Organizational News Briefs

Data Processing

The D.P. staff has been helping out with the budget process for 1988. Boy, are our fingers and brains tired, but we're sure glad most of it is entered into the computer!

Sandra is going on strong with the micro computers. She has been learning the following software systems: DOS (stands for "Disk Operating System"—this software is the heart of what "runs the computer. You can think of DOS as the wild animal trainer in the circus making the animals do feats of physical skill and daring. In much the same way, DOS controls the way the computer uses programs, games, the applications. DOS also lets you use devices such as printers, diskette drives and fixed disk drives with the computer.) Word perfect (this software is for word processing—typing letters, documents, envelopes, labels, and the like.) Hayes smartcom (this software allows two different computers to access each other via phone lines. This is a great help when our attorneys in Bend need to send our legal aid department a document right away). We will keep you posted as she progresses! Good work, Sandra.

Val is now in the full swing of computer operations on our HP3000 mini computer. This computer is our main computer that the Tribes uses to administer our daily functions. For example, the computer prints out the per capita, payroll, accounts payable vendor, credit loan, insurance and bonus checks. It also prints out accounting's monthly statements, credit's delinquency notices and various other reports and forms for several other departments. In the past, Val has been in the computer operations for some time so now she's become quite an expert on the subject! Like Sandra she's also doing a great job! Her programming skill is still improving and will be an on-going learning experience.

As for the rest of us D.P. staff, ...well, we're still hanging in there!

Training Services

We would like to invite anyone who has turned in a training request in the past, to come up to O.T.S. (second floor of the Daycare building) and look at their own personal training card.

The card would have your name, tribal member, non tribal member, the type of training you took, the hours and dates. This might be helpful to add a copy to a job resume, appraisals (merit ratings) or just to track your personal growth.

In the future before you take any type of training, it might be worth your while to take the time to fill out a training request and send it through your chain of command beforehand.

They can contact the Vehicle Pool mechanic that is on duty. If the vehicle can be safely driven, the driver should immediately return the vehicle to the Vehicle Pool and report the problem to the Vehicle Pool Manager.

(b) Under no circumstances are vehicles to be driven if further operation would result in additional damage. For example: Car radiator overheats and continued driving would ruin the engine. The driver may be held personally responsible for resulting damages if proper judgement is not exercised. When necessary, the driver may have the vehicle towed to a safe storage or Consider this.....

When you quit smoking...

- Within 20 minutes of the last cigarette, blood pressure drops to normal.
- Within nine hours, carbon monoxide level in blood drops to normal.
- Within 24 hours, the chance of a heart attack decreases.
- Within 48 hours, your ability to smell and to taste is enhanced.
- Within 72 hours, your lung capacity increases.

□ In one to nine months, coughing, sinus congestion and shortness of breath decreases.

□ In five years, the lung cancer death rate for the average smoker (one pack per day) decreases to almost the same rate as non-smokers.

□ All benefits are lost when you smoke just one cigarette a day, according to the American Cancer Society and the American Lung Association.
