

COCC offers business administration training

Short-term specific instruction in a variety of business and office skills is now available at Central Oregon Community College through the Office Administration department. The College's new Business Information Center has opened to help people in the office management and services field to add, renew, and stay current in their office administration skills.

Students may sign-up for courses in calculator applications, document and filing formatting, keyboarding, proof-reading, word processing and other job-related topics. A fee of $21.50 plus a $5 lab fee is charged for each class and the class may be taken for college credit.

The goal of the Business Information Center is to provide timely and compatible access to instruction in Office Administration. Classes are short-term (20 hours for most topics) and are held at times that don't normally conflict with work schedules. Instruction is individualized and self-paced. Professional staff assistance and advice is available for all participants.

For more information about classes and programs offered through the Business Information Center at COCC, call Diane Glenn at 382-6112, ext. 397.

Phone-in registration gains popularity

Over three hundred part-time students at Central Oregon Community College took advantage of phone-in registration for Winter term courses. This is the second time that the College has offered credit registration by phone for its part-time students.

From December 7-10, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. students could register for up to nine credits and reserve class space with one simple phone call to the COCC registration hot-line. Phone-in registration saves times for students and staff.

On-campus registration for Winter term will be held Saturday, January 2 from 10 a.m. until 1 p.m. for part-time students. Full and part-time registration will also be held Monday, January 4 from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. and from 2-7 p.m. For more information about courses and program at COCC call 385-5500 or toll free 1-800-422-3041, ext. 500.

Daisy Ike, center, was surprised with a family reunion this fall at Sonny's. It had been more than 10 years since all her children had been together.

Winter term, here we come!

COCC schedules classes

Central Oregon Community College (COCC) has scheduled several community education classes for winter term in Warm Springs. Registration for the classes, ranging from logging methods to photography, is being conducted at the Warm Springs COCC center on the second floor of the old boy's dorm.

Logging Methods

A three-credit college course that fulfills associate degree requirements in forestry. Overview and understanding of logging and timber harvesting. Covers falling, bucking, yarding systems, decking, "horse to helicopter" loading, trucking and unloading. On-site field trips to logging sites and mills. Meets Tuesdays and Thursdays, from 7 to 9 p.m. in the Old Boy's Dorm January 5 to March 10. Tuition is $64.50. Instructor is Rick Kraus.

College Math

A four-credit lab class. Choose from Pre-Algebra, Algebra I, Algebra II or Intermediate Algebra. Great for brush-up, college prep, or to get ready for taking required math classes in your major. Meets Mondays and Wednesdays, from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. in the Old Boy's Dorm. Classes begin January 6 and continue through March 16. Tuition is $86.00. Instructor is Steve Heydon.

Power Volleyball

Lots of fun and great exercise! Let Julie Mitchell prepare you for local tournaments. Covers blocking, power serves, spiking and setting. Beginners welcome. Meets Tuesdays, 7 to 9 p.m., at the Warm Springs Elementary Gym. January 12 to February 16. Cost is $12.

Womens' Self-Esteem

Feel great about yourself! Let fashion expert Jeri Brunoe-Weiher teach you about clothes and color coordination, hair care, make-up and skin care, poise and etiquette. Teenagers 16 and over welcome! Meets Thursdays from 7 to 9 p.m., in the Old Boy's Dorm, January 14 to March 10. Cost is $18.

Weaving Baskets with Reeds and Grasses

Be creative and artistic! Make shaker cheese baskets, Appalachian, heart shaped baskets and market baskets. Lots of fun. Meets two Saturdays, 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the Old Boy's Dorm. February 6 and 13. Cost is $10. Small lab fee to instructor for materials. Dorothy Zimmerman is the instructor.

Painting Indian Art

Paint "surrealistic" images with Indian themes. Emphasis on clouds and natural backgrounds. Acrylic paints. Beginners welcome. Meets Mondays from 7 to 9 p.m. in the Old Boy's Dorm. Classes begin January 12 and continue through February 15. Instructor is Patrick Reddog. Cost is $18.

Art Photography

This class stresses artistic pictures and composition, balance and perspective. Use your camera as an "eye". Field trips to places of interest on the reservation. Meets Wednesdays from 7 to 9 p.m. in the Old Boy's Dorm. Begins February 3 and runs until February 24. Instructor is Betty Cook. Cost is $10.

GED Classes—Adult Learning Center

Geoff Bury will be helping students get their GED diplomass this winter. He will also help anyone who walks in the door with a desire to improve their readin', writin', or 'rithmatic. Lots of new activities and computer "games" that are fun and educational. Tuesdays and Thursdays, 10 a.m. till noon. Old Boy's Dorm. Meets January 5 through March 10.

Sno-parks added to trailheads

Mt. Hood National Forest has a present for people who like to play in the snow...four new sno-parks providing parking for 396 more vehicles. The new parking areas, which cost the Forest Service $325,000 to build, are located at White River, Bennett Pass, Teacup Lake and Clark Creek.

All the sno-parks are located near popular winter trailheads on Highway 35. Last year's boom in winter recreation on the Forest caused a problem of overcrowding in many existing sno-parks. "Both Hood River and Zig Zag have had an increase of about 600 percent in cross country skiers over the past ten years," indicates Kevin Slagle, Recreation Forester, at Hood River Ranger District. "Every year there are more people who want to get out and enjoy the winter scenery."

Paul Norman, Recreation Forester at Zig Zag Ranger District, said that last year people frequently crammed more cars into sno-parks than the lots could hold, spilling over onto the highway. "It was creating an unsafe situation, and people were getting tickets," he said. "That's just not the kind of thing we want to see on the Forest. So we proposed the new lots to the State."

The State Highway Divisions winter recreation Committee approved plans for the new sno-parks, and the Forest Service contracted Jim Turin and sons to construct the lots. They were completed last summer, with the exception of permanent restroom facilities, which for Forest Service will construct next summer. Each sno-park will have a sign stating the name of the area, and trailhead boards with maps, safety hints and emergency information.

Throughout the winter, both Hood River and Zigzag District will have trail crews skiing the various trails to correct problems, shovel snow into holes, contact skiers and distribute maps, collect use information, and place temporary signs regarding trail conditions. Hood River Ranger District is currently looking for volunteers to join their winter trail crew. Interested skiers may call 352-6002.

Permits are required for all sno-parks. The permits cost $2.00 per day or $9.00 per season and may be purchased at all developed ski areas, Department of Motor Vehicles offices, G.I. Joes, many ski and sporting goods shops, and at retailers in the snow zone. Proceeds go toward the cost of plowing the sno-parks.
