

Spilyay Tymoo

News from the Warm Springs Indian Reservation

VOL. 18 NO. 18

P.O. BOX 870, WARM SPRINGS, OR 97761

SEPTEMBER 3, 1993

Coyote news in brief

Effects of industrialized foods studied

Studies have shown that industrialized foods may have an adverse effect on a person's general health.

Page 2

COCC offers fall classes

A variety of classes including maskmaking, wordperfect, genealogy and typing are offered during fall session.

Page 2

School begins in district and tribal schools

All district and tribal schools began classes August 31. Photos depict first day activities.

Page 3

Have your blood pressure checked

High blood pressure can be dangerous for your health. Lifestyle changes including diet and exercise will help lower blood pressure.

Page 5

Madras High School schedules open house

Parents and community members can meet the new principal and assistant principal at the Madras High School open house scheduled for 6:30, Thursday September 2.

Page 5

Football and soccer schedules available for readers

Football play begins this weekend with the first home game scheduled for September 10. Varsity soccer begins home play on September 14.

Page 6

Beef by-products provide the "good life"

Ninety-nine percent of every beef animal is used ranging from brake fluid, machine oils, insulin, bone meal, paint brushes and photographic film.

Page 7

Deadline for the next issue of Spilyay Tymoo is September 10, 1993.

Labor Day weekend extends from September 4 through September 6

First Day of School

Tuesday, August 31, 1993 marked the first day of "school" for many children at the Warm Springs Early Childhood Center as 180 children are enrolled for Head Start this fall in both the part day and full day programs. Pictured is teacher Gladys Squiempfen helping Ester Lawrence with her puzzle as Alyssia Meanus looks on.

Survey questions delivery of services to tribal members

Tribal members over 18 years of age are being asked to submit their opinions in a survey on the delivery of tribal services. Information gathered from completed survey questionnaires will help the Tribe work together with the membership toward improving programs, communications and budget decisions.

Respondents are asked to rate their satisfaction level, from a level of 5 to 1, with 5 being "very satisfied" and one being "very dissatisfied". All areas of tribal government and operations are included in the survey, including Tribal Council, management, committees, enterprises and boards, courts, CEO's office, education, human services, business and economic development, housing, public utilities, natural resources and public safety. Also included in the survey are questions concerning government/management response to priorities identified in past budget workshops and district meetings.

Respondents' names are not required, but to be eligible for one of four, $100 cash prizes, tribal members must submit their name, address, age, sex and phone number with the survey. Individual results from the survey will be kept strictly confidential. Surveys will be summarized by faculty members of the University of Oregon and names will not be included in the report.

A return envelope is included in the survey and respondents are asked to return their completed forms by Monday, September 13.

ATNI to meet in Polson

The 1993 annual conference of Affiliated Tribes of Northwest Indians will be held September 19-24, in Polson, Montana at the Best Western KwaTaqNuk Resort. The theme of year's conference, which is hosted by the Confederated Tribes of Salish and Kootenai, is "Honoring Tribal Leaders: Yesterday, Today and in the Future".

The full six days of activities includes reports from numerous BIA and tribal representatives, workshops, committee work and election of officers.

For ATNI conference information, contact Crystal Varisco, conference coordinator, or Deborah Joseph, ATNI executive secretary, at 1-503-230-0293.

Celebrate a safe Labor Day Weekend

Town 'N' Around

Road work begins

Local motorists might consider adding some extra minutes to their travel time when going into Madras beginning next week. The Oregon Department of Transportation (ODOT) is at again with their highway renovation projects—this time it's the stretch of road between the Kah-Nee-Ta junction and the Deschutes River Bridge on Highway 26.

According to Ray Thwaits, office manager for ODOT Construction office in Bend, said the $940,000 project will include repaving, widening and adjusting the grade of the stretch as well as adding left turn lanes at the Museum at Warm Springs and at the new road connecting Warm Springs to Highway 26 just down the road a piece from the Space Age gas station. The approaches to the mill will be widened as well to allow for right turns.

Work began last week when crews removed roadside trees and extended the sewer and water lines across the highway to accommodate future expansion along the business corridor. Work on the project is to be completed no later than November 15. Motorists can expect delays lasting up to 20 minutes at a time.

BPST graduates two locals

Anson Begay and Leona Ike were among 15 to graduate from the Basic Parole and Probation Class sponsored by the Oregon Police Academy in Monmouth August 27. The graduates completed 160 hours of training in law, human behavior, supervision skills and health and safety.

Awards were presented to outstanding students for performance in academic achievement, defensive tactics, physical development and professionalism.

Sally bag class offered

Bernyce Courtney, local artist, will lead a sally bag class at the High Desert Museum in Bend September 11 from 190 a.m. to 3 p.m. Using cotton twine, she will instruct participants in the full-turn twining technique as they create their own miniature version of the Wasco woven bag.

Fee for the workshop is $25 for members and $29 for non-members. To register, send a check to the Museum, 59800 S. Highway 97, Bend, OR 97702 or call 382-4754 by Friday, September 3.

Breakfast scheduled

The Small Business Center will host a breakfast meeting Monday, September 13 at Kah-Nee-Ta Lodge in the hopes of establishing a Warm Springs Business Association. The association will address issues facing individual tribal member businesses, such as business financing, commercial business code, performance bonding, commercial retail space, licensing, contracting and business education. The breakfast will begin at 8:30 a.m. in the Paiute Room. For additional information or sign-up, call 553-3593 or stop by the business center at 2107 Wasco Street. Deadline is September 10.

Arts and Crafts Show coming

The sixth annual Warm Springs Arts and Craft Show will be held Saturday, October 9 at the Warm Springs Community Center.

To register for a table or space, please contact Carol Allison at the Center or call her at 553-3243. Forms will be available at the center office.

This is a "totally Warm Springs show" which enables Warm Springs artists the chance to showcase their artwork and crafts. The show is open to all ages. Those tribal members wishing to participate in the show, but live off the reservation, must show identification or enrollment number confirming their membership.

Tables and space are free and are on a first come, first served basis. Don't wait, register now!

Comments wanted

The Natural Resources department is asking for comments on a proposed salvage sale for the HeHe Butte Salvage logging unit. This area is located across the Warm Springs River from the HeHe Longhouse, next to Highway 256.

Comments are being requested for a draft project assessment. Deadline to submit comments is September 23. For more information, contact Dave Smith at BIA Range, 553-2421.

Education committee has vacancies

The Warm Springs Tribal Council announced recently there are two vacancies on the Tribal Education Committee.

Tribal Council is seeking interested applicants to serve on the Education Committee. Candidates must be Tribal Members.

Education Committee serves as an advisory board to the Tribal Council in the development of educational programs and opportunities for Tribal members. The Committee will operate under the supervision of the Tribal Council, which has delegated specific authority listed below. In the exercise of advisory and authority function, the committee shall cooperate with other Council committees and management personnel.

Term expiring May 1995. Applicants interested, please submit your resume to:

Doris J. Miller, Tribal Council Secretary, Tribal Council Office, PO Box 1299, Warm Springs, OR 97761.

If there are any questions, feel free to contact the Council office at 553-3257. If Miller is not available, ask for the Records Manager.

Deadline for applications is on or before Friday, September 24, 1993.