Letters to the Editor—

Culture camp visit enjoyed

To the Editor,

Last week a group of 30 children in grades one to six in the Indian Child Welfare program of Portland got to leave the city and visit the Naami Tamanwit Culture Camp and Kah-Nee-Ta.

I would like to thank the following on behalf of the I.C.W. program: the United Presbyterian Church ladies for the $25 donation, Helen Peterson for her $25 donation, which paid the expenses of transporting the children, the Native American Rehabilitation Association for the use of a van and driver, Roger Armstrong, Kah-Nee-Ta Village Manager, for the swim passes, and Geneva Charley, Culture Camp Director, for the excellent tour and sharing of culture, as well as for the snacks provided.

Many of these kids have not been to a reservation. They will always remember the experience, which was made possible by the generosity of caring people. The Indian Child Welfare Program closed its doors on July 31st because of lack of funds. We feel fortunate to have taken the trip before the program ended.

Fire prevention still needed

To the Editor,

Fire Management would like to take this time to thank the residents of the Warm Springs Indian Reservation for an outstanding first half of fire season with just only a few fires. Preventing wildfires is everybody's business. During August we must be extra careful, as the hot weather has dried the forest fuels.

Just to remind residents, no open burning will be allowed unless you have a burning permit. Open fires will be allowed only in improved campgrounds such as Trout Lake, Indian Park. We feel this is necessary until weather conditions improve.

Thank you again and let's all keep up the good work. Remember: Destruction begins when prevention fails.

Sincerely,
Ed Johns
Fire Management

Thank you for kindness

To the People,

It has been several months since our brother, Felix Wallulatam passed away but we feel it is not too late to take this time to thank all of the people who shared their support, concern, care and love with us during our sorrow and loss.

Flowers, cards, words of kindness, prayers, help with the food, and all the many showings of concern are appreciated by us and we want to let you know you helped us all in your own very special way. Our prayers and love go out to each of you.

Thank You,
Nick and Viola Kalama for Felix's Family

KNT Craft Shop invites locals

Local patrons are invited to stop in the Kah-Nee-Ta Craft Shop and take a look at the many items on display. The shop often changes its arts and crafts items.

Numerous items for gifts or personal use include hand painted sweatshirts, flashdance shirts, Indian art work, Kah-Nee-Ta logo jewelry, Indian art prints from Oklahoma, Southwest style jewelry, resort apparel and swimwear, Indian design cards, American Indian Art magazine and a friendly smiling staff.

For those who wish to sell their work Village Craft Shop manager Bernyce Courtney encourages bringing in work on a consignment basis.

End of the season sales will be coming soon. Everyone is invited to "at least come and take a look," says Courtney.

To the Editor,

Once again, the National Congress of American Indians will be holding an Indian Youth Leadership Recognition Luncheon during its 41st Annual Convention in Spokane, Washington. The luncheon has become a tradition with NCAI for honoring young Indian and Alaska Native men and women who have been recognized by their tribes for academic, artistic, cultural, civic or other achievements and/or contributions.

This letter is an invitation to you and your tribe to submit the names of young men and women aged 16 to 19 whom you feel should be recognized at the special luncheon in Spokane.

Since 1980, when the first recognition luncheon was held during the 37th Annual Convention in Spokane, Washington, NCAI has honored over 300 young men and women representing approximately 70 tribes from across Indian Country.

There will be a "Get Acquainted" reception for the youths on the evening of September 10th from 6:00 p.m.

Berries Wanted

Kah-Nee-Ta resort is paying $12.50 per gallon or $2.50 per pound for fresh-picked huckleberries from tribal members only. Berry vendors must present a tribal I.D. card when delivering to Kah-Nee-Ta. Berries will be received from 12 noon to 4 p.m. Tuesday through Friday. Contact Ed Slough or Jay Paul for more information—No more than 400 gallons will be purchased.

Tribe invited to recognize youth to 7:00 p.m. The luncheon itself will be held Wednesday, September 12th.

There is a limit of three names per tribe that can be submitted due to the limitation of the luncheon capacity. The deadline of receipt of names by NCAI is August 24, 1984. Please complete an application form for each individual and please include any other personal information about the individuals which you would like to have highlighted at the luncheon. There are no other eligibility requirements which must be met for the recognition. Each tribe has its own definition of what youth leadership is all about. NCAI wants to recognize the leadership capabilities of the young men and women who are our future. Application forms are available at Spilyay Tymoo.

For tribes who send youth delegates to the Convention for the entire week, NCAI would like these youths to play a significant role, like that of the U.S. Congressional pages, during the Convention. The youth delegates will be briefed prior to the beginning of the Convention as to their role and responsibilities.

Unfortunately, NCAI does not have funding to provide travel and hotel expenses and are, therefore, asking that each tribe underwrite these expenses for each youth selected to be honored, in addition, we are asking a contribution of $15.00 per youth to help defray the cost of the luncheon.

Please forward your selections to LuAnn Jamieson or Kelly Jimerson at 804 D Street, N.E., Washington, D.C. 20002.

Encouragement appreciated

Dear Friends and Relatives,

I would like to thank those of you that took the time to send cards, words of encouragement, or said prayers for the family and myself.

Since the recent loss of my husband, each day is a new challenge of courage and strength to meet the day and go on for my children and myself. Many of you have expressed words of encouragement that have touched our hearts and made the burden of loss feel lighter.

I feel very happy that many of you met my husband and knew what a special person he was. He really enjoyed his visits to Warm Springs and spoke of our trips often and our plans to return someday. I know many of you will miss him as much as I do.

It is really a great feeling to know that even though we are miles apart, prayer brings us all closer together. Once again, thank you and God bless all of you.

Sincerely,
Mary, Ramone and Wilfred
Sando, Jr.
