Deschutes Forest is now closed to wood cutting

As of December 1, the Deschutes National Forest was closed to personal use firewood cutting except in designated areas. The closure will last until March 31, 1987. Deschutes National Forest Wood-cutting permits for the 1987 season will not be available at the Oakridge and Rigdon Ranger Districts until March.

The Crescent and Fort Rock Ranger Districts of the Deschutes National Forest have firewood cutting areas designated for the December through March closure. The closest available area to the Willamette Valley is adjacent to Highway No. 31 and is approximately 14 miles southeast of LaPine. Wood-cutting will be confined to this designated area only, and no other areas will be open.

Permits and the maps for the open areas are available at the Crescent and Fort Rock District offices on weekdays only. Permits may also be obtained at G.I. Joe's and Speedy Mart in Bend, and LaPine Minimart in LaPine. Some of these businesses are not offering the maps, however. Questions concerning the closure and the designated areas may be directed to the Deschutes National Forest headquarters in Bend (388-2715); the Fort Rock Ranger District (388-5674); or the Crescent Ranger District (433-2234).

COCC to offer real estate class

Central Oregon Community College is offering a Pre-Licensing Accelerated Real Estate Program, starting in January. The program consists of three intensive, consecutive courses designed for people interested in taking the state real estate exam.

Each course is taught by local professionals. The courses are "Real Estate Practices," Jan. 13 to Feb. 12, taught by Michael Kozak; "Real Estate Finance," Feb. 17 to March 19, taught by Herb Vloedman; and "Real Estate Law," Mar. 31 to Apr. 30, taught by Steve Forte. Kozak and Vloedman are local real estate brokers, and Forte is an attorney. All classes meet from 7 to 10 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays at Bend High School, Room C-13.

The cost is $70 per course, with textbooks an additional $15 per course.

Registration begins December 30. Use VISA or MasterCard to register by telephone. Call the COCC Community Education office at 385-5503, or one of the Community Education Centers in Sisters, Redmond, Prineville, Madras, LaPine, and Warm Springs.

Register in person at the Community Education office or any of the Community Education Centers.

Accessions committee to examine artifacts

The MOIHS would like to announce its Fourth and final Quarterly Accessions meeting to examine and appraise artifacts for possible purchase on Tuesday, December 19, 1986, making this the last purchase for this year. Due to lack of storage space and an enormous collection of one item and not enough of others, strict policies will be followed in the acceptance of certain items. Forms can be picked up at the MOIHS Museum Office, 2148 Kota Street, and artifacts delivered along with the completed forms, to this same address.

The MOIHS Board of Directors for the MOIHS Collections. The MOIHS and staff cannot guarantee retention, nor be held responsible for unsolicited or unacknowledged gifts that have not undergone the proper collection procedures.

The deadline for submitting any artifacts is Friday, December 15. No acceptances. Items will not be accepted after this deadline.

We would like to thank the tribal members in following our tribal Collection Policy and for allowing MOIHS to add their family heirlooms to the tribal collection. If there should be any questions or concerns, call Beulah Wahpat or Liz Tewee at 553-1161, ext. 331 or 338 anytime.

Holiday trees and other decorative greenery will last longer and be safer if they're sprayed with a special, easy-to-use solution that helps retard water loss. Called "Envy" Holiday Foliage Preservative, from Safer Inc., it extends the life of evergreen trees, holly and wreaths; retards needle drop; and protects live trees and bushes against indoor drought and the dryness that might lead to fires, especially if candles or heating appliances are close by. The spray is nontoxic and safe.

The Christmas tree probably developed in medieval Germany from the "Paradise Tree," a type of evergreen. The tree, decorated with red apples, was used in a popular Christmas play about Adam and Eve.

Girls selling tickets...

Holiday tournament set for January 1 thru 4

Alfredine Smith

Alfredine Smith, 17, daughter of Sylvester and Pat Smith of Warm Springs is seeking the queen's title for the senior court at the Holiday Basketball Tournament.

She is a senior at Madras High School. Upon graduation from high school she plans to attend Central Oregon Community College for two years and then transfer to Portland State University where she will major in accounting.

She enjoys playing volleyball and basketball, traveling and riding horses.

Alfredine is in the community selling tickets for the basketball games.

Angela (Anga) Polk

Thirteen year old Angela (Anga) Rayleen Polk is running for the junior queen title at the Holiday Tournament. She is selling tickets for the money raffle. The girl selling the most tickets will be selected as queen.

Anga is in the eighth grade at Madras Junior High School. She is an enrolled member of the Confederated Tribes of Warm Springs. She lives with her maternal grandmother Ada Polk.

Anga enjoys playing basketball, Indian dancing and traveling.
