"Spilyay Speaks"

Well lets see what's happening now that Huckleberry Feast is in the past. The county fairs are in full swing here in the Northwest. Went to the Jefferson County Fair one day to see all the exhibits and livestock that were on display. Everything imaginable, sewing, baking, vegetables. Kids with their 4-H and FFA animals. They all looked just great. Going through the stalls where all the cattle, hogs, sheep and stuff are kept. How can one animal win a blue ribbon, because they all looked like winners. All combed up so shiny. On them prime steers I could just imagine those nice big steaks with all the trimmings made me kinda hungry so I went to the concession stand and splurged, "Bought a Korn dog."

Speaking of important events that take place around here besides the drought and fires and stuff, there has been several things taking place. Some very important things that effect the tribes as a whole. I guess what this point is, we here at Spilyay Tymoo are not aware of all the events that take place around the community until we read about them in The Oregonian, Bend Bulletin or The Pioneer.

The Ribbon Cutting ceremonies for the new Childhood Education Center almost went by without the Spilyay Tymoo knowing about it. The ground breaking for the new IHS center another event that was caught at the last moment. It was fortunate we found out of these things in time. When we ask reliable sources why we were not told they say they thought we knew. Another thing is everything around here seems to be so secretive. When we make calls for information we are always put on hold, someone answers saying they don't have the authority to give any information, and that they will leave a message for the one who can get all the information. We never get any calls, but when the new Bulletin comes out the story is all in there. So what do we do? Don't we count? It would be appreciated if someone would call to let us know of events that are taking place. Even if we may happen to know it would be pleasing to know you called. "Nigh."

Well now Saddam Hussien has agreed to let the U.N. search team in to see if he has weapons of destruction, they came out empty handed. Hussien was holding out for those few weeks and not complying with U.N. wishes, waited until the last minute to let them in. By that time he has had all that time to hide them somewhere else.

Now Bush ordered troops back to desert area again. This will probably stir up plenty of demonstrations against the movement of troops. Why didn't he just go ahead last year and finish off Hussien while all the Iraqi troops were surrendering by the thousands. Today Saddam Hussien is doing what he wants like if he just came out of Sunday school. Now troops and air craft carriers are moving into position for another offensive if needed. Ahh-Nah-Chi-Toon!!!

August event to honor Native American warriors

We have organized ourselves from many tribes, to bring national and international recognition to our Native American Warriors who fought in defense of their homeland in the various wars, conflicts and police actions around the world. We feel the time is right to bring this national and international honor upon our Native American Veterans.

We are also organized to have traditional ceremonies performed to bless the final resting place for those whose bodies were never returned to their people. Although the individual tribes have honored their fallen warriors, there has never been, as far as we are able to determine, a traditional memorial ceremony to bless the final resting places of those
