Self-defense classes offered at Center

To the residents of Warm Springs,

In respect of my promotion of the self-defense classes I was premature in stating prices for these classes. I recognize my mistake and apologize for any inconvenience this may have caused. The actual costs are twenty dollars a month or thirty dollars for two months. The first lesson is free. You may contact me at 553-1385 to sign up or for any questions you may have.

Following are two articles about the karate classes and instructor Glenn Hiatt.

Sincerely,
Clarice F. Crane

Glenn Hiatt

Glenn A. Hiatt is a self-defense instructor who knows his business well. He previously taught in Roseburg, Oregon for ten years and is currently co-owner of Karate Unlimited in Bend.

He specializes in Hawaiian Kenpo, and Arnis and Jiu-Jitsu. Hiatt is also a third degree black belt in Hawaiian Karate. He has been regionally rated by Karate Illustrated as #1 in Forms and

#1 in Weapons.

In the Cascade Open he placed first in Breaking and was the Cascade Open Kata Champion. Full Contact Team Champion in 1976 and gold medalist in the 1977 U.S. Karate Olympics.

Hiatt was the first promoter in the Oregon area to offer cash prizes in tournament competitions. He has promoted the Glenn Hiatt Southern Oregon Karate Championships since 1977 and was the arbitrator for the Portland Pro-Am in 1981 and 1982 was head judge for that tournament.

Hiatt has awarded 22 black belts, three of whom have been rated in Karate Illustrated. Glenn was one of 400 martial artists chosen from a field of 20,000 applicants for feature inclusion of the 1982 edition of Who's Who in Karate. Publisher Dale Brooks stated that Hiatt was selected in recognition of his dedication to the practice and development of his art.

Only July 12th the first self-defense class was well-attended with 26 students enrolling to sharpen their Karate skills and enjoy a learning experience.

At 7 p.m., instructor Glenn Hiatt and his three-year old son West started things underway with West showing his abilities in kicking and blocking.

After the demonstration, those wishing to enroll were invited to start learning methods of self-defense, such as breaking out of a head lock, choke hold and wrist lock. We also learned some kicking techniques. The students practices their moves as teams and individually. Hiatt gives criticism when needed and is fast to give credit when credit is due. He would like to let his students know he enjoys working with them, especially the youngsters.

In the months ahead, classes will be held at the Warm Springs Community Center and because of the large turn out, the young people's class will be held Friday's from 6:00 to 7:00 p.m. and the adult class will be at 7:00 to 8:00 p.m. on Fridays. The show-ers are available, but participants are required to furnish their own towels.

Self-defense classes are great exercise and can improve coordination and self-discipline.

Employee comments on fire

To the Editor,

I am writing to correct the inaccuracy in the article concerning the Kah-Nee-Ta fire of June 23. The article stated "Rouse was not with the other five." The men were all at the same location behind the Lodge. When Ed realized he could not out run the flames he turned and ran through the fire, knowing his only hope was to reach the area already burned. He continued running downhill to escape the heavy smoke. When the smoke cleared Jim Johnson appeared and told Ed he was burned. Jim's clothing was still burning and Ed smothered the flames.

Ed was treated and released at Madras. The next day he was treated and released in Bend. Wednesday his condition worsened. Late that night he was admitted to the Central Oregon District Hospital in Redmond. On Thursday, June 27, he began a series of 12 whirlpool treatments his care has been excellent.

On July 3 Ed received skin grafts on both forearms, his right hand, both elbows and above the right elbow. The dressings were removed July 8 and all grafts have taken. He will be released July 12. Ed has a 50 percent chance that he will not need plastic surgery on his ears. They are badly burned.

December 3, 1984 Ed received an award of merit for completing "Basic Firefighting I" from COCC.

December 7, 1984 he was appointed Lieutenant on the Kah-Nee-Ta fire department. Ed has fought many fires both at Kah-Nee-Ta and Warm Springs.

On behalf of all the burn victims I would like to thank Garland Burnoe, our friends and families for the prayers, cards and words of encouragement. Ed will be well again. Continue prayers for our friends in Portland.

Sincerely,
Marge Rouse
Kah-Nee-Ta

Tournament winners named

To the Editor,

During the Pi-Ume-Sha weekend, a 16 team (mens) and a 14 (womens) softball tournament was held, and the results were:

Mens: 1. Pendleton, Oregon (Elkhorn); 2. Blue Mountain Bombers (Pendleton); 3. Siletz, Oregon; 4. Reservation Suns (Yakima).

Womens: 1. Lapwai Nation-ettes; 2. Queets, Washington; 3. Warm Springs; 4. Hoopa, California; 5. Fort Hall, Idaho.

I'd like to thank everyone who did help out, and to say that next year's tournament is in the planning, and will be even better.

To Chunky Robinson,

About four weeks slow, but we'd like to let you know that we appreciate your special talent in spotting that fire near the dump, especially when smoke is normally coming from the dump pit.

You took the time to look outside the perimeter of the dump pit area—not too many people would not have taken the time to "really look." If you hadn't been looking, the fire could've been larger before anyone noticed it.

It's truly nice to know that you are always looking and watching over the reservation.
