"Spilyay Speaks"

Once a year a person gets the urge to venture into the mountains and load up with huckleberries. "Well, some people do." Spilyay spent the day just recently, combing the hills in search for those tasty little buggers, called huckleberries. Using all his wit and skills of the mountains tromping through the underbrush of the berry fields, which once in the past a person could see for miles, but with all the new growth of high mountain fir and snow brush its hard to see twenty feet at the most. From time to time a bush would appear with a good growth of berries, but there wasn't enough of these bushes to make picking worth while. It seemed like there must have been a hole in the bottom of the container because it appeared that no headway was made no matter how hard or fast the berries were picked. Could it have been that Spilyay was eating more than he was putting into the container. The temptation is too great to resist, all it takes is one hand full of those tasty little berries in the mouth and its hard to stop from eating. After all his effort of trying to get all the berries he could, Spilyay decided that, "What the heck, I'm out here just to eat all the berries I can." So from there things didn't seem so bad.

Makes a person wonder of the demands some berry buyers make upon buying berries. They are the ones who should experience a day in the mountains trying to pick these little fellars. Try to keep the basket free from leaves and stuff, then go home and have someone tell you, your berries should be cleaned and to top it off the lowest price a person can offer for a gallon of berries. Some people would be embarrassed to make demands like that. Something like a cheapskate, its bad enough to pick these berries in the first place let alone have to meet these demands.

No matter how much berries a person gets or where he went, there is always one who will say, "You went to the wrong patch, you should have gone here or there, the berries were as big as grapes." The only berries Spilyay saw that were as big as grapes were those as big as what they call, "Oregon Grapes," which are no larger than beads.

Well, anyway it was a good day out in the fresh air getting some good exercise rather than spending the day glued to the tube watching some stupid ball game. YIKES. . . or should it have been just the opposite, being at home watching some ball game rather than trying to pick these stupid little berries. But anyway it was a good day.

You have to practice to play

To the People,

We would like to take this time to thank all those that have donated to our traveling Co-ed softball team. They are: Bill's Home Center, Ahern's Market and Juniper Autos, with very special thanks to: Deschutes Crossing—Buck and Susie Smith, Rainbow Market—Bob McInturff and Erickson's Sentry Market—Wylie. They helped us many, many times.

We cannot forget our team members who have "hung in there" thru it all! Our goal started out with the idea to keep ourselves and others busy and show them they can have fun without alcohol and drugs. Our team is young, not only in age but in experience. . . to us, we believe in giving all players a chance at playing. We remember when we were learning and how someone had taken time out for our mistakes, just because we weren't "good" enough for the experienced players. We go to tournaments to have fun and keep sportsmanship in mind because sportsmanship is more important than first, second or third.

The players are learning how to conduct themselves, to work together as a team, to be patient, not to get mad, to be able to take correction and instruction, to be able to smile after a loss with the attitude of "we'll do better next time." We're learning not to be quitters if things don't go our way but to be faithful and try hard.

This will help them in the game

Happy 20th Birthday!! "Sonia The Strange"

Summer help appreciated

The phone rings and a polite young man dashes across the office to answer. . . Hello KWSI/ KWSO- can I help you? The summer youth program has been a success at KWSI/ KWSO due to the efforts of Scheldon Minnick and Richard Suppah-affectionately referred to as "radio indentured servants" or of life, which brings to mind the story which we call "the coach" (Easton's input) I sit and wonder what God must think when we don't practice what we preach. There was once this coach of a softball team. Everyone was happy, full of joy. Then, little by little, the joy and happiness was gone. Bitterness, hatred, division, envy, jealousy and pride set in. Some members thought they were too good for everyone else. So people stopped coming to practice until there were just a few faithful who came. A tournament came then everyone wanted to play but they had no practice.

What did the coach do? He went out and found new players to fill the positions, players who wanted to practice and play as a team. The same with God, Him being the greatest coach of all. He's looking for people to fill positions in the body of Christ, the faithful. Everyone wants to play, but they don't want to practice.

We hope someone gets a little something out of this story because it is the truth regardless if it is in some sport or in the walk of a Christian. P.S. Our team traveled to LaPush, Washington (July 18 and 19) and we brought back "Sportsmanship" plus two all-stars. Good going, Pebbles "Big Mudge" Smith and Easton Aguilar.

Tournament dedicated to Kalama family elders

To the Editor,

This is late in coming but we would like to acknowledge the winners of our tournament that was held June 6 and 7. This was a dedication to the elders of the Kalama family. One did not live to see it played but he knew about it and wished us the best. The elders being honored were: Roland Kalama, Sr., Henrietta Johnson, Iris Smith, Naomi Winishut, Margie Danzuka, Kathleen Moses, Lillian Tulee and Marilyn Wagner.

There were 12 teams, seven home and five visiting teams. Championship was taken by Macy's (Warm Springs) who won jackets and plaque. Their allstars were Andy Leonard and Juliene Smith. MVP sweatshirts went to: Dawn Smith and Dean Adams. Mr. Glove went to Willie Stacona.

Second place was Guerin's Logging whose players received hooded sweatshirts, plaque and all-stars were Joe (?) and Deanie Johnson with Deanie receiving the Ms. Glove sweatshirt.

Third place went to Chiloquin Indians who received a plaque. Their all-stars were Stacy and Wanda.

Fourth place went to B.C. Redskins who received a plaque. Their all-stars were Chris and Paula.

Sportsmanship went to BC Thunderbirds whose allstars were Rod and Cecilia.

Honorable mentions: Animals-allstars: Joe and Helene Jones, Arrows-allstars: Mike and Lisa Smith, Kanawai's-allstars: Lenny Langley and Linda Langley, Skull 'Um (co-host team) allstars: Kanim Smith and Karla Greene and the Four Winds (host team) allstars: Easton Aguilar and Sandra Danzuka, with Tacoma Chiefs rounding out the teams allstars: Sam Samuels and Sue.

We want to thank everyone who had helped in some way to make this a success.

All welcome to bowling party

To the Editor,

It has been a pleasure to provide the bowling center as part of the summer youth recreation program. Your young people were friendly, courteous and showed very good sportsmanship each week.

It was rewarding to see them show so much interest in our sport, the game of bowling. For all of these reasons we would like to show our thanks by hosting a special party.

Certainly we would like to see them continue bowling this fall but whether you decide they should or not, it would please us to have the opportunity to welcome the kids, their families and the staff of the Recreation Center to this special day.

Please come to the Warm Springs Youth Bowling Party, Saturday, September 12th 10:00 a.m. Free bowling and refreshments!

Sincerely,
Pelton Lanes

Note: The Community Center will be transporting kids from the Community Center, so please sign up or call the Recreation office at 553-1161, ext. 243 or 244 or 553-1361.

To whom it may concern
