Senior citizen's questions answered

by Barbara Yaw

The feedback from my first article has been very positive and I hope to continue with the support of the "Seniors" as well as management. The feedback is very important and I'd appreciate any and all comments.

Keep those questions coming and we will learn together. Here are a couple of questions asked by our Senior Citizens.

I was told that the CHRs are to help enrolled members only. Is this true?

The CHR program is funded through an Indian Health Service contract. Any eligible person who receives service from IHS is eligible for CHR outreach services.

Non-federally recognized tribes and non-citizens are the only people not eligible for services.

What can I do to rid my property of wandering horses?

Notify the police if you have livestock trespassing on your property. The police, together with Natural Resources, will then identify the animals and notify the owner(s). If the owner does not remove the animals, Natural Resources will impound them at the owner's expense.

Complaints to be reviewed by Oregon organization

Oregon Medical Professional Review Organization (OMPRO), the Peer Review Organization (PRO) for Oregon, as a result of recent changes to the Social Security Act, has been directed by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services to review all written complaints received from beneficiaries or their representatives about the quality of professional medical services furnished in Hospital Outpatient Departments (HOPDs), Medicare Skilled Nursing Facilities (SNFs) and Medicare Home Health Agencies (HHAs).

"Professional medical services" is defined as any health care provided to the patient under the direct or indirect supervision of a licensed physician or the professional nursing staff.

OMPRO, after conducting an appropriate review of a quality complaint, will inform the beneficiary or the beneficiary's representative of the results of such investigation. If a problem is found, the beneficiary will be informed that corrective action will be taken.

Written complaints should be sent to: OMPRO, Attention: Quality Assurance Department, 1220 S.W. Morrison, Suite 300, Portland, OR 97205.

Train mishap leaves one dead

A Warm Springs Police officer, who had been on assignment to the Columbia River Inter-Tribal Fish Commission Law Enforcement Agency in Hood River, Oregon was hit and killed by a train two miles west of Bingen, Washington. The accident occurred during the early morning hours of September 14, 1988. The officer, Roderick Henry, 30, had worked on assignment for three years for CRITFC.

At the time of the accident, he was on surveillance of Indian fishing boats on the Columbia.

The incident is still under investigation by the Klickitat County Sheriff's Office, according to investigating officer of the sheriff's department, Lt. Elmer Kinder. He stated the office is currently awaiting results from the Toxicology Laboratory in Olympia, Washington.

Henry and fellow-officer from CRITFC, Perry Flory, were both working on surveillance in the general vicinity but not in the exact same place. When the CRITFC dispatcher was unable to raise Henry on the radio, Flory went back to the general area and found him. Henry was dead when Flory arrived. The time of death has been estimated at around 4:30 a.m., according to Kinder.

Kinder stated that at this time, rumors are circulating and he hopes to have his investigation completed within the next seven or eight days. He feels his investigation will stop many rumors presently being passed on by fishermen.

Woman changes plea

In a pre-trial hearing held September 8, 1988 at the District Court in Jefferson County, Warm Springs resident Rosanna Sanders, 21, petitioned to change her plea of not guilty on a second degree manslaughter and entered a plea of guilty to a lesser charge of criminal negligent homicide. She entered her petition to District Court Judge Mike Sullivan.

Judge Sullivan ordered a presentencing investigation and set sentencing for October 3, 1988.

Sanders was the driver of a car in which Kevin Little George, Warm Springs, sustained injuries when she lost control of the northbound car and it traveled 200 feet into a canyon coming down the grade on Highway 26. At the time of the accident, Little George was transported to St. Charles Medical Center by Air Life helicopter. He died five days later. Other passengers in the car were Urban Gibson and Anthony Davis. Sanders, Gibson and Davis were treated at Mt. View Hospital in Madras.

Local man sentenced to five years

A Warm Springs man, Merris Wallulatum, Jr., 23, petitioned to the District Court in Jefferson County to change his not guilty plea on a charge of second degree assault to a lesser charge of third degree assault at a pretrial hearing held September 6, 1988. Judge Mike Sullivan accepted the plea. A presentence investigation was held and Wallulatum was sentenced to five years at the Oregon Correctional Institute in Salem, Oregon; ordered to pay restitution of $7,200; and to enter an alcohol and drug program. Wallulatum had been indicted by the Jefferson County Grand Jury of second degree assault. The charge was the result from a July 24 incident in Jefferson County. Wallulatum attempted to elude a Madras City police officer and wrecked his car during a high speed chase. A passenger, Nancy Smith Zamora, 34, Warm Springs, was seriously injured. She was transported by Air Life helicopter to St. Charles Medical Center where she underwent surgery.

Howlak Tichum

Roderick Henry
