

Members of the Warm Springs Police Department staff are: (left to right, back row) Pat Littlefield, Rick Souers, Tony Suppah, John Halliday, Shawn Parker, Dorian Soltz, Bruce Fones, Howie Patt, Dwayne Edwards, Dan Hinton, Carl Bowden, Harry Miller, Glenn Sayers, Will Fallsdown and Gene Smith. In the front row are: Annie Hausinger, Lovie Thomas, Linda Thompson, Linda David, Debbie Jackson, Carolyn Wewa, Teeny Tappo, Missy David, Jodie Orr, Ray-dine Spino, Frank Smith and Jeff Sanders.

Season's greetings and wishing everyone a good New Year
From the Warm Springs Police Department

Warm Springs Elementary news—

Meaning Business

Meaning business does not mean shouting or being mean. Yet countless parents at shopping centers and fast food restaurants shout to their kids, "No, you can't have that and I mean it!" Recently I heard a mother pleading, "Joycie, please, come on. How many times do I have to tell you!"

God himself would be ignored if he came to earth and said, "Please be good, how many times do I have to ask you!" Imagine, too, how insecure we might feel if God came to us and said a number of tacky things in a pleading or frustrated tone of voice:

"Whatever will I do with you!"
"I try to be nice, but you are driving me crazy!"
"Am I going to have to get mad?"

Summary of Rules for Meaning Business

Avoid saving a child from the naturally occurring consequences of his or her mistakes. That does not mean that we don't care! We care; we simply do not rescue. Instead, we say, "How sad you have to stay after school." Or, "I bet that does hurt; I'm sorry," rather than saying, "Get your homework done." There is an exception to this rule. If the child is doing something that likely causes danger to life and limb, then parents must stop it.

Parents who mean business do not give warnings. For instance, if the children are misbehaving, wise parents might say, "Will you guys please take it outside," rather than saying, "If you continue to stuff noodles up your nose, I'm going to have to ask you to leave the table."

Important talk means quiet talk. Never, but never, try to outshout a child. Quiet parent talk might be: "I'm sorry you won't be going with us," or "I was planning to leave with you at eight o'clock but now I'm simply planning to leave at eight o'clock." Kids learn at a very young age. "Geez, they're talking soft. I'd better listen up!"

Parents who mean business are slow to tell the kids what to do but may comment often on their own actions. For instance: "My tendency is to buy more for people in stores when they don't nag." Or, "I'll be eating dinner tonight with people I'm happy with—that might not include you."

In short, the rules for meaning business with our children are the same rules that are applied to us by businesses in our community. Our banker tends to talk quietly to us. He does not protect us from consequences, and if we don't repay the loan, the car is simply repossessed. The real world that our kids are entering is a no-nonsense, low-key, no-shouting world with consistent consequences. Parents do well to offer loving concern instead of automatic bail-outs when things go wrong.

Renewable scholarships available to minority students

African-American, Alaskan Native, Native American and Hispanic students who are Oregon residents are invited to apply for renewable scholarships worth $1,750 each academic year, when entering as freshmen directly from high school at Oregon four-year colleges or universities like Portland State University.

These 146 "Minority Achievement Scholarships" have a potential value to each student of more than $9,000, since each one is renewable for up to five academic years, as long as the students complete 36 credit hours of college coursework with a 2.00 grade-point average or better each year. Also, each student is expected to show satisfactory progress toward completing a bachelor's degree.

To apply, all completed application forms must be postmarked on or before March 1, 1990, and early application is advised. Scholarship winners will be notified on or shortly after April 14 by the Oregon college or university to which they have applied.

To apply for one of the 40 scholarships available at PSU, students must be graduates from accredited high schools who have a 2.75 grade-point average, and who have at least 14 academic units on their high school transcripts: four years of English; three years of mathematics; two years of laboratory science; three years of social science; and two other academic units.

To obtain application forms and instructions, contact local high school counseling offices.

COCC accounting changes

Recent changes in accounting procedures and the rapid growth of the Central Oregon Community College Foundation have prompted an expansion in bookkeeping services.

Cascade Bookkeeping, a Bend firm operated by Lori and Bill Friedman, has been selected by the Foundation Trustees to supply customized accounting services. Cascade Bookkeeping specializes in small business accounting services. The new accounting system will be in operation by the first of the year.

The Central Oregon Community College Foundation is a separate nonprofit corporation organized to assist the College through the development of private resources. Total assets of the Foundation approach $2 million. For more information concerning the COCC Foundation, call 385-5505.

