

Brunoe accepts job at hotel in China

Kah-Nee-Ta General Manager Garland Brunoe will leave the arid expanses of Warm Springs and move to Beijing, China, where he will work as front office manager for the 1,000 room Kun Lun Hotel.

by Donna Behrend

Most of us have never had the opportunity to travel to China. But, within the next three months, China will become home to Garland Brunoe and his family. Brunoe, who has been manager of Kah-Nee-Ta for the past six years, was hired recently by China Ventures, Inc. to work as front office manager in their 1,000 room Kun Lun Hotel in Beijing, formerly Peking, China. The Brunoes will be one of ten American families working and living at the hotel.

Brunoe tendered his resignation earlier this year with the intention of attending the Jimmy Swaggart Bible School in Baton Rouge, Louisiana to eventually become a missionary. But, when Dam Lam, of China Ventures, contacted him, Brunoe thought it would be an excellent opportunity to remain in the hospitality industry as well as "teach Bible" to the Chinese. As per China Ventures' requirements, Brunoe has the hotel experience and is a Christian. Brunoe will be training Chinese front office procedures over the next three years, the length of his initial commitment period.

The Kun Lun, which means "The Mountain" is a 23-floor hotel under construction in the capital city of the People's Republic of China. The hotel will have seven restaurants, one of which will be operated by Kah-Nee-Ta chef Ed Slough, who is also under the same program.

Brunoe explained that he and his family were selected for the job as "a unit"; if the company didn't think the family would work out, Brunoe wouldn't have been selected. The major requirement for the family would work out, Brunoe wouldn't have been selected. The major requirement for the family is the willingness to "live in hardship," meaning that they must live in a 900 square foot hotel room for the next three years. According to Brunoe, his wife, Susan, and their three children Marcella, Anthony and Anna, aged 10, six and four respectively, will be able to return to the states twice a year and he will be able to return once a year.

Brunoe's last official day as general manager was May 15. But the Kah-Nee-Ta Board of Directors has asked him to stay on to assist Don Courtney, who was selected to replace Brunoe, and village manager Chuck Schmidt until his departure date, which has still not been set.

Brunoe graduated from Madras High School in 1965 and spent three years in the Army, gaining rank of sergeant. In 1969, Brunoe received a BA in Marketing from Southern Oregon State College. He spent a year with Proctor and Gamble as a sales representative in Spokane, Washington. He worked as a sales trainee at WSFPI and worked for a year-and-a-half under the management trainee program at Kah-Nee-Ta. Following that, Brunoe worked for about a year in Stevenson, Washington with Wood 1 Northwest. It was in 1980, that Brunoe returned once again to Kah-Nee-Ta.

Brunoe feels that since 1980, the resort has changed due to the changing markets. Oregon, and Kah-Nee-Ta as well, are both seeing more international business than ever before and it will increase due to Expo '86. And, Brunoe feels that Americans are going to stay in country. "They're going to do their traveling in the United States." Over all, Kah-Nee-Ta should see an increase in business.

The Brunoes are excited about their newest adventure that will take them thousands of miles away from home. However, Brunoe says his two youngest children have no concept of how far away China really is. And, while waiting for word on his exact departure date, Brunoe has been studying Mandarin, to make communications easier once in Beijing.

To The People

To the People of Warm Springs,

We, in the past two weeks or so, have dealt with many items that may change the future appearance of Warm Springs as well as provide a more secure future for our membership.

Earlier this month, we reviewed a proposed preliminary plan presented by the BIA Roads Department that will provide a new approach to Highway 26. The new access route would come from the southside of the community, through the campus, on Paiute Street, to the highway. This proposal could involve a new bridge and underpass for Shitike Creek traffic. We have asked the Roads department and tribal planning to have public hearings for input.

Also proposed is a change in the West Hills approach to Tenino Road and perhaps a new west-side entrance from Tenino Road to the Administration building.

