

JAWS OF LIFE—The time-saving device known as the "jaws of life" was used by the Warm Springs Fire and Safety Department to remove Ernie Selam from his car following an accident the evening of March 6. Selam was apparently traveling at a high rate of speed and failed to negotiate a turn at the intersection of Hollywood Boulevard and Tenino Road. He car went off the road over a bank, back onto the road, then off the road over another bank where it came to rest. Police and Fire and Safety worked to remove him from his car by removing a car door and raising the steering wheel. It was suspected he may have suffered possible head and neck injuries. He was transported to the Public Health Clinic and on to Mt. View Hospital where it was determined his injuries were not a serious nature. Pending further investigation no citation have been issued at this time, according to Acting Chief of Police Ray Calica.

Central Oregon Community College will offer nine community education classes spring term in Warm Springs. Six of them for the first time. Also there will be five credit classes available. Here is a brief description of some of the classes.

A six-week class called Trees, Trees, Trees, is designed for people with no background in forestry. It will give the student basic knowledge, specific to the Warm Springs Indian Reservation resource in the areas of tree and plant identification, tree measurement, silvicultural (reforestation) considerations, ecosystems (inter-involvement of various life cycles), tree pests and disease identification, multiple-use concepts: wildlife and aquatic interests, cattle, range and soil interests, farming and homesights, employment and revenue, and recreation and aesthetic interests, and a description of the BIA/Forestry organization in Warm Springs. There will be one, four-hour fieldtrip to identify trees and diseases, multiple-use and reforestation areas. Instructor Jim Akerson, a BIA forester, will utilize local professionals to speak in their area of expertise. We hope this class will be highly enjoyable and of special value to the tribal landowners in charge of such a vast and important forest, as well as to anyone else who cares to learn more about such a wondrous creation.

S.W. Indian Cooking—Evelyn Nequatewa, a Hopi Indian, will share knowledge on the history and culture around gathering, preparing and storing materials used in traditional southwest Indian style cooking. The students will learn to make flour tortillas, red and fresh green chile sauces and enchiladas.

Traditional Ribbon Shirts—Martha George will teach students to draw a pattern and sew ribbon shirts. She will explain methods of making several special decorations: sunburst, shield and embroidery.

Indian Moccasins—For four Thursdays in May, Martha George will instruct students in making a pattern, cutting out, sewing beads and moccasins. Students may choose from several different styles. Everyone must supply hide materials.

Seascapes in Oil—For four weeks in May Deborah Wolfe, 4th grade Warm Springs Elementary teacher, will teach students to develop skills and techniques that will enable them to design and paint seascapes with oil paint. The styles of Von Baseman and Alexander will be utilized with emphasis on wave transparency and highlights. Debbie boasts she can teach "anyone to paint."

The above classes have supply lists available at the COCC office.

First Aid/Home Health—The instructors (on staff at the clinic) will give information that will help an adult to adequately respond to common physical, and in some cases, emotional, health problems and to recognize when it is time to seek professional help. The class will cover the developmental stages of childhood, proper nutrition and its importance to health and growth, common ailments and remedies, basic first aid and crisis intervention. With summer coming on and all the kids home from school, the first aid aspect of this class should really be important.

Tennis—Leslie, Uyeji, a tribal employee in the data processing department, will teach tennis to the first eight people that sign up for this four-week, eight session class that will be held in May at Kah-Nee-Ta, evenings 6-8 p.m.

For a description of the credit classes, see the COCC catalogue. Of special note, Curt Olson, from the tribal accounting department, will be teaching Introduction to Business. Angie De La Torre, Warm Springs legal aid supervisor, will instruct American Indian and the Law. She received a law degree from UCLA and was formerly director of the Urban Indian Center in Eureka, California. The class will focus on the history of Indian law and encourage students to learn to research individual points of law. Discussion and term papers will focus on the history of Indian law, the structure of government, the Federal/Tribal relationship, sovereignty, supremacy, jurisdiction, civil rights, land, water and hunting and fishing rights. Local speakers will be utilized whenever possible to address some of these topics.
