

Photos show changes in our community

Elmer Tom

Remember When?

How our town has changed

Farmer in Tenino

At Home

A look at the old and the new

Camp A

The photographs on this page were all taken in the 1940s by Oregon Journal photographer Alfred Monner. Most photos appeared in a feature entitled "Indians at Work." The photos were discovered at the Intermountain Inter-Tribal School in Utah when the school was closed last year. They were forwarded to superintendent Bernie Topash who turned them over to Liz Tewee, museum curator.

Photos courtesy of MOIHS