Pictures from past featured in 1988 calendar

"From out of the past" describes the Spilyay Tymoo 1988 calendars. The annual calendars will be on sale Monday, December 21 at the Spilyay office for $2.00. The 1988 calendars feature photographs taken of Indian people of the Warm Springs reservation. Twelve pictures provided by the Middle Oregon Historical Society taken from the Ida McKinley collection have been used. Also featured on the calendars are special holidays, dates, events and the deadline dates for the Spilyay. The Spilyay Tymoo office is located in the Old Girls' dorm basement, now known as the Community Counseling Center at 1115

Wasco Street. Entrance to the office is located on Autumn Street at the back of the building, facing west.

fish received 30 days in jail on one instance and a fine with no jail time in another.

The Yakima Tribal Council has asked President Reagan to commute the Yakima people's sentences. The health of the elder Sohappay makes immediate action imperative.

Performance recognized at BIA luncheon

Could the initials "P.R." stand for performance and recognition? To most people these initials represent, "Public Relations." On December 17, 1987, the Bureau of Indian Affairs had their Christmas luncheon at the Community Center, where all branches of the BIA gathered to pay tribute to their employees for their faithful performance during the year. The lunch was a potluck affair as everyone brought a dish. Opening remarks were by Supt. Bernard Topash, focusing on the outstanding service from various employees and the number of years they have been with the Bureau. Topash gave a little rundown on each branch and their function here in Warm Springs. In presenting awards to the employees Topash turned the floor over to the immediate supervisors of the employees who received pins for their years of service.

Michael E. Cunningham, Two from the roads dept. Gerald P. Chichenoff and Ellison David, and Everett Patt of Realty. There were four 20 year pins recipients who are Clarence Jefferson and Cecil Seyler both of Facilities dept., William Donaghu and Eugene Keane both from forestry. There was one award for 30 years of service but the recipient was at work sanding the roads, that was Terry Courtney, Jr. Ms. Alice West, Administrative Officer, gave a run down on all the new employees, the list totaled to 15 of which nine were in forestry who are David Harding, Thomas Branson, Roberta Steele, Clifford Walker, Kelly S. Tulee, John V. Arena, Terry Shand and Calvin B. Herrera. Others were Olney Patt, Jr., Dorothy Camerera, Jana Walder, Frank S. Alby, Michael Parker and Roderick Obi, Sr.

10 year award James H. Knibbs and Superintendent Bernard Topash
