began walking. She stressed that and walking. the exercise didn't make her lose the exercise makes her feel better.

Eloise walks whenever she can and she uses her rowing machine each morning to warm up her body muscles, it makes her active and ready for work.

Her biggest "stumbling block" in her exercise program has often been the long hours sitting at her

Sitting behind a desk for long desk and there are times that her periods of time is not the best way work must be completed but she for a person to keep in fit, physical realizes she must finish before she shape, but it does help to motivate can exercise. She believes that stop-Eloise Thornton, tribal employee, ping and exercising can help in-

She enjoys gardening, working She said a couple years ago her around her home, housecleaning, daughter started in Weight splitting and chopping wood and Watchers and she encouraged Eloise tennis activities which help her to to eat the right things. In doing so, be active. Her son and daughter Eloise lost 40 pounds in about five both have been active in sports and months. After losing the weight she as a family they enjoy horse back said she needed muscle tone and so riding, swimming, boating, tennis

"I do not exercise to lose weight weight, it was learning to eat right; but to get outside and keep my muscles and joints moveable." She thinks exercise is important "for older people becuase it has increased her bone density" and she feels stronger than she did at 35 years of age. She stressed that eating the proper foods causes weight loss. She truly beleives in exercise and the "Weight Watchers" program.

she also rode for others at different ple from every walk of life in the racetracks. She paraded on horseback until 1956. Her love of riding has been passed down to many of her children. The traditional life of her people was important to her even as a young person. She learned to gather, prepare and serve traditional foods, a skill that would prove to be beneficial after she married Nathan Heath in 1925 as he was to be selected as the successor to Johnny Simtustus as Chief of the Warm Springs. The Heath couple raised cattle and hay for feed and market. With the appointment of her husband as Chief of the Warm Springs in 1954. her responsibilities grew and she accepted them with all the grace and understanding of a "first lady." Being the wife of Nathan meant that she would represent the Warm Springs people wherever she traveled. It was an easy task for her, with her warm and never-ending cheerful smile and outgoing personality. Traditional was a word by which she would live her life and would teach her family members, the true value of ways of the Warm Springs. She had always dressed in the traditional wingdress of her people, a trait that would be with her for life. She and Nathan had children who went on in life to become Chief of the Warm Springs, a Tribal Council representative of Simnasho, a professional jockey and horse trainer, a manager of the tribal credit office, a teacher in the Head Start program, a farmer, a director of tribal personnel and a truck driver. Lillie raised her children with pride, knowing they would in turn know the traditions of their Tribe. Besides being the wife of a Chief. Lillie would go on to become a model for publicity brochures for Kah-Nee-Ta Resort, that would entice many people to come to the resort to take part in the resort's salmon bakes. She was well-known to many of the people of Jefferson. Crook, Wasco and Deschutes Counties, for she took part in the annual county fairs. "Everybody loves a parade," is a saying that she must have believed because she took part in many parades, sharing her smile, traditional dress and arts and crafts with the crowds.

Pacific Northwest and the other places to which she traveled to take part in celebrations sharing her knowledge and warm personality. She took part in the annual Rose Trader Stovall dies....

Frank (Red) Stovall, 72, operator of Red's Trading Post since he established it in 1952, died June 16. He was 72.

Stovall became widely known in The Dalles for his wide selection of tools, plumbing and pipe fittings and second-hand merchandise of all sorts. He also sold beads and traded items for beadwork.

He watched public affairs closely and often expressed his opinion in eloquently written letters to the editor, especially on matters concerning the District 9 school system and efforts at consolidation with District 12.

He established his first secondhand store in Mill City when the Detroit Dam was being built and came in 1952 and established Red's Trading Post located on West Second Street

Survivor's include his wife, his sons Dennis of Hillsboro, Brian and Eric, The Dalles; a brother, Edward, Florida; a sister, Marguerite Stovall, Portland; a half-brother, three half-sisters, six grandchildren; Shawn and Zoe Bacon, Portland; Lael, Jesse, Riley and Emily of The Dalles. At his request, there will be cremation. The family has suggested memorials to College Assistance Scholarships, 10th Mountain Divsion Foundation, Inc., PO Box 1, Colorado Springs, Colorado 80901. A potluck memorial gathering will be held to celebrate the life of Red Stovall, Sunday July 10, 1988 at 1:00 p.m., at the Eagles Lodge, 2006, W. 7th, The Dalles. RSVP: 296-5735 or Red's Trading Post, 3112 E. 2nd St., The Dalles, OR 97058

Parade in Portland and the Delta Park Powwow. She pitched her teepee at the Pendleton Round Up for many years. Lillie was on a first name basis with many, including governors, judges, federal, state and county government officials and people from throughout Indian Country.

Her achievements are numerousshe was a member, for many years, of the Middle Oregon Indian Historical Society accessions committee, working as an appraiser of Indian arts and crafts and artifacts; she was named as honorary grand marshall at parades; and she was a trainer of children in traditional gathering, preparing and serving of Indian foods; and she was a member of the women's auxiliary of the Warm Springs VFW post. She considered beadwork her hobby, but in reality, it was her art. Lillie was an active supporter of children's activities within the community and she was often in the bleachers supporting teams. Perhaps the biggest accomplishment in her life will be the treasured memories she has left in the hearts of the many people she encountered during her 81 vears.

Surviving her are daughters Kathleen Foltz, Ursula Little and Nola Queahpama; sons Sanders Heath, Benson Heath, Delvis Heath and Martinez Heath; a sister Liz Rhoan, an aunt Susan Moses; 28 grandchildren and 15 great-grandchildren. She was preceded in death by her parents; her husband on January 5, 1970; a daughter, Melissa on August 7, 1959; a son on November 22, 1926; a son, Sumner, November 27, 1930, another son, Teeman, on July 18, 1973 and a sister, Dora Miller, April 3, 1973.

Dressing ceremonies, officiated by Caroline Tohet and Phillip David, were held Monday, June 27 at the Simnasho Longhouse with overnight services following with Pierson Mitchell, Nelson Moses and other Washat leaders officiating. Burial was at sunrise Tuesday, June 28, at the Mouth of the Warm Springs River Cemetery.

She will be truly missed by peo-

Howlak Tichum Ellery Wilton Wolfe

He is survived by his father; two half-sisters, Marena Weaselhead and Marissa Wolfe; a half-brother Richard LeClaire and his paternal grandmother Julia Wolfe. He was preceded in death by his mother (6-20-85); his paternal grandfather Ellery Wolfe (4-19-65) and maternal grandparents Leonard (12-8-80) and Agnes (7-6-47) Scott.

Private dressing ceremonies were conducted at BelAir Colonial Funeral Home by Nelson Wallulatum and Larry Dick. Overnight ceremonies were held at the Agency Longhouse with Nelson Wallulatum officiating. Burial was at sunrise at the Tenino Cemetery Wednesday, June 29.

Ellery Wilton Wolfe, born December 25, 1967 to Charles and Della (Scott) Wolfe, died Monday, June 27 at Mt. View Hospital following a brief illness. He was a lifetime resident of Warm springs. He liked to fish. He attended schools in Warm Springs and Madras. He had worked for a work program in forestry.