COCC classes begin at Warm Springs

AUTO REPAIR: Have grinding brakes, poor starting and rough running got you down? Bring your tired rig into the tribal garage for do-it-yourself repairs. Bring your own handtools. The instructor is Tom LeClair. Meets Tuesdays 6 to 9 pm. January 9 to February 13. $18.00 Sect # 4175.

USING WORDPERFECT: Learn to enter text, save, print, retrieve files, edit and enhance your documents. The most widely used software program on the Reservation. Instructor is Laura Cailloux. Wednesdays, 6:30 to 8:30 pm. Old Boys Dorm. Jan 10 to March 14. $27.00. Sect # 4210.

COMPUTER OPEN LAB: Explore different uses for the computer. Bring your own projects. Examine new software. Instructor is John Anderson. Mondays, 6:30 to 8:30 pm. Old Boys Dorm. January 9 to March 13. $27.00. Sect # 4205.

DOING YOUR TAXES: Get assistance completing your own tax forms. Class covers 1040 forms line by line. Bring all records to first class. Instructor is David Reeves. Thursdays, 6 to 9 pm. Old Boys Dorm. March 22 and 29. $6.00. Sect # 4242.

INTERMEDIATE VOLLEYBALL: Enjoy bumping, digging and spiking? Learn to be a more competitive player this year. USVA approved ref and teacher, Christine Brown will share techniques to improve your game. Wednesdays, 6:30 to 8:30 pm. Grade The School Gym. January 10 to February 14. $12.00. The section # is 4225.

PORTFOLIO ASSESSMENT: Would you like to get college credit for your life experiences? Get assistance putting together a portfolio of your past experiences and work history. Submit this to Eastern Oregon State College for college credit as part of their external degree program. Instructor is Eli Johnston. Mondays, 7 to 9 pm. Old Boys Dorm. January 8 to February 26. $16.00. Section # 4250.

Registration for classes begins January 2, 1990 between 8:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. at the Old Boy's Dorm.

Laura Cailloux will instruct "Word Perfect", a class that has already proven to be popular.

Tribal Chief Judge Don Costello will teach "Tribal Law" during winter term for COCC.

Steve Heydon will help students with their college math classes during winter term.

POWER MACHINE SEWING: Use industrial machines for simple or elaborate projects. Bring your own scissors, fabric and patterns. Instructor is Dorothy Pederson. Thursdays, 6:30 to 9 pm. Apparel Industry. January 11 to February 15. $15.00. Sect # 4190.

TRIBAL LAW: Examine the origin and nature of Indian laws. Learn how traditions and customs of the past have influenced today's tribal court system. Find out what your rights and remedies are under the tribal law. Instructor is Chief Judge Don Costello. Mondays 6:30 to 8:30 pm. Court Room. January 29 to March 6. $12.00. The section # is 4240.

Credit Classes in Warm Springs

MATH LAB: Four classes are offered on an individualized basis from pre-algebra through intermediate algebra. Each is offered for 4 credits. Instructor Steve Heydon will assist students with assignments. Requires some homework outside of class time. Tuesdays and Thursdays, 5:30 to 7:10 pm. Old Boys Dorm. January 4 to March 14. Tuition is $94.00 + books. Sect #'s 1548 for MTH 20, 1557 for MTH 60, 1572 for MTH 65, 1590 for MTH 100.

GUIDANCE AND SELF DISCIPLINE IN ECE: Covers principles of guidance in early childhood education group settings and methods of encouraging self discipline in young children. Instructor is Coty Soules. Tuesdays 1:30 to 3:15 pm. Community Center. January 9 to March 13. 3 credits. Tuition is $70.50 + books. The sect # is 0790 for ED 157.

APPLIED ACCOUNTING I: Examines the practical applications of the fundamental principles and methods of accounting, such as the recording, reporting and interpreting of financial data. No previous accounting required. Students will be expected to study 2 to 3 hours per week outside of class time. Instructor is Miles King. Tuesdays, 6:30 to 9:10 pm. Old Boys Dorm. January 8 to March 12. 3 credits. Tuition is $70.50 + books. Section # is 0481 for BT 2.101.

BASIC ENGLISH II: Stresses sentence structure and paragraph construction. Frequent writing assignments offer students an opportunity to develop as writers. Instructor is Eli Johnston. Wednesdays, 6:30 to 9:10 pm. Old Boys Dorm. January 3 to March 14. 3 credits. Tuition is $70.50 + books. Section # is 2511 for 0.525.7.