Madras High JV cross-country team is gaining experience as they work out and meet with other schools. Coach Dave Randall says they're "coming along real strong." They are pictured here at meet with Crook County.

Cross country JVs improving

"We have a very fine team this year. A lot of kids are out and everyone is improving." Madras High cross-country coach Dave Randall continues, "We've won every meet except the Madras Invitational."

Coach Randall sees the cross-country team as being strong in competition. Although winning keeps spirits high his main objective, he explains, is keeping the team healthy.

Illness is taking its toll on the team. Chip Calica was injured this week, he says. Paul Henderson has returned to the cross-country track after suffering a broken femur. Other teams members are fighting off illness.

Warm Springs has its share of runners, all on the JV team. With work and experience they may be seen in the future running with the varsity. What is necessary, says Randall, is keeping them on the team and keeping them in shape.

Members of the JV cross country boys team from Warm Springs include Raymond "Chip" Calica, Paul Henderson, Mark Stacona, Loren Suppah, Sheldon Sutterlee and Ken Sahme.

Long night for the Buffs

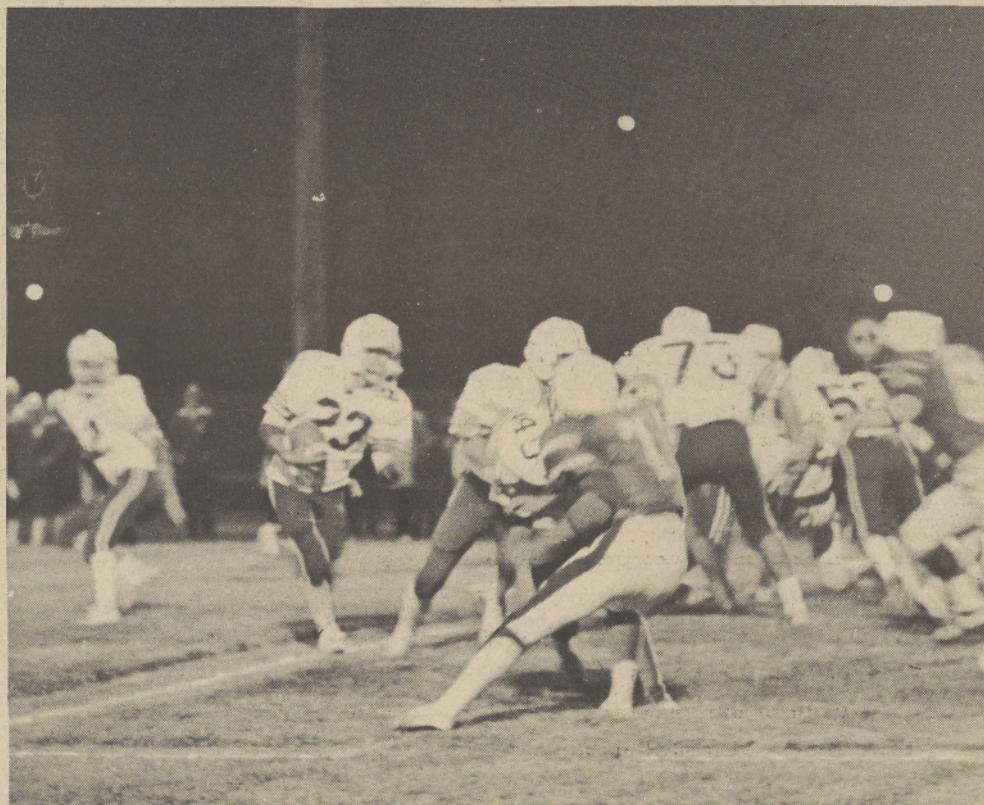

When the bough breaks, the cradle will fall, as was the case for the Madras White Buffaloes on the night of September 30, 1983, as St. Mary's of Medford, Oregon, came to town and just about had their own way scoring in every quarter they went home with a lopsided victory of 31-6.

The St. Mary's Crusaders, the top rated A class school in the state, played the role of the giant killer as they capped their second win over a AA school opponent in as many weeks.

The Crusaders capitalized on the Buff's mis-cues and crucial fumbles and turning them into touchdowns gave them the victory. The Crusaders held a 16-0 half-time lead.

What started out to be an interesting second half saw the Buffs score their only touchdown midway through the third quarter from a fumble recovery on the 16-yard-line. From that point, Scott Williams connected with a pass to Spud Smith for the touchdown, a try for two points failed. The Crusaders kicked another field goal and added two more touchdowns wrapping up the victory for them.

The Buff's start league play by first traveling to Vale for their first conference game on October 7. The remaining home games for the Buffs are with Mac Hi on October 21 and Nyssa on November 4.

St. Mary's running back #23 Andy Sorenson kept the Buff defense on their toes all night long. Shown here piling up yardage against the Buffs as Scott Williams and Anson Begay move in to make the stop. The Buffs went down 31-6.
