

Classroom goes outdoors

Fourth grade students from Warm Springs Elementary and Madras Elementary schools joined together in a field trip to learn through experience some of the concept covered in the classroom. At different stations set up at HeHe the students learned about Indian culture, forestry, plants of the area, wildlife, water and geology.

The field trip is planned annually by fourth graders teachers with the assistance of the Jefferson County Extension service. Personnel from various departments in Warm Springs make a presentation to the groups of students.

(Above) Watermaster, Deepak Sehgal shows fourth graders water life found in the area's creeks and streams. Children turned over rocks to find their own insects and salamanders.
