Papooses build this year

The Papooses of the Warm Springs Little League baseball team were on a building year with a lot of young boys who were getting their first year at Little League action. This year their record wasn't too impressive but the experience is valuable for the coming season.

There were only about four or five 12-year-old boys on the Papoose team with previous experience. This showed up during the game as most of the players were new. The team had some good games all along with some good leads only to lose the game in the late innings of the game. It's not unusual for a young player to get riled up and excited and make wrong decisions during a game. But as time passes they realize what went wrong and with the advice of the coach things start to pan out. Coaching the young boys takes a lot of patience along with the coaching chores. But all the coaches enjoy working with the young kids each year.
