

Scholarships funds raised for COCC

A total of $10,136 for student scholarships was raised at the Central Oregon Community College Foundation's Meal of the Year, according to COCC Foundation special events committee chairman Craig Moore.

Nearly four-hundred people attended COCC's Foundation "Meal of the Year" benefit at the College's Center for the Arts last weekend.

Guests sampled the cuisine from 30 of Central Oregon restaurants and eating establishments in an elegant buffet. All the meal entrees were donated by area restaurants and featured a menu full of items ranging from hors d' oeuvres to desserts. A wine-tasting session featuring Oregon wines complemented the buffet.

"We're thrilled with the response from those who attended. We matched last year's total on ticket prices that were 20% lower," said Moore. "And I think we netted much more than that in community goodwill."

The funds will be used for Foundation grants and scholarships for area students who need help with college expenses next year.

The COCC foundation is the College's citizen volunteer development arm which has raised money for college scholarships and other projects since 1955.

The Meal of the Year was presented by the Foundation's special events committee.

"We know we have a winner on our hands," said Moore. "We've already started getting calls about next year's event both from guests and from participating restaurants."

The first quarter ends November 5, 1982 and reports cards will be distributed to parents on Parent Conference Day November 12, 1982. These grades are not permanent grades only progress grades. This means that a student has a chance of earning a passing grade during the next nine weeks. This could raise the permanent semester grade to passing.

In order to understand how your child earned the grades, I strongly encourage you as a concerned parent to please visit the teachers during parent conference day. Confer with the teacher and develop ways and means for successful completion of the course. Think of positive methods of increasing involvement with your child's education here at Madras Senior High School.

All of us here want total and complete success in obtaining a high school diploma, so please plan on attending Parent Conference Day, Friday, November 12, 1982 between the hours of 9:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. at the Senior High.

If your child is enrolled full-time or half-time with the Alternative Education program, I encourage you to visit Mr. Rob Hastings, Elizabeth Hayes, Julie Mitchell, and Ned Hurtado. Please call the Alternative Education program for appointments 553-1489.

All parents may pick up the grade reports and a map of the school with the list of where teachers can be located in the Senior High building. After you have seen the grade report please notice grades and attendance. Visit teachers you feel can be of assistance in informing you of how your child is progressing. If the grade report is not what was expected, discuss how as a parent you can be of assistance. Please remember all aspects of a class: participation, attendance, homework, attitude, daily class assignments, tardies, tests, quizzes, habits and self discipline. Try to talk in a positive manner about the class with the teacher.

SENATE BILL WOULD PROVIDE $30 MILLION FOR TRIBAL PROGRAMS, TRIBAL JOBS: Before closing shop October 1, the Senate passed S. 1088, a bill that would reauthorize the Administration for Native Americans in the Department of Health and Human Services. The bill also includes a new tribal government support program, which would make grants to Indian tribes and Alaska Native villages to help them perform their governmental functions. The grants could be used to improve the economic standing and job skills of tribal members working on reservations. Thirty million was authorized for 1983 and "such sums as may be necessary" for 1984.

Senator William Cohen, the sponsor of the bill and chairman of the Senate Indian Affairs Committee, said the new program would help Indian tribes supply governmental services, such as police protection, wildlife management and judges for tribal courts and would replace funds for public-service employment on reservations—previously supplied by the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA). There has been no action in the House on the Bill.

ASSISTANT SECRETARY VISITS SHERMAN SCHOOL; NEVA RESERVATIONS: Interior Assistant Secretary Ken Smith met with the school board, student body officers and school officials at the Sherman Indian High School in Riverside California, October 14. Prior to his visit to the school, Smith met with Jerome Tomhave, Superintendent of the BIA's Southern California Agency at Riverside, and his staff.

That evening Smith was honored by the United Indian Development Association for his contributions to American Indian economic progress at the 1982 Indian progress in Business Conference in Los Angeles. On October 15 Smith visited two Nevada tribes, meeting with Washoe tribal chairman Robert Frank and council and the Reno-Sparks Colony Chairman Lawrence Astor and Council. On October 20, Smith is scheduled to fly to Anchorage, Alaska to address the 16th annual conference of the Alaska Federation of Natives.

CONGRESS PASSES RESOLUTION REQUESTING RESTORATION OF THORPE RECORDS, MEDALS: House Concurrent Resolution 364, was passed by the House on September 28 and the Senate, October 1—just before Congress recessed for the fall election campaigns. The resolution expresses Congressional support for the restoration of Jim Thorpe's olympic records and medals.

Thorpe won the decathlon and pentathlon events in the 1912 Olympics but was later stripped of his awards by the International Olympic Committee for being a professional athlete. He had accepted $2 a day for playing baseball.

The Congressional resolution asks the IOC to reinstate Thorpe's name and achievement to the official records and at the 1984 Olympics in Los Angeles to present duplicate medals to his family.
