

changes continuity and numerous activities

7 (7) Ron Suppah and Terry Squiemphen participated in the first-ever journeymen certification program on the reservation. Suppah is working at the vehicle pool and Squiemphen works at the tribal garage.

8

(8) The Warm Springs Tribal Council took office in early May following an April election. Nearly 30 people vied for the eight positions from the three districts.

(9) Delbert Frank, Sr. took office in November, fulfilling the vacancy left when Simnasho district representative Harold Culpus died.

(10) Simnasho representative Janice Clements was sworn in following a run-off election between her and Delbert Frank, Sr.

(11) Tribal members continue the traditions established centuries ago by their ancestors at Sherar's Fall.

(12) Rodeos continue to provide excitement to hundreds of spectators and contestants alike throughout the year, with the Root Feast Rodeo in May being no different.

Of course, this brief pictorial glimpse is in no way a complete picture of the year's events, but the photos will jog the memory of a bit into recollection of other happenings. We wish you all a happy, peaceful and prosperous New Year!

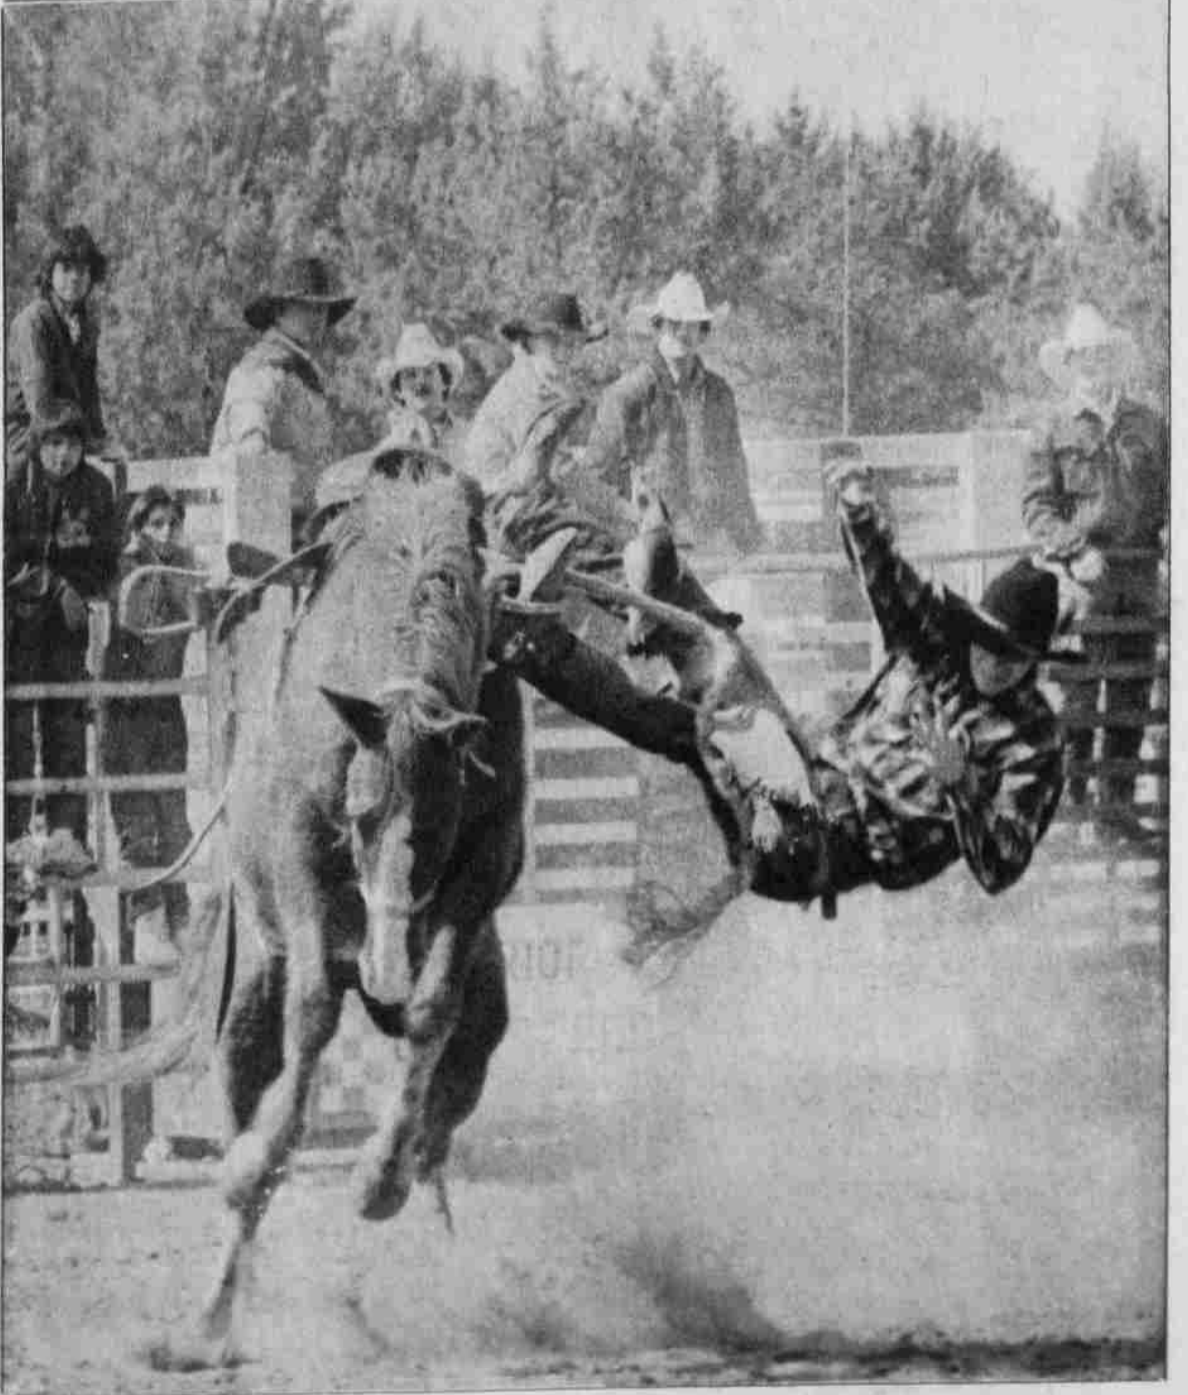

9

10

11

12