BIA programs officer Charles Jackson explained to us the 1988 budget cycle and the general process. He also explained the adjustments that are expected between this fiscal year and 1988. He presented the planning figures and we expect a small increase in the overall BIA budget. Jackson pointed out the need for coordination between the Warm Springs Agency and tribal budget.

Ken Smith reported on the progress he's made on the various projects such as water rights, investments and federal legislation.

We authorized the tribal staff and attorneys to submit a final draft of the amended trust agreement with the U.S. Bank. The amendment would provide for two investment funds for the minor's trust. The "basic fund" would be set up for children under the age of 14. It would be a high growth type fund, gaining high interest over along period of time.

The "fixed fund" would be for older children. It would have a more fixed growth on investments so that payments could be more predictable. The bank, as trustee, would have about four years to decide when to move the children's investments from the basic fund to the fixed fund, depending on market predictions.

Lobbyist Mark Phillips was in from Washington, D.C. and gave a report on the status of certain legislative items, such as the congressional appropriations and hydro relicensing and bingo and gambling legislation. He also explained the proposed Columbia River Gorge Protection Act and the Indian Health Care Improvement Act.

Assistant Secretary/Treasurer Mike Clements was authorized to redraft Tribal Council rules which govern the conduct of our meetings and business.

Acting Secretary/Treasurer Larry Calica began program planning for 1987 which will state alternative plans and costs. The plans will be based on department charters. He hopes to get tribal member input to those plans before submitting them in a final proposed form to Tribal Council.

Sincerely submitted,
Warm Springs Tribal Council

Secretary exhibits skills in contest

by Donna Behrend

A secretary is considered by many to be the backbone of an organization. And a secretary with well-developed skills is invaluable. A well trained secretary can fit into almost any office when called upon. Toni (Smith) Made fits that description.

Toni has developed her secretarial skills to such a point that she's currently typing about 100 words per minute, taking shorthand at 130 words per minute and operating a dictaphone at twice the usual rate.

Being an avid reader, Toni regularly scans the newspaper from front to back. While doing so one day, Toni spotted an ad announcing a statewide typing competition that would eventually lead to a national competition. Toni contacted competition coordinator Pat Lussier of Western Temporary Service in Portland found that the competition was open to anyone who was interested.

Once Toni decided to participate, it was a matter of funding. Because she is employed as a temporary clerical aide, Toni was not eligible for tribal funding. Toni said that tribal managers all chipped in so that she would have gas money.

Toni Made recently demonstrated her secretarial skills in a nation-wide competition.

"They all have confidence in me." Toni's initial testing occurred about three weeks ago. She learned last week that she had qualified for the state competition which was held in Portland May 16. Results of that competition won't be available until later next week. Her score for her initial testing was 102 words per minutes with six errors. All test results were sent to the home office of Western Temporary Services in Walnut Creek, California as will the results of the final state competition.

Toni's reason for entering the competition is personal. "I want to inspire young kids and help our people. Maybe kids will see what I'm doing and think "hey, maybe I can do that."

One thing Toni stressed is that she didn't learn her skill overnight. She started typing when she was in the seventh grade where her speed was 56 words per minutes on a manual typewriter. And, she had "positive surroundings to motivate her. I've had a lot of good teachers. She attributes much of her success to her mother and to playing the piano at a very young age. "My mom was always there giving me a push "when practicing the piano.

Whatever her reasons for competing, she feels she's fulfilling her goal of being a "roll model" and hopefully setting a positive example for the youth and other of Warm Springs.

As the teachers of these students, we encourage you as parents, administrators, school board members, and interested taxpayers to come and see what these students have accomplished.

The Warm Springs tribal garage recently purchased a "Sun interrogator" computerized engine analyzer. The talking wizard will allow garage mechanics to more easily pinpoint engine problems and shorten the time spent on repairs. According to garage manager Ken Lydy, the "interrogator" is the only one in Central Oregon and is "a lot smarter than we are right now."
