Warm Springs represented at Silver Glove Boxing tourney

The Warm Springs Boxing Club entered nine boxers in the Silver Glove boxing tournament held in Vancouver, Washington, December 4 and 5. Sponsored by the Vancouver Elks Club and under the Oregon Association of the United States Amature Boxing Federation Inc.

Delbert Lawson in the 12-13 year old class went through uncontested, but was matched with a 14-15 year old class opponent and lost in a very close decision, however Lawson was declared the champion of the 74 pound 12-13 year olds. Lawson received a jacket.

of the Vancouver Boxing club.

Po Perkins in the 10-11 year old, 60 pound class lost to Jason Gilnetted of the Portland Boxing Club in the semi-finals. Perkins boxed well but the lack of experience made the big difference. This was his first bout.

Ryan Eagleheart in the 10-11 year old division lost a disputed decision to Travis Greesett frm the Cowlitz Boxing Club. Many thought Eagleheart had won the bout, but the decision was in Greesett's favor. Smith said,

"there was no doubt that Eagleheart was far ahead in points in the first two rounds and to loose the bout is questionable."

Leander Squally, 10-11 year old in the 80 pound division lost a close decision to Ed Bales of the Kelso Boxing Club during the championship round. To get into the championship round Squally beat Paul Madee of Bend.

Ian Tohet 14-15 year old 145 pound class was just half a pound over weight of 145 and a half pounds put him into the higher bracket where he was matched with opponents at 156 pounds. A big difference and some experience along with that is a big handicap to overcome. He lost to a boxer with too much experience. This was Ian's first boxing match.

Joey Ortiz lost in the finals to Padero Aguiala of the Portland boxing club. Ortiz easily won the first round but could not hold on the last two rounds to settle for runner-up. In his previous bout Ortiz stopped Robert McIntosh in the second round.

Roland Caladera special senior in the 145 pound class also was matched with a 156 pounder, appeared to be well in command of the bout and in a little exchange of jabs Caldera stumbled into the ropes and the referee stepped in to stop the bout.

The coaches Randy, Austin and Gerald Smith are very proud Warm Springs well and did an excellent job.

This should give the boys more incentive to work harder for their next matches. The next outing for the boxing club will be December 11, when they will travel to Lummi for a smoker held in Bellingham.
