

10th Annual Pi-Ume-Sha Rodeo

Skill of contestants provides rodeo thrills

Bareback-Frank Paz

Spilyay Tymoo photo by Leno-Baker

Team roping-Sammi Squiemphen and J.R. Smith

Spilyay Tymoo photo by Leno-Baker

Calf roping—Wright Bruisedhead

Spilyay Tymoo photo by Leno-Baker

Calf riding—Gary Sampson

Spilyay Tymoo photo by Leno-Baker

Putting a rodeo on involves many hours of hard work and coordination, and this year, putting the tenth annual Pi-Ume-Sha rodeo together, included, literally, putting the rodeo arena together. On June 4, 1985, Tribal resolution #6900 was passed by the Tribal Council. The resolution approved the land assignment for the new rodeo grounds at the Warm Springs Industrial Park on highway 3.

The Warm Springs Rodeo Association then began the job of preparing the ground for the new arena. The new arena was erected by the members of the association despite the short time.

On Saturday, June 22 the grounds were ready for contestants and spectators alike.

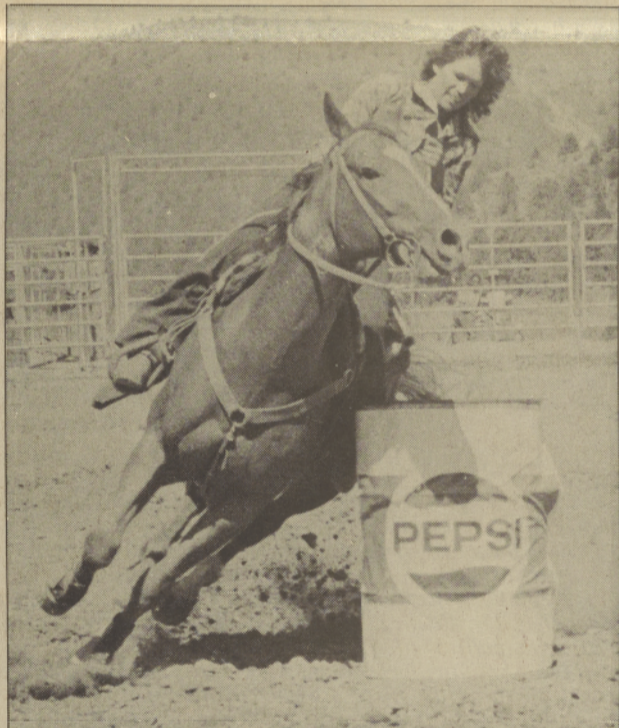

Governor Vic Atiyeh and former Assistant Secretary of Interior Ken Smith joined to cut the ribbon to the new rodeo facilities.

The two-day show paid tribute to four past rodeo members. Byron Patt, Leland Tom, Matt Wewa and Troy Smith. The four former association members passed away in recent years.

A raffle was held to raise money for the Troy Smith Memorial Scholarship at Southern Oregon College at Ashland.

A Byron Patt Memorial saddle was given to the top roper of the two day show. Winning the saddle was Jr. Adams of Yakima, Washington. Also presented was the Matt Wewa memorial buckle to the top bronc rider, Vince Garcia, of Lee, Nevada.

The weather could have been termed "hot and cold" as on Saturday the temperature was in the low 90s while on Sunday the temperature dropped to the low 70s. The crowd of spectators, as well as the contestants, seemed to enjoy the new facilities.

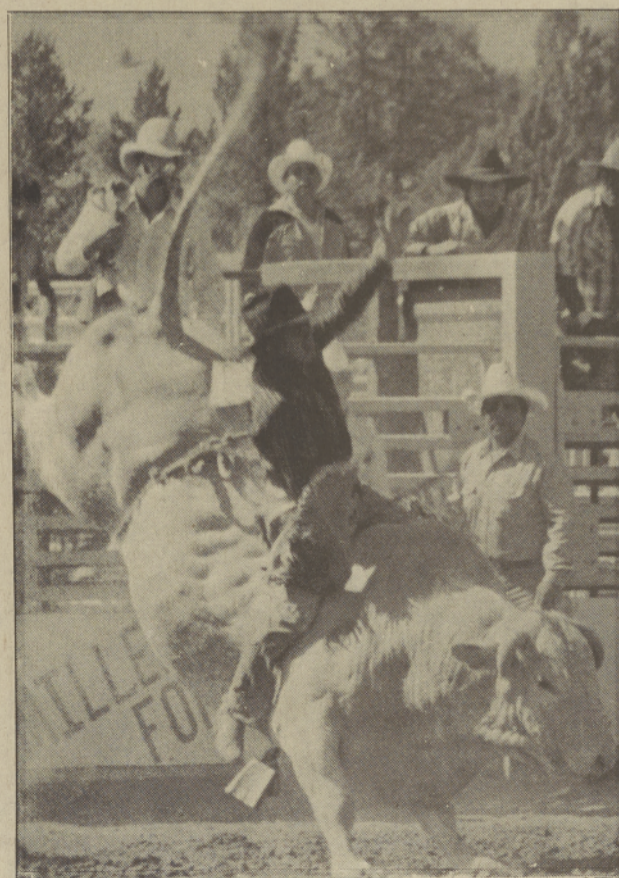

Barrel Racing-Marita Johnson

Spilyay Tymoo photo by Leno-Baker

Saddle bronc—Tommy Garfield

Spilyay Tymoo photo by Leno-Baker

Bull riding—C.J. Nelson

Spilyay Tymoo photo by Leno-Baker

Dedication—Governor Vic Atiyeh

Spilyay Tymoo photo by Pixie Sanders