Business, psychology, theater choices of MHS seniors

Native American senior at Madras High School, Dionne Marie Thomas is seventeen years old. She is the daughter of Ron Thomas, Sr. of Warm Springs and Rose Kalama of Priest Rapids, Washington. Her grandparents are Edith Kalama of Warm Springs, and Leslie Thomas of Bend, Oregon. She has three brothers, Ron Thomas, Jr., who is 13, Pat Wyena Jr. age 15, and Walsey Thomas age 6. Her sisters include: Dorothy Kalama age 20, Edith Wyena who is 13, Antonia Wahsise age 10, fourteen year old Qua-tow Thomas, Rayleen Thomas age 5, and one year old Dena Thomas. Thomas is of the Warm Springs, Wasco, Pitt River, and Yakima descent.

Her favorite classes are Physical Education with Dave Randle, Civics with Jim Avino and Teen Parenting with Lisbet Hornung. Awards she has received include honor roll certificates her freshman through junior years.

Thomas' outlook of the past school years; she feels "It's been fun because you can socialize and also learn at the same time." This being her final year in high school, she states, "I'm happy I'm finally leaving Madras High School." She will miss her friends and some teachers when she leaves MHS. Thomas plans to study Business and would like to do so at Southern Oregon State. She would like to comment to the remaining lower class, "Hang in there, have fun while you can." In five to ten years she sees herself supporting her child with a steady job after she completes college.

Eighteen year old, Jason Ray Williams of Warm Springs is the son of George and Debbie Williams. His grandparents are Pat and Loren Kelhoyoma of Prineville, Oregon. He has four brothers: Nathan age 14, Kevin who is 13, Eric age 12 and Ernest age 4, and a sister: Joanna who is 3. Williams is of the Warm Springs, Wasco, and Modoc descent.

He is currently a member of Native American Student Union. He enjoys swimming and lifting weights. Williams feels his favorite classes at MHS are Psychology with John Billingsly, Civics with Matt Henry, and English with Barry Morrison.

His outlook of the past years he feels "I should have paid more attention in school, instead of messing around." He also feels his final year at MHS has been a good one. Williams will miss seeing his friends all the time when he leaves high school. His career choices are psychology and theater. His college choice right now is, Whitman Community College in Walla Walla, Washington. Williams comments to the remaining classmen to, "Come to school everyday and get your work done." In five to ten years he sees himself being either a psychologist or an actor.
