In the bareback competition Shane Olney of Toppenish, Washington making the winning ride on a horse called Dungen. There were not as many contestants for the Root Feast Rodeo as expected. Some of the stock really un-corked and gave the riders all they could handle especially in the bull riding, it was a pretty close battle between the cowboys and the bulls but the bulls had the slight edge at the end of the day.

Begay runs, lifts, dances for health

On any given day of the week, a visitor to the Warm Springs Community center will see Tom Begay exercising, either lifting weights, running or participating in an aerobics class. Tom's fitness schedule continues on weekends, as he exercises seven days a week and has been doing so for five years. He spend 12 hours a week exercising.

Tom says that he gained inspiration from watching a movie about Terry Fox, the Canadian man who ran across his country to raise money for cancer research. "If he could run with an artificial leg, anybody can run and exercise." Tom also watched some exercisers in Prineville. "It looked fun."

Tom says he feels a lot better now that he is exercising and his goal is to stay healthy. In addition to running, weightlifting and aerobics, Tom participates in jackpot ropings and sometimes he Hoop dances.

The benefits of exercise are not only physical, but monetary as well Tom has found money and other things while running.

To encourage others, Tom says, "Get yourself in gear and exercise. It makes your life so much happier, but it's up to you. I'm not telling you to do it, it's just how I feel."
