Community Center displays floor plans

At the completion of the Early Childhood Education Center and all the class activities have evacuated the Community Center, there is a new look in store for the vacant space.

All the rooms that are now occupied by early childhood classes at the present time, the Community Center will be able to offer a better access to various activities that used to be in the basement, which will now be moving to the upper floor. Where the present Culture and Heritage area is the weight and fitness room will be set up, and the office space there will be used by the Wellness personnel. The larger room in the middle of the block is where the Aerobics Classes will be held. At the rear of the building is where the Arts and Crafts room will be set up and the other large room is where the game room for the pool tables, Foo's ball, etc. will be located. The Office's of Carol Allison and Lyle Rhoan will be back there also.

Because of fire danger the basement will have limited activities. The Boxing room will remain there and some of the weights will still be down in the basement. The entire Community Center will be equipped to handle all sports and health activities under one roof.

So if you may have had idea's of getting office space there when the class rooms are vacated, "Forget It." Because there is plans for all the space that will come available.
