Cowboys corral Buffaloes

The Crook County Cowboys came away with the victory, but the AAA school had their hands full pulling it out coming from behind a couple of times.

After a couple of exchanges of the ball in the first quarter, the White Buffalo tailback Jason Harris found an opening in the Cowboy defense and romped 90 yards untouched down the sideline to put the Buffs on the score board first in the game. Crook County got on the score board in the second quarter as Gabe Dunaway made some key runs for the Cowboys in their drive, picking away at the yardage until quarterback Keven Hayes scampered in from one yard out to tie the game.

The White Buffaloes answered right back as Aaron Schneider connected with Curt Cosgrove on a long sideline pass as he got behind the defender and it was all daylight into the end zone. A two-point conversion was nullified with a penalty putting the Buffs further away from the goal and a pass fell incomplete for the conversion. On the Buff kickoff, the Cowboys formed a wall and took the ball all the way down to the ten yard line. On the next play the Cowboys fooled the Buff defense with a reverse and scored to tie the game again. The kick was good and the Cowboys took the lead for good. The Cowboys were able to score once again from a pass by the quarterback to Dickerson. The kick was good and the Cowboys held on to a 20-12 half-time lead.

The two teams battled through a scoreless third quarter and in the final period the Cowboys quarterback connected with Dunaway on a ten yard pass giving the Cowboys a 26-12 lead. Their conversion for two points on a fake kick worked as they ran in. This sort of put the game on ice for the Cowboys. There were a couple of times where the Buffs had things going but each time their drive stalled and they had to punt the ball away.

The Buffs made a game of it, even though the statistics showed a large yardage difference in the teams as the Cowboys almost doubled the amount of yard compiled. But Crook County was unable to score more points than they did because of the tough defense the Buffs put up. They made a couple of goal line stands turning the Cowboys away empty handed. Once the Cowboys drove down the field and were unable to punch the ball over so they attempted a field goal which went wide. It was the good defensive game by the Buffs that kept the game from becoming a lopsided score on the part of the Cowboys.

The Buff record stands at 1-1. Their first conference game looking them in the face as the Burns Hilanders come to town on Friday night. The Hilanders are just off a win over Grant Union and are hoping to up their own record. But the Buffs will be trying to turn things around for Burns when game time rolls around. Game time is 7:30 Friday night. If you are unable to attend the game, you can hear the play-by-play broadcasting on KWSO 91.9 FM. The pre-game coverage begins at 7:20.

White Buff girls win two on road

In any sport in high school, the road trips are always tough, but not for the Buff girls volleyball team as they made a sweep over their trip to eastern Oregon to meet the state defending champion Vale Vikings and the Nyssa Bulldogs.

On Friday night, they played in Vale, where the first game came out in favor of the Vikings by the score of 11-15. But in the second and third games, the Buff girls came storming back to chalk up two wins by the scores of 15-5 and 15-3 to win the match.

On Saturday, the girls traveled to Nyssa and rolled over them in two straight sets by the scores of 15-7 and 15-11, thus giving the Buff girls volleyball team a sweep over their eastern Oregon foes. It was a good team effort and a good defensive front line that did a great job. Jocelyn Moses, Janel Wiles, Laura Snow, Nikki Courtney and Ellen Blincoe all made good blocks and scores while Christel Leonard, Julie Simmons, Angie Namenuk, Leslie Freeman and Jan Osborn did well in the back court. At the present the girls have a 2-0 league standing with their next league game on Saturday against the Baker Bulldogs, with the game starting at 3 p.m.

The JVs also did well on the road winning both of their games with Vale and Nyssa. They will have a game with the Baker JV team prior to the varsity game on Saturday.
