Inmate vents frustration

To the editor,

I am now in the W.S. Detention Facility doing my time for the wrong doings that I committed last year (October 92).

First of all I would like to vent my frustrations: I was getting a weekly pass, for Court Ordered sessions to deal with my life problems. Then I had it taken away, due to the fact that I missed some classes (sessions).

I would like to say that these classes are becoming a total burn out, especially when they all relate to one another.

Like teach you the same thing, just different people teaching the sessions.

I have tried working with the Tribal Court/System, but there is always one more stumbling block that is in my way.

Once you are in the system, they do not want to let you go.

I know for a fact that it is going to be impossible to get any passes after this letter is printed. But that is alright as my passes have been partially stopped already.

Then there are staff in the Court System that don't like you, so they hold your paper work until the judge is either not in, or in a bad mood or not submitted in time for the judges schedule for signature. So everything you submitted, is denied.

Or the court staff calling up and checking up on me with the programs, but instead get my name confused with my son, who also has the name George. And then telling the judge the wrong schedule. And saying that I am not sticking to my schedule which I submitted for the weekly pass.

Then there are staff at the Detention facility who are trying to help you, but get shouted at by the court staff, and/or judges.

I would like to know if any person in the court system can attend all the classes that I myself attend on a weekly basis for the last three months, without having a total burn out?

Also there is the question of nobody wanting to help me, because they are scared of the court or other departments in the organization. I always thought the departments were there to help Tribal Members.

I know that I have done wrong by being in jail in the first place. But why court order people like myself to do all these things then, not let me out. Then say I am not attending classes. How can I when I have had my passes taken.

It is very hard for me to see my family (6 children), when I can only get out for counseling, and Anger Management, and family preservation once or maybe twice a week. On top of that the court thinks right now I should be trying to also try to get my GED.

My family, and extended family have tried numerous times to get me out for a family get together. But have been shot down, and denied.

Also why is it that I am being singled out. When the public sees other inmates getting highly intoxicated, using drugs, and abusing their passes? Also such other things as escape, never going back when they are supposed to from their passes? Or maybe using drugs in the jail. And never being charged, or just a slap on the wrist. Especially when I tell different people that I can't get out because I missed classes. They say what about the others we see abusing their passes?

Thank you for your time in letting me vent out my frustrations. I thought that maybe I could make myself feel better, since nobody in the organization (that can help) won't.

Letters of thanks, appreciation shared by tourney sponsor

To the editor,

On behalf of the Warriors Challenge Tournament committee I would like to take the time to thank some people who helped make our tournament possible.

I would like to thank Charlotte Herksham, Winona Moody, Janice Gilbert-Gunshows for their hard work in the kitchen. These ladies provided meals to the visiting teams, referees and our score keepers. We greatly appreciate Tom Begay and his donation of chili and dough. Marcus Sooksoit did an excellent job in running the scoreboard throughout the tournament. Special thanks to Jay Suppah for all of his help with the initial planning, tourney bracket, coaching, keeping score throughout the weekend and also for being there. Fay Suppah, Ellen Thompson, Romaine Miller provided some extra hands when things got jumping. A big thank you to the Lil' Warriors who took time out of their weekend to come down and sweep the floor.

I would like to thank my wife and family for bearing with me as I prepared for this tournament. Things can get a little hectic as tourney time closes in and it's good to have the family support. Special thanks to Wamblee Wallulatum for being the big brother to my sons during the weekend.

Since the beginning we have strived to become self sufficient. We were very close this year yet we had some wonderful people who stepped forward and made donations to assist us in our effort. I would like to thank the W.S. Hydro Project (Donation was used to help cover costs of feeding the players) and W.S. Community Counseling Department (Donation was used to help cover a portion of the gym user fees) for their donation. Individuals like Bill Donaghu, Fritz Miller, Don O'Brien, Theron Johnson, Ron Recker all made donations. I thank you for your generosity.

Six years ago we started this tournament to provide a healthy atmosphere for our young people to have some fun, demonstrate their talents and meet some new friends. Each year it is our hope that we can provide a weekend where sportsmanship and competition can be on the floor at the same time and our boys can have fun. This year we had representation from throughout Oregon and even Washington. With this kind of competition our boys were challenged physically and mentally and I believe this was very good for them.

Again I thank all those who took some time to come to the gym.

Captain

P.S. I would like to share this letter that I received from the Redmond Panthers coach. This letter is a tribute to all those who have taken time to work with the youth of our community.

To Captain,
On behalf of the Redmond team, I would like to thank you for all of the time and effort that went into the Warriors tournament.

We appreciate all that was done to make it a fun time for all of the kids involved. Please extend our thanks to your wife and her helpers for their hours of work in the kitchen.

Over the last 2 months, we have attended four tournaments at your Community Center. We have been impressed with your commitment to today's youth. It is nice to see a community that is working hard to provide activities for the kids, where they can have fun and at the same time develop skills for working together to do their best.

We applaud the role models and their emphasis on sportsmanship. We thank you for the opportunity that we have had to participate. We hope that we will be invited back to play again.

We are trying to develop a program in Redmond, that will create interest and support from our community, towards our youth through basketball.

We are currently interested in finding other tournaments for our kids to play in. We have teams from age 8-14. If you have any information on tournaments that we could participate in, we would appreciate hearing from you.

We thank you once again for allowing us to play in your tournament. It was nice to take 1st place. We are proud of our boys' teamwork that acquired the 1st place prizes, but we will display the plaque not just because of our pride in them, but because to me it is a symbol of the mutual commitment, that we have with the Warriors to challenge our youth to be the best that they can be.

May we all be the winners in this challenge.

Sincerely,
Keith & Lexia Rahmn

To the community,

This letter is my apology to you all first of all for being highly intoxicated on the reservation, and endangering my life as well as the entire community for driving while intoxicated.

This apology goes out to the Lawson family and to the W.S. Police Dept. officer Bob Whittenburg, Dixon Polk, Leona Ike, John Carter, and any other officers that were involved on the night/early morning of October 17, 1992. Also to anybody else that I was being rude and totally out of control to on this night. Please accept apologies to you all.

Second of all I would like to take this time to apologize to my wife and my children for all the wrong doings that I have committed this past year. For I am now paying the price for it. I want to thank my entire family for sticking with me during these hard and slow days of my confinement in the jail, especially my wife. Now I know now that what I did was wrong.

Once again I apologize for all my wrong doings to the entire W.S. Tribal Member and community.
