Each day a new beginning

To the editor,
Hello, life is so fascinating for me that I'd like to share this; a new beginning with everyone. I think a new beginning is really cool. Check it out! A new beginning.
Each day is a new beginning, with a chance to try again. All the memories to erase that seem to bring us pain.
Each day is a new beginning when we can start anew. To sort out our priorities and know what we must do.
Each day is a new beginning in which we do our best. If we take the first step forward. God, the fellow upstairs, will do the rest.

I feel a new beginning is like to take life: "One day at a time." Now I also want you all to know that tomorrow is another day too.
Don't think about yesterday, because that's the past. And no one can do anything about your past except that fellow upstairs in his time, and ways. The fellow upstairs works in very mysterious ways.
Thank you,
Evette Patt

Enjoyed stay in Warm Springs

To the editor,
Because I was reluctant to move to Warm Springs, I was surprised to find myself reluctant to leave seven months later. I was very impressed by the progress of our tribes, the roles elders play, and how much singing is a part of your culture and spirituality. I enjoyed singing at the longhouse and watching the various activities there.
I have a lot of gratitude for the first person to welcome me to Warm Springs, Carshall Brunoe. Many thanks to Mary Ann Meanus, who honored myself and my daughter by inviting us to sing at her drum. Thank you to my "powwow connection", Nadine Winishut, who always told me where the latest powwows were and how to get there. I was greatly blessed to be a co-worker and friend of Carol Wewa. I learned so much from her and enjoyed her sense of humor. Thank you Carol. I plan to come back from time to time and hope to see some of you again.

Seeking Native American pen pal

Dear ladies of the reservation,
I'm writing to ask if any of you nice American Indian ladies would care to be my pen pal and write to me. I respect all Indians, and am very much interested in learning more about your culture, heritage, customs, dance, arts and crafts, and dress. I keep an Indian scrapbook and collect Indian post cards and arts and crafts. I also do pen and ink drawings and draw and decorate my own Indian note cards and stationery, some notecards I decorate with seed beads. I love most anything and everything Indian. I've been hunting to buy a genuine buckskin vest, butas of now, have not found one.
I would appreciate very much hearing from any one of you. It would make me very happy. I love the close knit of your families. And your ways of thinking about things.
Well, my dear friends, I'll be looking forward to hearing from some of you, and may God bless you all, and keep you in good health and spirits.
Sincerely your friend,
Ms. Rita Springer

Womack retires after 11 years

by Romelle Speakthunder
After almost eleven years of working for the Tribe at the Warm Springs Police Department, as a dispatcher Ruth Womack retired at the end of July.
Ruth likes being directly involved with tribal members and also likes being a part of peoples problems and joys.
One of Ruth's major duties was to work with the police officers, she does that by communicating through telephones, radios, teletype, and other things.
In her first month of retirement Ruth has plans to ride to the Coast with her 13 year old granddaughter on a motorcycle. "We are going to do everything there is to do and go where ever there is to go," says Ruth. They will be at the coast for the month of August.
One of Ruth's hobbies is working with wood. Ruth will be going to a Pet Wood Workshop. After she is through with that she will be making custom Home Entertainment Centers.
Ruth got interested in the Police field in the fall of 1981 when she signed a contract with the Tribe. She didn't have a job so when that job (dispatch) opened she went for it.
The only thing she didn't like about her job was the hours/shift work. to keep in the same field she will be working at Jefferson County as a communicationist.

After eleven years of working for the Warm Springs Tribe, Ruth retired as of August 1.

Whose laws are we using?

To the editor,
I would like to share something that's been on my mind a lot lately. That is, how long will it be until the state police, county police, or any outside authority can march right onto the reservation and take us off. No tribal police escort no tribal court order, nothing.
We seem to be living more by state laws and regulations than we do, our own.
There are a lot of tribal members with suspended or revoked drivers licenses. Others have court dates. And others are doing time in either Jefferson County or state prisons. The charges are usually for DUI, DWS, DWR and don't forget parole or probation violations all crimes against the state.
Yet, when you are suspended by the state of Oregon you cannot drive on the reservation either. You can apply for a reservation license, if you get a copy of your state driving record and show proof of insurance. Have you ever tried to get an insurance company to cover a suspended or revoked driver? It's next to impossible.
And what about spankings being regarded as child abuse? Another state law brought onto the reservation.
If a child knows that one or both parents can be jailed or taken to court

City the following week as an official delegate to the Democratic National Convention. Mr. Minthorn also serves as the 1st Vice President of the Affiliated Tribes of Northwest Indians (ATNI) and also Chairs the ATNI Economic Development Committee.
Mr. Minthorn also highlighted the National Indian agenda as well as presenting Northwest issues.
"The Indian plays much the same role in our American society that the Jews played in Germany. Like the miner's canary, the political atmosphere; and our treatment of Indians, even more than our treatment of other minorities, marks the rise and fall of our democratic faith." - Felix Cohen, father of Federal Indian Law.
The reception, hosted by the Affiliated Tribes of Northwest Indians is a regional Indian organization representing 43+ Tribes in Oregon, Washington, Idaho, and Western Montana.
