on sports supplies. Satch Miller and partner Madeleine Craig along with Tom Estimo have made plans for a sporting goods store called Inter-Tribal Trade which will undersell all sports suppliers in the vicinity. "It's hard to find a good price," Craig commented.

Working with two sporting goods stores out of Portland, they will be able to provide the sports enthusiast with anything he or she might need. Most items can be ordered for the customer through a catalogue with delivery in approximately two days, according to Miller.

The business end of the sporting goods store is still being set up according to Craig. She explained, "Everything just happened and we didn't get a chance to work at the particulars." She added, "We've had quite a few orders already."

Eventually Estimo will be devoting full days to the business, according to Craig. The inventory will be increased along with availability of someone to work at getting orders out. A trailer to operate from is planned for the near future, Craig mentioned.

Now, however, anyone interested in looking at the shoes in stock or ordering sporting goods may call 553-1615 for evening shopping information.

The results from all twelve participating departments include: Purchasing-15,075; Accounting-12,657; Tribal Court-5,381; Personnel-5,322; Community Center-4,695;

Vital Statistics-3,297; Roads-1,869; Realty-1,860; Path Foster Home-1,476; and BIA Administration 1,016.

With 63 people participating, the grand total of time spent in exercise for the month of November totaled 70,360 minutes.

Manion becomes assistant coach

After four years as a member of the varsity basketball team, Kim moves up to become an assistant coach and help the Lady Chieftains with the skills she developed as a player.

A Physical Education major, she now makes the transition from player to coach. "I am lucky enough to be under a coach who will help me. Dave knows me as a player and a person, and will give me the responsibilities I can handle," she said.

"I would like to coach on the high school level, and if opportunities come, to someday go higher, I would like that experience, but my goal is to become a good basketball coach." Kim continued, "This year in making the transition from player to coach I want to get as much knowledge and experience as I can, be open and absorb everything. On the sidelines as a coach you are involved in the action, but you are not worried about playing time. You are there objectively as a coach to make decisions that are good for the whole team."

Kim's future plans include graduation in spring, 1982 and teaching and coaching next year.

She is also playing on an AAU team in her spare time.
