Teams do well at The Dalles

Buff girls sweep double-header

"Sports Talk" by Sid Miller

The Madras Buff girls softball team swept a double header from Gladstone and another from St. Mary's of the Valley, to up their standings in league play to a 5 win, 3 loss record which ties them with Gladstone at the present time.

The big surprise came when a highly regarded Gladstone team came rolling into town to test the young but determined Buff team. After the first inning the visiting Gladiators were out in front 5-1, which looked like it might be a long day for the Buff girls.

But the Buffs settled down to playing some serious ball and came up with a big rally late in the game to win the game 6-5. This was big boost for the local girls and gave them confidence in themselves. Laura Sahme started the rally with a double to drive in the first run to get things underway. Kris King, Marty Schmith and Marcy Hawes were other big guns that kept the pressure on the visiting Gladiators. Susan Skavlan picked up the win for the Buffs and Fisher the loser for Gladstone.

In the second game Rachelle Cook had a real field day, literally speaking, as she handled left field pretty well, catching several would-be scoring hits but her fielding prevented them from advancing any runners and the Buffs were able to hold them as Marty Schmith picked up a no-hitter. The only run came from errors which advanced the runner and they were able to score on a wild pitch. But the final score was all that mattered which was 11-1.

Their next game will be played in Hood River April 19, at 4:00 p.m. Hood River is one of the top teams in the league along with Banks who leads the Tri-Valley League.

The Madras girls softball team made an unbelievable improvement these past few weeks but they sure can use more because the league is a tough one and it is far from over yet this year. If they can keep their errors down, their game will not be too bad.

The fruit blossoms may have been on the trees in The Dalles last weekend, but for the Madras High School track team, it was time to pick the fruit. The Cherry Blossom Invitational drew six teams and the Madras boys unofficially placed first while the girls unofficially took second. Team scores were not kept by meet officials.

Teams participating in the event were Madras, Pendleton, The Dalles, Scappoose, Parkrose, and Roosevelt.

The boys and girls relay teams took first place in the 400 and 1600 relays. Madras junior Eric Petersen won the long jump and the triple jump, placed third in the high jump and assisted with the 1,600-meter relay.

According to team coach Dave Randle, the team performed well. "They did a good job...the teams are coming right along. The competition is getting tougher" as the season goes along, said Randle.

Following are the invitational results.

Warm Springs hosts Buckskin Tourney

The annual Buckskin Gloves Boxing Championships were held in Warm Springs April 7 and 8. Twenty-two boxing teams consisting of 122 boxers competed in 72 bouts or matches. Teams from Oregon, Idaho, Washington, California and the Samson Cree Nation from Alberta, Canada competed in the event.

The winning team came from Tacoma, Washington. Second place trophy went to South Everett boxing team from Everett, Washington. The Knott Street boxing team from Portland took third. The Mt. Scott boxing team of Portland took fourth while the Silver Valley team from Kellogg, Idaho placed fifth.

Tournament director Gerald Smith said this year's tourney "was good. There were no injuries." Smith explained that the Buckskin tournament is the largest in the Northwest.

Competitors are required to participate in four weeks of physical conditioning to hone their defensive and offensive skills. The conditioning is followed by three weeks of sparring. This ensures that a boxer is in good physical condition, said Smith. To ensure a boxer's safety, he is given a physician exam at ringside prior to each match. Another exam is given after the match as well. Referees are cautious as well.

If a boxer receives a head blow, and he appears "dazed", he is barred from boxing for 30 days before he can compete in another bout. A doctor must certify that the boxer is in good physical health before he enters the ring.

Following are the results of the tournament.
