subdivisions, according to the EA. Alternative 4 would have less adverse impact on Shitike Creek's natural environment than other alternatives according to the Assessment. "It has the least environmental impact on the human environment over the long term," the report states. Mitigating measures have been outlined for the preferred alternative and include: Slope stabilization soil studies; as much of existing vegetation as possible will be left to minimize sediment into Shitike Creek; Water from culverts and ditches will be channeled or diverted into catch basins or diverted in other ways; Road will be surfaced to reduce road erosion; An archaeological survey will be performed; Operations will cease if excessive soil erosion or slope failure occurs. For more information concern-features of the site and "blend into the environment as much as practical," the EA states. No known cultural or archaeological resources are located on the site and the tribal archaeologist will be monitoring the site during construction. The State Historic Preservation Office has given clearance for the site. The project is expected to enhance tribal history and cultural education program and increase the tourist industry in the area. A "Flood and Geotechnical Investigative Report" issued by CHM-Hill indicates that construction of the museum at this site is feasible. For more information regarding the EA for the museum site contact the Warm Springs Planning Department.

else. Still, it was fun working together. Jim Foltz, we thank you for a trailer, fixed up by you to make it easier on us. It could be much harder if not for that neat job you did. Thank you Julie for cleaning while we took our breaks, making our stand safer for all our children. Also to the health inspectors, sorry about the flies in your hair, we all were short, never thought someone tall and blond would come along. Ursula needed a stool to reach the fry bread. She will grow a couple of inches by next year when she joins the AUX, maybe.

All of this is probably double for other food stands. Rick Souers, our police officer, never slept for those three days. Our garbage workers worked overtime. If I've not mentioned you it is because we were groggy. You are all appreciated. Our sore feet tell us that! A look at the grounds now tells us that people have cleaned up the area and it's all ready for the next great happening!

Breakfast important

What did your children eat for breakfast before they left for school today? Studies have shown that children who have a nutritious breakfast have longer attention spans and better grades. If you didn't provide a nutritional meal and help your child get ready for school, you neglected a very important part of your child's day. This message brought to you by the Jefferson County Council on Child Abuse Prevention. "People working to keep families together."

Laws discussed by attorney

As a service of the Legal Aid Program, Celeste Whitewolf and her staff will be submitting articles on various aspects about the law that affect the community. The articles are just a general discussion about the law and specific questions should be directed to Whitewolf or another attorney of your choice. Lost your State driver's license? Wondering Why Are you curious about state law regarding revocation and suspension of driving privileges (which includes the right to apply for such privileges)? There is a lot to know. Here is a summary of just some of the basics of Oregon (and not tribal) law. Revocation/Suspension—Grounds and Time Periods Your license will be revoked for five years if you are convicted of: a. Any degree of murder, manslaughter, or criminally negligent homicide that results from driving a motor vehicle; or b. Felony assault if it results from driving a vehicle. Your license will be revoked for one year if you are convicted of: a. Perjury or lying to the Division of Motor Vehicles (DMV) under any law concerning registration or use of a motor vehicle; b. Hit and run involving death or injury; c. Any felony involving use of a motor vehicle as a key part of the crime; or d. Assault, not a felony, that results from driving a vehicle. Your license will be suspended for: a. Fleeing or attempting to elude the police; b. Recklessly driving; c. Recklessly endangering, menacing, criminal trespassing or criminal mischief, if the crime results from driving a motor vehicle; d. Hit and run involving only property damage;

e. Being involved in an accident while uninsured; or f. Driving under the influence of intoxicants (alcohol or controlled substances). These suspensions, except for driving under the influence involvement in an accident while uninsured and criminal trespassing, will be for 90 days, one year, or three years, depending on whether it is the driver's first, second or subsequent offense within five years. Driving under the influence of intoxicants results in a one-year suspension for the first conviction and a three year suspension for a subsequent conviction, if the second offense occurs within five years of the first. Involvement in an accident while uninsured results in a one year suspension. Criminal trespassing results in a six month suspension. If you fail to pay a traffic fine or obey a court order relating to operation of a motor vehicle, the judge can report the fact to DMV. The division may then refuse to renew your license or may cancel or suspend it. Either a judge or the division can suspend your license. Generally, you are entitled to a hearing, either pre- or post-imposition of suspension or revocation, depending on the circumstances. But once suspended or revoked, your driving privileges will not be reinstated until you meet certain conditions set by law, the judge and/or DMV. These conditions include filing proof with the division that you have liability insurance.

In the next issue, Whitewolf will discuss how to get a hardship or probationary driving permit. Have a safe and happy July 4th!!!

Corrections

The last issue of Spilyay carried an article on two Warm Springs youth receiving GEDs. The two, Joseph D. Smith and Cecil Tulee, Jr., received their high school diplomas, not their GEDs. The article on the Tribe's new telephone system also contained erroneous information. The Tribe will replace the current AT&T telephone system with a new system provided by U.S. West Communications (formerly known as Pacific Northwest Bell). The new telephone system is called "Suburban Digital Centrex". It is provided directly to the Tribes from the U.S. West Communications Central Office in Warm Springs. We apologize for any inconvenience these errors may have caused.
